HEAT TOLL MOUNTING

Thirty-one Dead in Northwest

Heavy Wind and Electrical Storms Wreak Havoc Through East

Terrific Temperatures Cause Widespread Loss to Iowa Farmers

BY J. P. GALLAGHER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 16.—Destructive thunderstorms sweeping over this immediate vicinity today brought a respite from days of enervating heat. In other section the terrific hot weather continues and is exacting a steady toll of death and destruction to crops.

The heaviest wind and electrical storm centered in Northern Indiana today, sweeping over St. Joseph county and causing considerable damage to property and crops. Many trees were uprooted and all telephone poles along the Lincoln Highway for a distance of two miles were blown down.

During the last six days thirty-one persons have died from the heat throughout the Northwest. One of these deaths, the first in the city's history, occurred at Duluth, Minn., which has been visited with three severe heat waves this season. Thermometers there today registered 94 deg., the hottest in years. In Chicago two persons died within the last twenty-four hours from the effects of heat; Detroit reported two deaths, and single fatalities were reported from many cities.

NEBRASKA SUFFERS

Nebraska is suffering from intense heat in some sections and storms in others, with scores of cities reporting local thunderstorms. At O'Neill, thermometers registered 108½, North Platte, 107, and Grand Island, 104. In the vicinity of York and around Falls City heavy wind and hail storms did considerable damage to the corn crops and to gardens. The extremely hot weather is rapidly drying up the Platte River, which is now at the lowest stage in ten years.

According to D. C. Reed, government meteorologist, the terrific heat of the last ten days has cost Iowa between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 bushels of corn. The crop in the southern part of the State has suffered acutely and there is no place in Iowa where some damage has not been done. The scattered rains that have fallen during the hot spell have been of little benefit, according to Reed. Most of the rain came in driving storms and was harmful rather than helpful, he said. Oats and

HUNT WILL NAME RIVER DELEGATES

Governor Ready to Meet California and Nevada on Water Distribution

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, July 16. — Gov. G. W. P. Hunt today in reply to Gov. Richardson of California, wrote that he will be pleased to appoint delegates to meet representatives of California and Nevada with respect to distribution of the waters of the Colorado among the States of the lower basin. He suggests that a conference be held in Arizona, for the Arizona Legislature failed to provide funds for travel expense and he assumes that California and Nevada were not so negligent.

However, he says he is sure that Arizona delegates designated by him will gladly defray the cost of a journey to Los Angeles.

Incidentally, the Governor refers to a concurrent resolution passed by the Arizona Legislature vetoed by him because it sought to establish a conference committee not of his choosing.

The last Legislature tried to take the Colorado River question out of the Governor's hands, on the understanding that they were legislative and not executive and it is possible that any conference called will have legislative representatives as well as those appointed by the Governor.

Private Seeks Authority for Jump in Lake

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) July 16. An official order literally to jump in the Medina Lake was sought by Pvt. Ralph Watson of Brooks Field, holder of the world's record for free parachute jumps.

The young soldier has requested permission to jump above Medina Lake and land in the water. Maj. Ralph Royce, commander of Brooks Field, has indorsed the request, which was sent to the office of the chief of the air service at Washington for final approval.

Watson broke all existing records for free parachute jumps at Brooks Field when he dropped over 2000 feet before opening his parachute. The previous record was 1800 feet.

RIFFIAN CRISIS DESPERATE

Marshal Petain, Rushed to Morocco by Airplane, Expected to Take Charge of Conflict

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, July 16.—The situation in Morocco is becoming more desperate hourly.

The government today asked Marshal Petain, commander-in-chief of the French army, to proceed to Morocco immediately, and he is flying from Toulouse to Rabat tomorrow morning.

Gen. Naulin, new field commander in Morocco, has demanded 75,000 additional troops immediately, and probably will ask for more.

LARGE FORCE DEMANDED

The French military authorities in Morocco, who now have 125,000 men in line, demand a force of at least 200,000 along a 200-mile front, not including the troops to relieve those at the front.

An official communique announces that Marshal Petain is being sent to Morocco to "make sure the reinforcements will be used to the greatest advantage," but the government has undoubtedly decided to send Marshal Petain there to supplant Marshal Lyautey.

Marshal Lyautey is now using troops in Morocco who have not had a day's rest for two or three months, in spite of the temperature of 100 deg. in the shade and terrible sandstorms.

It is flatly denied that the government intends to mobilize any reservists, but Algerian and Moroccan troops are now being used and may have to be replaced for various reasons.

PETAIN HAS CONFIDENCE

In the present Socialist temper France would accept calling up one or two classes under Marshal Petain more graciously than under Marshal Lyautey.

Both the army and the nation have complete confidence in the military capacity of Marshal Petain.

Fez dispatches tonight are to the effect that the Riffs have penetrated the French front at Rhuana, twenty-two kilometers northeast of Ouezzan. The entire French garrison of sixty officers and men were captured, the dispatches say, after their ammunition was exhausted.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MADRID, July 16.—It is officially denied that the Franco-Spanish Moroccan conference in session here, has offered generous peace terms to Abd-el-Krim, the Riffian leader now warring with French and Spanish in Morocco. Abd-el-Krim insists on greater concessions than the French or Spanish will make.

It also is denied that the conference is considering a new partition of Morocco, but the question of the autonomy of certain regions of Morocco has been discussed.

Willie Hoppe, Billiard Star, to Wed Actress

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 16. — The engagement of Willie Hoppe, former billiard champion, to Miss Dorothy Dowsey, an actress, was announced today by Miss Dowsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dowsey, of Manhasset, L. I. They are to be married, it was announced, late in August at the home of the bride's parents.

Hoppe has been married once before, in 1910, at Baltimore to Alice Beatrice Walsh. He obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce in Supreme Court here on July 26, last, which will become final on the 26th inst. He has two children by his former marriage, Alice Beatrice Hoppe, 13 years of age, and William Hoppe, Jr., 6, over both of whom he received custody.

Miss Dowsey was in the Greenwich Village Follies one year. She also played in musical comedy, "The Gingham Girl."

Severe Gale in Arizona Wrecks Many Buildings

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GILA BEND (Ariz.) July 16.—A severe windstorm struck near here last night and caused considerable damage. At the town of Theba on the Southern Pacific Railroad a cotton gin was blown down, one residence was destroyed and a service station, grocery store and numerous small buildings were badly damaged by the gale.

At Sentinel a grocery store was demolished and the roof was blown off the Southern Pacific freight depot, the largest building in the town. Numerous small houses at the automobile camp also were wrecked by the wind.

At Casa Grande two buildings were unroofed, numerous telephone poles were blown down and trees were uprooted by the wind.

No damage was reported here, but cotton camps in this vicinity were wrecked by the gale and numerous small buildings used by the cotton pickers were wrecked.

Despite the heavy damage done by the wind, no injuries were reported.

COAL STRIKE IMMINENT

British Foresee Catastrophe

Radical Miners, in Charge, Refuse All Efforts at Mediation

Churchill Declares Walkout Will Tie Up Nation, Little Hope Seen

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, July 16. — Everyone in the British Isles now realizes that a great coal strike is imminent, and everyone is hoping against hope that some one will come to the front with a practicable scheme of mediation to avert it.

"If such a catastrophe as a coal strike occurs," said Winston S. Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech last night, "it will completely derange the whole economic and commercial situation of the country, falsify all calculations, render impossible all assurances of national safety and unquestionably inflict injury and privation on all classes."

Statistics published today show that 500 coal pits are idle, seriously affecting the economic machinery of the country, but this is a mere pin point compared with what would be the result of a general strike.

MILLIONS MAY QUIT

It must be remembered that if the miners go out the railway men, dockers, local transport workers and engineers to the number of 5,000,000 probably also will go out.

It was said officially today that "in ministerial circles the mining situation is not regarded as hopeless." But this is a meager ray of encouragement. As a matter of fact the government is almost powerless. After establishing a "court of inquiry" with vague powers, it finds that body ignored. The miners decided to refuse to attend its meetings or pay any attention to its findings.

REDS IN SADDLE

Many of the more responsible leaders of the miners have been anxious for a reasonable adjustment to avert the strike peril, but they were overriden by the radical and Communist elements at a meeting of the miners' federation at Scarborough last night. The federation decided, first, to refuse to accept a court of inquiry and second to refuse to meet the coal owners until they withdrew their wage and time proposals.

A result of this deadlock probably will be adjournment of the court of inquiry after the first meeting tomorrow. Thereupon the government is expected to try to prevail upon the owners to modify their demands.

GREAT GIFT FOR SCHOOL OF DIVINITY

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Presents $1,000,000 to Chicago Institution

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 16.—Another great gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to theology, was announced tonight when Dean Shailer Mathews made it known that Mr. Rockefeller has just endowed the divinity school of the University of Chicago with $1,000,000.

Dean Mathews said the gift has nothing to do with the raising of the $17,500,000 fund which the university is seeking this year, but that it is an entirely separate and distinct endowment which will go far toward making progress in the divinity school.

The divinity school, it was pointed out does its work in some degree independently of other educational branches at the university. It was established by the transfer of the seminary of the Baptist Theological Union to the school from Morgan Park and none of its needs are included in the fund for endowment and buildings that the university is seeking to raise.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. LOUIS, July 16.—Washington University today announced a gift of $1,000,000 from Charles Rebstock, wealthy retired business man and bank director. The only stipulation is that $300,000 be used in erection of a new geology and biology building. The remaining $700,000 goes to a general endowment fund.

BRYAN LASHES SCIENTISTS IN SCOPES CASE BATTLE

Malone Answers Fiery Challenge in Contest Over Experts; Judge to Decide Today

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DAYTON (Tenn.) July 16.—The wrath of William Jennings Bryan fell on the evolutionists at last in the Scopes trial today. With whips of scorn, with all the strength of his great art of mass appeal, in words that rang like silver bugles over the town, he sought to drive science from the temples of God.

Judge John T. Rauleon will decide tomorrow morning the question of expert scientific and theological testimony against which Bryan argued.

Opinion is divided as to what Judge Rauleon will do toward a challenge by the defense to prove that the teaching of evolution by Scopes did not conflict with the creation narrative in Genesis. Many think he will side with Mr. Bryan, denying the evidence, send the scientists back home and make short work of Scopes.

But certain questions he asked counsel today indicate that his own curiosity has been aroused and that he may seek further light.

WHAT WILL JURY DO?

Then there is the jury to consider. Barred from the courtroom during the most spectacular battles of the trial, unable to see the show of Bryan and Darrow and Malone debating the greatest questions that have ever confronted theology or science, kept in ignorance like children, some of them may rebel and refuse to convict Scopes. This would be quite a blow to Scopes and the defense, as it would end their chance of getting the law killed in the higher courts.

If the State prevails, Scopes will be hustled to conviction in two or three days, or even more quickly. It is a stern effort on that side to use the police power of the State. Science may be all right, the young Attorney-General said tonight, but when it threatens the Christian church, when it treads in the holy places of God on earth, it must be stopped.

All that the defense asks is to show that God is here, in this same science, in this patient search for the truth through the ages.

"What does Bryan fear?" asked Dudley Field Malone, in his appeal for the admission of this evidence, in answer to the Bryan speech.

"What is fundamentalism in America afraid of? We are ready. The issue is as broad as Bryan has made it. Is this a duel to the death? And is Scopes to be strapped to a board with the sword in the hand of Bryan?"

It was a spectacle that will never be forgotten by those fortunate enough to get into the swarming, perspiring courtroom.

FIRES BROADSIDE

Bryan had spoken. He had thrown all his prepared arrows at Darrow. He had singled out the Leopold-Loeb case as the one example of corrupted youth, poisoned by the philosophy of the modern schools, the students of Nietzsche. This was only one step from evolution, Mr. Bryan had argued. He had offered to call 1,000,000 witnesses who rejected evolution because it conflicted with the Bible. He drew a picture of the family tree of the evolutionists, tracing it back to monkey and a "lonely cell in the bottom of the sea," and described how it took faith and morality and God away from the children and made scoffers of them.

He spoke for the "revealed religion" of the Bible, the beautiful story of Christ, the virgin birth, the atonement, the resurrection, all the Christian faith with its consolations for mankind, claiming that this was eliminated, destroyed by science and its hypothesis of evolution. He pictured the majority of scientists as unbelievers, the Christian evolutionists as having a vague, far-away God that they could not feel. He spoke for immortality, for salvation, for all the religious doctrine that forms the foundation of the faith of the American nation.

STRANGE FACT

But the strange part of it was the other side was with him. They, too, accepted this consolation and this hope and this salvation. But they insisted on their own freedom of interpretation, that the Bible must not be used as a text-book of science, not taught as a course of science in the schools, not used in that way at all. It was a book for the private conscience.

This was Mr. Malone's presentation. He made the case for science, placing no emphasis on the truth of evolution, but on the freedom to search for this truth.

He was not liked. When he began the people were against him. They do not like New York, where he comes from. They do not like his clothes, nor his accent. But he had not been speaking more than ten minutes before there was a change. When he had conclud-

Woman Relates Weird Tale

Rancherette Declares She Was Kidnaped and Held in Dungeon

Mrs. Cookson States She Escaped in Basket With Boy's Aid

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALEXICO, July 16.—Mrs. Virginia Lee Cookson, Santiago Canyon rancherette who disappeared under mysterious circumstances Monday night, turned up here tonight, unharmed but hysterical at times and told Calexico police as weird and fantastical a tale as they have ever heard in their police experience.

She told a story of having been kidnaped, kept in a dungeon, threatened with marriage to an old Mexican don and finally escaping in a basket with the aid of a Chinese boy.

Cryptic words of white slavers describing victims, a beautiful American girl chained to an iron bed in the dungeon and other equally thrilling incidents of the remarkable experience which she said she underwent were related by the woman between sobs to Calexico police.

Attired in an old dress, stockingless and with an old pair of slippers on her feet, her eyes swollen from weeping and her hair in fairly good condition, the woman appeared shortly after 8 o'clock at the home of Roy Rose, a Calexico garage man who lives on East Fifth street near the city's edge.

She asked to be taken to the police station. The story that she told police and newspaper men amazed them.

RETURNING TO RANCH

Mrs. Cookson said that she was returning to her ranch home on Monday night when a big sedan in which were three men forced her car to the side of the road and the men sprang out and attempted to drag her from her car. She tore off one of her slippers, she said, and struck at her attackers with it. She believed one of the men was a Mexican and that the other two were Americans.

One of them, she believes, struck her on the chin and she became unconscious. When she regained consciousness she was in the sedan with a strap around her arms and body and another around her lower limbs.

The Mexican told her, she said, that if she kept still she would not be gagged. She kept still and it seemed to her that she was taken miles and miles away. Then, she said, she was carried into an underground room where all was dark and until her escape never saw the light of day.

Once in the underground room, according to the strange story she told, she was given a Chinese boy to bring her food and care for her. Then came an old Mexican whom the boy referred as "Old Don."

"SPECIAL ORDER"

"Old Don," Mrs. Cookson told the police, said she had never been legally married and that she was to be legally married this time to him by a priest.

The Chinese boy, Mrs. Cookson said, told her she was an "S.O.," which the boy said meant "Special Order."

While she was in the room a beautiful young American girl was brought in and chained to the foot of the iron bed with chains that were on the bed at the time. The girl was hysterical and soon was removed. Mrs. Cookson said the Chinese boy told her the girl

FORD SEEKS "JUNK" SHIPS

Detroiter Offers $1,706,000 for 200 Vessels Set Aside by Board to be Scrapped

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Henry Ford today offered $1,706,000 for the 200 Shipping Board vessels set aside for scrapping. His bid compares with $1,370,000 offered by the Boston Iron and Metal Company of Baltimore when a previous set of bids was opened June 29.

The Baltimore Company's tender was favored by President Palmer of the Fleet Corporation, but was rejected by the Shipping Board, which called for new proposals.

As soon as the Ford bid was opened by the Fleet Corporation today the Boston Iron and Metal Company entered formal protest against receipt of any new bids.

It held that such a course was in violation of the original advertisement for offers which called for negotiations only with the original bidders on June 30 if complete rejection of bids then opened was voted.

The General Metal Supply Company of San Francisco made three offers along the lines of its original offer of June 30, based on various conditions.

ed his plea and had hurled his challenge at his old chief in the State Department, Bryan, there was wave after wave of applause, greater, perhaps, than that which had greeted Bryan's effort. He had the younger element with him, at least, for he had expressed a faith in them and pleaded for their right to the search for truth. He had opened a door for them. The State put its shoulders there and tried to shut it. Tomorrow will show which sides wins in this struggle.

CROWDS SURGE IN

Word that the great Bryan was to speak made the Courthouse a magnet and long before the time set for the afternoon session the crowds filled the courtroom. In the privileged space were gathered the political and social elite of this section of the South.

It was 1:30 p.m. when Bryan arose. His bald head was shining with perspiration. The court warned that the floor of the old building was burdened with great weight and he did not know how well it was supported and said there should be no movement or applause. This was forgotten in later excitement.

Mr. Bryan began by saying that if the court held with the prosecution in excluding the experts, as he thought should be done, the trial was near its end. He referred softly to the charge that he was the arch-conspirator of the prosecution, the leader of ignorance and bigotry whose opinions on religious freedom had to be quoted by the defense.

"This question is so important—between religion and irreligion," he said, "that it seems even invoking the divine blessing might be considered partisan."

WANTS NO EXPERTS

He stated that the statute defined exactly what Tennessee intended to make unlawful in this case, that teachers in the tax schools were forbidden to teach any theory of creation which denies the divine record found in the Bible. It was made a crime, plainly, he said, for a teacher to teach that man is a descendant of any lower form of life. He maintained that State Representatives had proved Scopes had violated this statute, that they had his confession, that he knew what he was doing and that no experts were needed. This was not the place, he said, to debate whether the doctrine in the law was good or bad. The Legislature was the place for that.

"If any State, New York, for instance, from which the pressure comes to prevent the enforcement of this law, passed such a law and Tennessee had sent men to New York to resist it, their presence would have been resented. Suppose Tennessee had sent men to New York to protest and testify as to the New York prohibition law, would not New York have considered this improper?"

"It is not a place for expert testimony.

"The textbook in evidence states the very thing that is outlawed in this State."

"Has it come to a time that the minority in Tennessee can take the education of the children out of the hands of the parents of the children who attend the public schools?" he asked.

"The moment the law became a law," he said, "any thing contrary to the law in the textbooks became outlawed. The law supersedes the authorization of the schoolbooks."

SEES BOY'S FUTURE

Mr. Bryan predicted that little Howard Morgan, witness for the State yesterday, would become a distinguished lawyer some day.

"This little boy understood the theory of evolution," said the speaker.

Mr. Bryan called attention to the recent meeting of the National Education Association, where, he said, it was proposed to tell Tennessee where to "head in." There was a plain announcement of what was to be done, he said, but the chairman of the resolutions committee later said there would be no resolution.

There are so many theories of evolution that no resolution could be passed, and, if a specific stand were taken, it would cause controversy.

"Evolution," he said, "is the growth of all life from one cell.

"This is not the same as the growth of the individual.

"A Christian believes that man came from above, but the evolutionist believes that man comes from below."

He held up Hunter's "Civic Biology," which he called the "outlawed book." This taught, he explained, that evolution of life began in the ocean with the growth of all life from the cell. He read to show the classification of man with other primates as a mammal.

WAXES SARCASTIC

Turning to an illustration in the book, the evolutionary tree of life, Mr. Bryan referred sarcastically to the 3500 groups of mammals.

"So man is a mammal," he cried, "so indistinguishable that they leave him with 3499 others in evolution along with elephants. Talk about Daniel and the lion's den. How dare the scientists put man in a little ring like that with ferocious and odorous beasts for children to copy and show their parents. Find man, that is the game in the schools."

"If the children of today believe some of the things taught in the schools, they are taught to scoff at the religion of their fathers. In New York they are trying to prevent the adjournment of schools to permit the children to go to churches of their choice for instructions. These attorneys are not going back to New York to protect the children of that State, but they are here to try to bring experts to tell Tennessee how to have your children taught.

"No person has the right to say that they shall rob the children of their faith in God and send them to their parents infidels."

He then took up Darwinian evolution which, he said, science still kept as its main doctrine. He read from "The Descent of Man." The defense objected and asked him to put in the whole book. He refused to do this. He read Darwin's explanation of the monkey theory, discarded in large part by the modern world, and referred to "our glorious pedigree."

Mr. Bryan went on to explain about Huxley and called evolution a "hypothesis," and quoted Prof. Bateson of London to the effect that men had failed to show that one species ever evolved from another.

TAUNTS VOICED

"They can't find the beginning," he went on, taunting the scientists. "They don't tell you where life began and that back of it all is God. The atheists say we came without God. The Christian evolutionist says God is back there, but they don't know how far. They take life, the mystery that no one can explain, that emanates from nothing, ends nowhere, and they don't tell you it began with God and ends with God. They would undermine the faith of little children in that God who is over all."

The court interrupted to inquire if the evolution theory was reconcilable with the Bible.

"No," thundered Mr. Bryan. "It does not tell us how man became endowed with the hope of immortality. Half of the scientists don't believe in a personal God and personal immortality.

"The virgin birth? There is no place for a miracle in this theory. Its logic eliminates the supernatural. They eliminate the virgin birth, the resurrection of the body, the doctrine of the atonement. Man, rising all the time, never fell. He didn't need the Savior. No reason for His coming. Born of Joseph or some unnamed co-respondent, still in the grave. They eliminate belief in the Savior and every moral standard the Bible gives us."

He came to Nietzsche and the Leopold-Loeb case. He referred to the Darrow speech in this case, a copy of which he held.

"Because Leopold read Nietzsche," he said, "and adopted his philosophy as a superman, he was not responsible for taking human life. That's the doctrine they are trying to bring in here with the evolution theory."

Darrow objected. "Not a word of truth in it," he said. "In Southern Illinois the other day a clergyman killed his wife. I don't blame the doctrine of the clergyman!"

Mr. Bryan read from the Darrow speech, where it referred to professors of universities as responsible for the murder. Mr. Darrow said he would read the rest of it later, explaining this.

Darrow's interruptions were not resented by the crowd.

Mr. Bryan spoke of the Bible experts that might be called and said the jurors, as church members, were better Bible students.

"Amen," came from a corner of the audience.

Mr. Darrow asked that this go into the record "so our picture can be painted."

Mr. Bryan spoke of "accepting Jesus, feeling in the heart the sense of forgiveness," as all wiped away by such doctrines.

"This is not a mock trial," he continued. "Let's get to business. Why prolong this? For every Christian they bring here who believes in evolution and the Bible I can bring thousands who reject evolution. There are a million witnesses. Whether evolution is true cannot b decided here. No court can decide the issue between unbeliever and revealed religion, the Bible as the word of God, the only proof man possesses of salvation. Evolution destroys man made by God, put here for purposes of the divine plan. It mocks Christ and takes from the heart of the people the word of God and His revealed religion."

PROLONGED APPLAUSE

There was prolonged applause as the speaker wiped his heated brow and sat down.

It was thought then that the case was over, that the court could do little else but rule with the prosecution and shut out the experts.

But the gavel fell again and Mr. Darrow arose to read his part of the Loepold-Loeb speech. He read the statement that he did not believe that universities were to blame and that thought cannot be destroyed because some become deranged.

Darrow and Bryan stopped. Mr. Malone arose. For the first time he had shed his coat. Silk shirted, immaculate, he stepped to the center of the arena and his powerful young voice was soon stirring that audience, his argument lashing them.

"Whether Bryan likes it or not," he said, "he is a mammal, animal and man. He is my old chief and I admire him for many qualities, but he is not the only one who believes in God and the Bible. If religious faith depended upon agreement among theologians, we would all be infidels. Why should he complain because scientists do not agree."

COURT QUERIES HIM

"Bryan is not the last word of theology," he said, "nor is Judge McKenzie the only word of God."

This caused a wave of merriment.

"These gentlemen say the Bible is true; destroy science. We say: Keep it as a consciation, keep in the world a protestant conscience, in the world of theology, but don't try to tell the intelligence of this country that the books of the Bible can be put out as a course of science."

The court asked if it was his province to determine which biblical theory of creation was true.

"No," said Malone.

"You believe evolution is reconcilable, that God created one life cell and then God created man by growth?" asked the court.

"We have no fear for the children of today," said Malone. "Some of them are wiser than their elders. We have just had a great world war. Civilization is not so proud of the work of the elders. Let the children have their minds kept open. Shut no truth from them. Who excluded the jury for fear they would learn something? We are ready to submit to direct and cross-examination. We have come here for this duel. Is Scopes to be strapped to a board, the prosecution alone carrying the sword? The truth always wins. The truth is no coward. It does not need the law or force of government. It is fundamentalism in America that is afraid. We stand with intelligence and progress."

The applause that followed was considered by many to be greater than that accorded Mr. Bryan.

STEWART CLOSES

Atty.-Gen. Stewart then closed the arguments for the prosecution and on this entire issue. He spoke for law, but became a bit evangelical himself.

"What right have these foreign lawyers to tell Tennesseeans how to conduct ourselves?" he asked.

"Are we going to have no chance to prove our contention?" asked Mr. Hayes.

"Things striking at the vitals of the church should have no chance," said the prosecutor.

A tremendous thunderstorm tonight visited Dayton. Rain washed through the trampled streets. Lightning illuminated the hills and forests and thunder shook the town.

KIN OF BRYAN UNCONCERNED

Grandson, in Paris, Sees Little Cause to Fret About Evolution

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, July 16.—William Jennings Bryan may be able to convince a Dayton jury, but that he has not been able to do any convincing in his own family was revealed today by his grandson, John Baird Bryan, who has arrived here to devote a year to painting. "Personally this matter of evolution was started so long ago that it makes no difference what we came from," John Bryan said. "To live as one pleases and be original is far more important than worrying over evolution."

DARROW vs. BRYAN

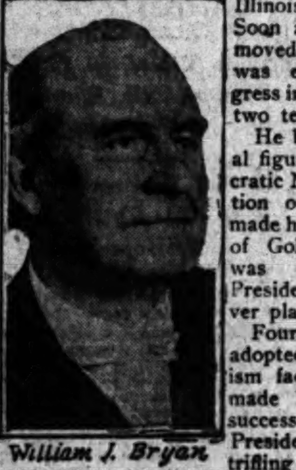
Though Clarence Darrow and W. J. Bryan are at swords' points in the present antievolution controversy, the careers of the two men afford odd parallels. Each was born in a Midwest State; they are approximately the same age; each adopted the law as his profession; each practiced in Illinois; each has striven all his life to be spectacularly in the public eye, and each has won himself a great fortune by posing as a "champion of the people." The salient facts in the lives of the two men are presented below for easy comparison.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN



William J. Bryan

Williams Jennings Bryan, author of the Tenessee antievolution statute and chief aid to the prosecution in the Scopes trial, was born in Salem, Ill., in 1860 and admitted to the Illinois bar in 1883. Soon afterward he removed to Nebraska, was elected to Congress in 1890 and served two terms.

He became a national figure in the Democratic National Convention of 1896 when he made his famous "Cross of Gold" speech and was nominated for President on a Free Silver platform.

Four years later, he adopted the Imperialism fad, on which he made his second unsuccessful race for the Presidency. After trifling with woman suffrage and with prohibition as possible issues and finding the public then unresponsive, he ran a third time in 1908, advocating government ownership of railroads and trust busting. He still retained a control of the Democratic party that was not broken until 1920, and in 1912 dictated the nomination of Woodrow Wilson at the Baltimore convention.

From 1913 to 1915 he served as Secretary of State, where he had opportunity to put some of his pacifist theories into execution, and undoubtedly heightened Germany's determination to proceed with submarine attacks on merchant ships by hinting privately to a diplomat associated with the Central Powers that the notes protesting against these violations of international law were not to be taken seriously. He finally resigned after breaking with President Wilson on his attitude toward Germany.

Bryan filled in the intervals of his political campaigns with Chautauqua lectures, with the editing of The Commoner and with other interests of a semipublic nature, always taking very seriously the cause he was temporarily promoting. "You shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold," he exclaimed in 1896, a declamation precisely parallel with his utterance at the San Francisco Democratic Convention in 1920, "My heart is in the grave with our cause." The cause he referred to was prohibition and the defeat of Bryan's prohibition plank occasioned the remark. His recent declaration that Christianity is in danger of being overthrown at Dayton, Tenn., is in the same category.

Bryan had not yet taken up pacifism in 1898, for he raised a regiment of volunteer infantry in Nebraska and became its colonel. It did not see service. He was still in the grip of the Free Silver theory then. In 1899 he favored the acceptance of the treaty with Spain closing the Spanish-American War, and in the following year opposed the acquisition of the Philippines which was accomplished by that treaty. Trust busting was his hobby in 1904, though his temporary defeat in the St. Louis Democratic Convention of that year gave it something of a setback. From that he progressed to government ownership, and then began to urge pacifism.

Bryan did not appear to be interested even mildly in evolution at this time, taking up the subject in earnest, after pacifism and prohibition, about 1920. His latest interest is selling Florida real estate.

Bryan and Darrow have met before controversially. In 1923 Darrow tried to bait Bryan into a debate on evolution by publishing a series of controversial Biblical questions. Bryan refused to fall into the trap, saying: "If the Chicago lawyer wants an answer to his questions let him put them to the theistic evolutionists and bring them out into the open."

In his early years Bryan wrote a book in which he quoted with apparent approval, Jefferson's word that religion does not need the aid of law to overcome error, and that any attempt to compel acceptance of a religious doctrine does not make Christians, but hypocrites.

Like Darrow Bryan is an author, and the titles of his books are equally revealing. "The First Battle" was published in 1897; "Under Other Flags" (his trip abroad, though one might think it concerned the Alton B. Parker campaign in the same year) in 1904; "The Old World and Its Ways," in 1907; "Heart to Heart Appeals" in 1917; "The Menace of Darwinism" and "The Bible and Its Enemies" in 1921 and "In His Image" in 1924. The "Fountain of Youth Discovered" is expected to appear in 1926.

CLARENCE S. DARROW

Clarence Darrow

Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense in the Scopes case at Dayton, Tenn., was born in Kinsman, O., in 1857 and admitted to the bar in 1875 in Chicago. He became an assistant corporation counsel of the city in 1877 but did little to attract public notice until 1888 when he spoke from the same platform as Henry George, taking as his subject, "Labor and Taxation."

This speech attracted the notice of John P. Altgeld, the Illinois Governor who pardoned the Haymarket anarchists, and he later became Altgeld's law partner. One of his early criminal cases was his defense of Eugene V. Debs, accused in connection with the Chicago street railway strike. In 1897, he was defense counsel for Thomas I. Kidd, an official of the Woodworkers' Union, accused in the Michigan courts of conspiracy. In 1902 he represented striking Pennsylvania coal miners.

Darrow was counsel for the teamsters in the great strike of 1905, when the strikers presented to President Roosevelt a protest against the suggested use of troops to preserve order, in which they virtually demanded the right to make Chicago a battleground and to kill, maim and destroy in order to force the employers to come to their terms.

Darrow was counsel in the Idaho trials of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone in 1906-1907. His fee in this case was reported at the time to have been nominal, but Darrow afterward admitted he got $35,000 for about three months' work.

His next appearance in the national limelight was in Los Angeles in 1911 when he defended J. B. and J. J. McNamara for the murder of twenty employees of the Los Angeles Times in the great dynamite conspiracy. He was indicted on two charges of jury bribing as a result of the trials. Darrow got $45,000 for defending the McNamaras, although both pleaded guilty. He was twice tried on the bribery charges, the jury in one case standing 8 to 4 for conviction, and in the other finding him not guilty.

C. P. Connolly, a writer in Collier's Weekly, describing the dramatic conclusion of the McNamara cases, charged that Darrow had financed the campaign of the Socialist, Job Harriman, for Mayor of Los Angeles from funds contributed to the McNamara defense. Of Darrow himself Connolly wrote:

"Clarence Darrow is a great stage artist, a greater artist than lawyer. He poses for the public, he poses for the newspaper men. He would chafe in the company of a lawyer who merely knew the law, who saw only the judge on the bench, the jury in the box, the witness in the chair and his antagonist across the table, and so his associates are selected for their capacity to aid his ulterior purpose.

"He affects the intellectual, but he has what few intellectuals have, a deep and far-reaching cunning. His cases are tried for the world outside the courtroom."

Darrow has always sought court roles that would give him the maximum of self-advertising. Such was his championship of Loeb and Leopold, the youthful Chicago murderers, last year, in which he reversed his former attitude of protector of the poor and declared that if his clients were hanged for having committed one of the most brutal crimes of the century, it would be only because their parents were wealthy. Here again Darrow was forced to plead his clients guilty to save their necks.

Like Bryan, Darrow is a professing pacifist, declaring himself a convert to Tolstoy's doctrine of nonresistance. In the course of a lecture on crime and criminals he once gave utterance to this remarkable phrase: "I do not believe there is any sort of distinction between the real moral condition of people in and out of jail."

Darrow is an author of several books, the titles of which in some cases give a clew to his ideas: "Persian Pearl" (essays,) "Resist Not Evil," Farmington (a novel,) "An Eye for an Eye," and "Crime, its Cause and Treatment." In the latter he carried his theoretical nonresistance doctrine to its logical conclusion by advocating doing away with the punishment of criminals. He is an avowed scoffer at established religion.

BRYAN SPEECH GRIEVES DAYTON

Long-Looked-for Event Gets Perfunctory Applause

Oration Held But Ghost of "Cross of Gold" Voice

Malone and Stewart Voted Laurels of Day

BY W. O. McGEEHAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DAYTON (Tenn.) July 16.—They never come back. The great moment in the case of the people of the State of Tennessee versus John Thomas Scopes has come and gone. William Jennings Bryan, the plumed knight of the fundamentalists, the prince of pacifism, the champion of Chatauqua, was given the floor and after exactly one hour and ten minutes he was lying upon it horizontally—in a figurative sense.

For a week the citizens of Dayton have been haunting the vicinity of the Rhea County Courthouse awaiting the moment for William Jennings Bryan, and fundamentalists all over the country were waiting with their radio sets tuned up to catch the golden echo of the speech that would dim the oration of the "cross of gold."

There was a tense hush in the sweltering room as Judge John Raulston made the most important announcement as far as this congregation is concerned: "Mr. Bryan will speak."

Bryan arose, revealed stripped to the white starched shirt with the winged collar and the little black bow tie. First he reached for his three-gallon graniteware jug and drank deeply. He walked to the center of the inclosure where the lawyers are huddled. Then waving in one hand a palm-leaf fan and in the other the iniquitous "Hunter's Civic Biology," he began.

LAUGHED TO DOOM

But it was only the ghost of the voice of the "cross of gold." The corrosion of nearly three decades became apparent at once. Once the voice had in it the qualities of brazen trumpets but the resonance had gone from the brass. Once it had at times the qualities of a stringed instrument but today the strings were loose and discordant. Once it had the booming note of the drum but today the drum showed that it had been punctured in many places and its hollowness was evident.

Bryan was working to a climax when the soft-voiced Mr. Clarence Darrow voiced another objection in dove-like tones that seemed to disconcert Mr. Bryan.

"I do not intend to prejudice the court," said Mr. Bryan mildly, caught off his guard.

"I assure you the court will not be prejudiced," said Judge Raulston.

"Then what is the use of talking?" demanded Mr. Darrow.

There was a faint snicker in the rear of the courtroom. It became epidemic despite the rapping for order on the part of the court attendants. And that was the figurative knockout punch catching Mr. Bryan below the belt with the silver buckle that he persisted in wearing without regard to the sartorial dogma of Rhea county.

APPLAUSE, OF COURSE

After that it was merely a question as to how long Mr. Bryan would last. At the conclusion, Mr. Bryan tossed aside the iniquitous "Civic Biology" and sought consolation in another draught from the three-gallon granitware jug. There was applause, of course, applause that was not checked, but it was not inspired applause. Mr. Bryan seemed to feel that he had swung and missed.

The brethren and sisters in the rear of the courtroom looked sorrowful and disappointed. They were still applauding Mr. Bryan, but it was the applause that is given to an ex-champion. It was evident that the spirit was not strong in Brother Bryan today. It was a terrible anticlimax.

Then up stood Mr. Dudley Field Malone, his eyes snapping with a fine frenzy. For the first time since the court opened and what Mr. Bryan had called the duel to death between science and the literal interpretation of the Bible, Mr. Dudley Field Malone removed his coat. He scorned the appeal of the galluses. His keynote was fairness and it would have sounded discordant if he had armed himself with galluses while Mr. Bryan was defenseless in the matter of suspenders.

GHOST OF ORATOR

As Mr. Bryan sat there dejectedly waving his palm-leaf fan, the faded ghost of the boy orator of the Platte, Malone, confident and self-assured, faced the judge flanked by a solid and stolid phalanx of the local fundamentalists. Malone has a powerful voice always. He started gently—for him—and worked up to a crescendo which indicated that he would overwhelm Bryan with sound if he did nothing else.

He came introduced as a foreigner and a northerner from that seat of iniquity one of the leaders in the war to prevent the intellectual secession of the State of Tennessee. The atmosphere was one of hostile silence. But it was soon evident that, though Mr. Malone, being allied with the unbelievers, could not have the gift of tongues, he had what his own people would call the gift of gab.

One Patrick Henry of Virginia must have had a voice of that quality. There was a note in the speech that seemed to echo the same impassioned appeal. The Tennesseean is the easy prey of an orator of this type. The voice of Dudley Field Malone boomed louder until it seemed to reach every corner of the Tennessee Valley in the call for intellectual freedom. Even the lawyers of the prosecution listened. When a voice of that carrying power is ringing there is nothing to do but to listen.

Hundreds had been barred from the courtroom at the start and were gathered on the lawn. They heard every word of that speech. He accused William Jennings Bryan and his associates of backing away from an issue. He shouted that Bryan had led all of the foreigners in the State of Tennessee. He challenged Bryan on the issue of science and religion.

"Mr. Bryan always has been a fighter," he said. "I know Mr. Bryan well and I never knew him to back away from an issue before."

The brethren and the sisters craned forward. They looked at Malone, vehement, and at the faded champion of chautauqua waving his palm leaf evading the challenge that the voice of Malone carried with it, in word and in tone. It was made to appear that the great old warrior was dodging a debate.

Mr. Malone's voice rose higher and higher. Suddenly Mr. Mencken, the mercurial editor, fell off his chair with a crash that startled the courtroom.

"It is a judgment," said one of the sisters. "The walls are falling in and Mr. Mencken is the first to go and he won't go to glory, either."

A FLOP AND A WOW

But above it all rang the voice of Dudley Field Malone crying through the hills for intellectual freedom. He was waving a book, the Koran, which he had brought with him to have read into the records, if necessary. Mr. Bryan sat in his corner in the attitude of the defeated gladiator. The blow that the soft-spoken Mr. Darrow had dealt him had pierced the starched shirt of righteousness. After that he was rhetorically groggy and when the belaborings of the vehement oratory of Dudley Field Malone, his former Assistant Secretary of State, battered him more and more horizontally.

Mr. Malone reached a climax that stirred the distant hordes under the huckleberry bushes in the hills. There was the fraction of a second of silence of the same sort that is felt at the Metropolitan Operahouse after the tenor has reached the high note. It was the sort of silence that indicated that every note sung by Mr. Dudley Field Malone had reached the ears, if not the minds of every brother and sister in the congregation.

Then applause broke out in a volume that shook the courtroom.

All of the batons of the police beat on the pine for order. But it was in vain. The last effort of the orator of the cross of gold had been what they called on Godless Broadway a flop. Translated into the same language, the speech of Dudley Field Malone was a wow. Mr. Jennings Bryan had been beaten at his own game on more than friendly soil by an invader from the North. Of course the cause of Mr. Bryan goes marching on.

NEW SOUTH SPEAKS

Judge Raulston is seeking guidance tonight for his decision on the admissibility of scientific experts, the subject that caused the oratorical eruptions this afternoon. The fundamentalists army proceeds, but William Jennings Bryan lies horizontally on the field mortally wounded in his vanity. He crossed jaws with a younger and better man oratorically, like many a champion of a less intellectual game, he went into the ring once too often. Once more, as the boys say, youth was served.

With a leonine mane shaking, young Mr. Stewart, the earnest and impulsive heir of the elder secession spoke in fiery tones for the newer secession, the secession of intellect. At first he stuck to the law of the State, and he knows the State well, but gradually he worked himself into the emotionalism of the evangelist.

He made of this trial the Verdun of fundamentalism. And he shouted that the forces of knowledge should not pass. These foreign lawyers were invading holy ground. It was the South against the North. He sounded the call to arms to the hill people of the Cumberlands to stand in their galluses with staves of hackberry in their hands to repel the invasion of the brutal and bespectacled professors from Yale, Harvard and Johns Hopkins, who were coming to invade the green hills of Tennessee and to shackle the freeborn Tennesseeans with thought.

Radio-Active Water

has amazing health values. Drink it daily.

Our friends—those who have tried radio-active water—are writing our best advertisements. They become tremendously enthusiastic.

If it brings better health to them, it may mean the same to you. We believe that it will.

Proved Facts

The value of radio-active water has long been recognized by medical and scientific authorities.

Thousands go each year for treatment to Hot Springs, Arkansas, and other famous health springs. The results are almost miraculous in many cases.

And the results come from radio-active water. For aside from this element in the water, there is little, if anything, in it which you do not have in the water you drink.

But radio-activity can not be stored in water. It escapes.

Can Be Returned

Fortunately a few years ago, a way was discovered to return this invaluable element to water. The RADIUM REVIGATOR provides the method, without changing the taste of the water.

Thousands have found this to be a way to better health. They drink radio-active water daily.

NATION'S STAND ON CHINA, TOLD

American Views Set Forth in Note to Powers

Kellogg Expresses Desire to Conduct Conferences

Paris Misunderstands Idea for Treaty Parley

in the nine-power customs treaty and bring into being the extraterritorial commission under the terms of Resolution Five of the Washington conference.

If there is any misunderstanding of the American position in France it is expected that the communication just delivered to the French government will clarify it.

The explanation was advanced today as to press reports that France is opposed to taking up Chinese questions at this time, that a misunderstanding may have arisen at Paris over the kind of conference the United States was reported as favoring.

MISUNDERSTANDING IN FRANCE OVER PARLEY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, July 16.—A misunderstanding seems to have arisen here concerning the attitude of the United States government toward a Chinese conference. It had been understood in Paris that President Coolidge had in mind a conference distinct from that provided for in the Washington nine-power treaty. It is assumed here the latter conference will be assembled automatically, in consequence of the recently completed ratification of that treaty by the nine signatory powers and the French raise no question whatever regarding that conference.

Paris dispatches yesterday said French official circles think this is not a propitious time for negotiations seeking revision of foreign extraterritorial privileges in China.

The official comment sent to the United States yesterday was made on the assumption that President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg were proposing something new in the form of a conference to consider questions not provided for in the nine power treaty.

The French still think that before there is a conference exceeding the subject matter of that treaty the Chinese must show they can maintain a government that can keep order.

BRITISH WANT NEW SHANUGHAI SHOOTING QUIZ

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, July 16.—The Tribune learns that the British Cabinet which for some days has been discussing the Chinese situation, has decided to suggest to the powers to conduct a judicial inquiry on the Shanghai shooting. The British are dissatisfied with the inquiry by the diplomatic body, which censured the American Mayor and British Chief of Police of Shanghai on the ground that it was secret and only semiofficial, and they desire an open inquiry by judicial officers, whereon the Chinese also might be represented and whereat all interested parties would be able to testify.

This will also dispose of the question of the anomalous position of Shanghai's municipality, which, although undoubtedly set up by the foreign powers under the treaties, does not acknowledge responsibility to any one, taking, in effect, the position of a little independent republic of white men in Chinese territory.

It is assumed that before any investigation begins the Shanghai municipality would agree to abide by the results, which would mean recognition of control by the diplomatic body.

MRS. COOKSON IS UNHARMED

was a "T.B.," which he said meant "Trade and Barter."

Mrs. Cookson said she won the friendship of the Chinese boy by praising the food he prepared and by eating with chopsticks, which she said she had learned to use in New York City.

"Old Don" was described by Mrs Cookson as a "hophead," and she and the boy conspired to fill him full of dope so she could escape while the old man was in a stupor. They got the Mexican under the influence of the opium and the Chinese boy brought in a large basket and put her in it, she said.

CARRIED IN BASKET

Mrs. Cookson said she felt the basket and herself being carried away. Soon she realized that she was on a truck and was being taken somewhere—to safety, she supposed. After a while, she said, the truck stopped and a Chinese uncovered the basket and told her to get out and hurry to the police station.

The place of her deliverance, according to the woman, was near the edge of the city, and she made her way to the nearest house, that of Rose, and cried for help.

Calexico police are completely mystified by and unable to corroborate the unusual story.

The police notified Sheriff Jerigan of Orange county and the Sheriff said he would get Mr. Cookson, the woman's husband, and hasten to Calexico to return the woman.

Mrs. Cookson told her story at times with composure and then she would break down, weeping hysterically. She was cared for in the police station while her husband was hastening to her.

Mrs. Cookson said she was not abused while she was kept captive and that she was in no way harmed.

The big sedan that crowded Mrs Cookson's coupe off the road and forced her to stop before the kidnaping, she said, was the same described in the letter found in her ranch-house after her disappearance. She was told of the letter and how police had found it torn in two but on piecing it together had learned that she feared such an attack as she said had come upon her.

Mrs. Cookson said she tore up the letter because she thought she might be considered a coward for having written it.

Calexico police last night were astonished at the strange tale told them by the woman but nevertheless were checking up on it to see what might come of it.

REPRIEVED ON EVE OF DOOM

Scott Given Hanging Delay by Gov. Small as Note From Brother Confesses Slaying

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 16.—Gov. Len Small at midnight tonight granted Russell Scott, condemned to hang tomorrow morning for the murder of Joseph Maurer, a reprieve of one week. The Governor was said to have taken the action on the recommendation of Will Colvin, head of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, after a mysterious message was received from Detroit, purporting to come from Robert Scott, brother of Scott, in which it was stated that Robert was the guilty man and that he was ready to give himself up.

The reprieve came at the very eleventh hour when all hope for Scott seemed dead, when he himself and his relatives, his wife and his father, had given up all hope of saving him from the trap at daybreak.

ORIGIN IS TRACED

The message on which the Governor acted was received at the Executive offices in Springfield an hour before the reprieve. It came over the Western Union wires, and it was addressed to "Gov. Len Small" and read:

"Delay hanging of my brother, Russell Scott. I will be in to surrender myself. I am the man who shot Joseph Maurer."

The message was signed "Robert Scott" and while Small was issuing the order for the delay, the authorities in Detroit were tracing down its origin.

It was learned that it had been brought into the Detroit office of the Western Union by a small messenger boy. This boy told the authorities that he received it "from a young man on Woodward avenue," Detroit, that the man who sent it gave him enough money to pay for it, together with a generous tip.

PRAISES BROTHER

As the news of the Governor's reprieve reached the County Jail, Scott was still pacing his death cell nervously, hopelessly awaiting the end, for he thought everything humanly possible had been done for him.

Warden Westbrook called Scott out. He told him of the delay and the reason for it.

"Thank God," Scott exclaimed. Then he broke down completely for a moment, sat down at the big round table near by, and buried his face in his hands. Finally he looked up at the ceiling as though toward the heavens.

"Poor boy, poor Robert," he said. "I knew he would do the right thing. I knew he was right in his heart."

Suddenly he said:

"Where is my wife? Thank God for her sake. Oh, won't some one find her, and tell her."

WIFE BREAKS DOWN

Mrs. Scott at that very moment was in the North Side flat of friends being informed of the Governor's action. As the news was told to her the young woman, who had been weeping, stopped. She went suddenly very white, and then she said:

"And to think that I thought there was no God and that prayers were no good. Yes, yes, I had come to think that. Oh, God, forgive me now; God forgive me. Please take me to Russell."

It was understood Gov. Small decided, following receipt of the message from Detroit, to take no chances of a miscarriage of justice and he therefore ordered the delay. The Governor issued the order after he had communicated with his secretary, George Sutton, over the long-distance telephone.

Scott in his defense asserted his brother, Robert, was the one who shot Maurer, and he had repeatedly told his story since his trial, always saying it was Robert.

But Scott says it was not done in a hold-up, as the State purported to show during the trial. He says there was a drinking party in the City Hall Pharmacy at Washington Boulevard and La Salle street, that fatal night he and Robert attended the party, and that Robert shot Maurer in a quarrel over some money Maurer owed Robert.

TOLL OF HEAT IN EAST GROWING

wheat have not been seriously damaged by the heat, but an early spring drought had already minimized the oats yield.

Temperatures in Central Minnesota rose to 103 deg. yesterday, while the rest of that territory sweltered at 93 deg. New records were set in the Rocky Mountain States, where Rock Springs, Wyo. was in the lead with 124 deg. At Fort Collins, Colo., the mercury rose to 101.7, the highest in forty years. Montrose and Pueblo reported 102.

HIGH TEMPERATURES TO CONTINUE HERE

Old General Humidity and Mercury will continue their onslaughts today, United States Weather Bureau scouts reported last night. Yesterday General Humidity advanced eleven points, while Mercury fell back one.

"Meanwhile keep cool mentally, don't get to boiling inside under the fire and don't eat too much," suggests Assistant City Health Commissioner Jeter.

"And don't forget the animals; be sure they have access to clean, fresh water all the time," adds Dr. Alice M. Seabrook, executive secretary of the Humane Society.

The temperature yesterday reached a maximum of 92 deg. at 10:10 a.m. and the humidity at noon was 42 per cent, the bureau reported. But there's some consolation in the fact that it is not as hot as it might be—it was 109 on July 25, 1891. Of course, that was the hottest ever in the forty-seven years of official records. The forty-seven-year maximum average for July is 81.3 deg. and 56 per cent humidity.

The hottest this week was 96 on Tuesday, Wednesday it was 93 and yesterday 92. On the other hand, the driest was 28 per cent humidity on Tuesday; Wednesday, 31, and yesterday, 42.

PHOENIX HAS HOTTEST DAY IN HALF-CENTURY

PHOENIX, July 16.—Today was the hottest ever recorded in Phoenix since the establishment of the signal service station nearly fifty years ago.

At 4:30 this afternoon the Weather Bureau thermometer stood at 118 deg., 4 deg. above the highest registered to date this season and 1 deg. above the highest ever before known. The day started at 81 deg., 108 was reached at noon and 117 at 5:30 p.m. The last humidity reading was 15 per cent.

DELAY SEEN IN TRAINING PLAN

Air Service Held Unready for Drum Project

Two Years Asserted Necessary to Preparation

Kelly Field Officers Point to Force Limitations

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) July 16. It would take the Air Service at least two years to prepare for the training program recently outlined by Brig.-Gen. Hugh Drum of the general staff, which calls for ten hours' flying training a year for all officers of combatant arms of the service.

This opinion was expressed by officials of the advanced flying school at Kelly Field.

Although officials at the advanced school are highly pleased with the general policy of Gen. Drum's plans, and believe it is a step in the right direction which will eventually result in the long sought Air Service of 3000 officers and 24,000 enlisted men, it was pointed out that with immediate beginning it would take at least two years for the Air Service to put such a plan into operation.

"And during this intensive period of preparation," it was added, "other Air Service activities would have to suffer."

It was first pointed out that there are approximately 12,000 line officers who would be affected by such a program. Ten hours' instruction a year for these officers calls for 120,000 hours of instruction. Two hundred hours a year is the average flying time of a pilot. With these figures it was shown that the flying personnel of the Air Service would have to be increased by 600 pilots in order to take care of the training for line officers, and the same time keep up the regular training in the primary and advanced flying schools.

The increase of 600 pilots is equivalent to doubling the pilot personnel of the Air Service.

To do this in two years, it was said, the teaching personnel at Brooks and Kelly Fields would have to be doubled, and the number of enlisted men would have to be increased 50 per cent. This would curtail other important Air Service activities now going on throughout the country.

The increase of 600 instructors naturally calls for 600 new observation type planes, which in turn calls for appropriations larger than any the Air Service has received for ships since the war.

PARLEY WILL TAKE UP CAN SIZE STANDARDS

COMMERCE CHAMBER MEETING FOR INDUSTRY SET FOR THE 21ST INST.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Representatives of the fruit and vegetable canning industry, distributors, can manufacturers and others interested have been invited by the division of simplified practice, Department of Commerce, to a conference the 21st inst. in the Department of Commerce to consider reducing the variety in the existing sizes of fruit and vegetable cans.

At this meeting there will be presented an analysis of a survey made by a simplification committee of the canners, the chairman of this committee being Leland S. Argall of Marshalltown, Iowa. This survey shows that the eight principal can manufacturers of the country produce more than 88 per cent of their present business in five nominal numbers. The conference will be asked to act on a proposal to adopt "recognized sizes" for each of these five, in order that there may be a concentration by the plate manufacturer on fewer sizes of the sheet metal used; a saving in time, investment and production expenses for the can manufacturer; a reduction in handling costs for food packer, the distributor and retailer.

CONVICTIONS SET ASIDE

New Trials Granted Aliens by Supreme Court

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, July 16.—Holding that unnaturalized aliens cannot be convicted of violating the State antifirearms law on admissions or confessions made out of court, the Supreme Court today handed down a decision setting aside the conviction of D. Juarez and M. Garcia in the Superior Court of Sacramento county. The court ordered that the defendants be given a new trial.

In prosecuting Juarez and Garcia, admissions made by the defendants to the arresting officers that they were born in Mexico were admitted as evidence to prove they were not citizens of the United States, which fact made the offense of carrying a concealed weapon a felony.

Attorneys who were interested in having the conviction of Juarez and Garcia upheld declared that the decision of the Supreme Court virtually nullifies the section of the Antifirearms Act, which makes it a felony for unnaturalized aliens to carry a concealed weapon. They contend it is next to impossible to prove a person is an alien without admissions from him.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The flagship Bowdoin of the MacMillan Arctic expedition remained at Hopedale, Labrador, today, while repairs were continued on the broken propeller, but the airplane carrier Peary has crossed the Arctic Circle and is off the Greenland coast south of Disko Island, according to radio dispatches to the National Geographic Society.

NEBRASKANS LIFT BAN ON BOBS

However, Teachers May Not Enjoy Dances or Dates

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KEARNEY (Neb.) July 16.—Nebraska rural school boards are reluctantly accepting teachers who wear bobbed hair, but they are almost united in declaring that no young women who dance, smoke or make dates will be given contracts, according to H. C. Olsen, in charge of the placement bureau of the State Normal here. They make the same rule about men.

As a result, says Mr. Olsen, an unusual number of vacancies exists in the rural districts, where also the lowest salaries are paid. Mr. Olsen says that the ban on bobbed hair was lifted by force, it being practically impossible to find young women teachers without shorn locks.

SAN JOAQUIN DRAIN BONDS SUIT STAYED

Supreme Court Restrains Action to Invalidate Issue Voted by District

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—The State Supreme Court today granted the application of the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district for an order against the Superior Court of Colusa county and others to restrain them from proceeding further in an action to invalidate $8,155,000 in bonds voted by the district.

The bonds had been voted by the district and certified by the State Reclamation Board. Byron de la Beckwith and other residents of the district opposed the issuance of the bonds in the Colusa County Superior Court on the ground that they were excessive. The court granted them a writ of prohibition against the bond issue and the district appealed.

The legal representatives here of De La Beckwith and the other plaintiffs in the original action announced they would ask the Supreme Court for a rehearing within thirty days and that if it was not granted they would take the matter to the United States Supreme Court.

Seven counties and thousands of acres of land are involved in the litigation.

Today's decision not only halts further action by the lower court, but dissolves its injunction and opens the way for the sale of bonds.

MEN GUARD PAL SOUGHT AS SLAYER

Big Boy Smith from Lair in Hills Defies Efforts at Captive

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRANKFORT (Ky.) July 16.—Far back in the mountains of Knox county is said to be in hiding Raymond (Big Boy) Smith, carefully guarded by an armed body of henchemen, all of whom have so far successfully defied the power of State and county to bring him in. A reward of $1100 is offered.

Judge J. T. Stamper, writing to Gov. Fields asking that the State raise the amount of reward for Smith, said Columbus Taylor was killed last April, his body concealed but later found; that he (Stamper) sent a posse out, resulting in arrest of a number of persons; that Willis Warren, arrested, voluntarily confessed and asserted that Smith did the shooting and that Warren aided and assisted.

"I am informed that 'Big Boy' Smith has some men with him all the time heavily armed in the mountains along the Clay-Leslie line," Judge Stamper wrote. "There has been a standing reward for some time of $300, but it seems that no one was willing to take the chances to arrest him for this amount," plaintively wrote the judge. Even since the reward amount has been increased, there has been, so far as known, no new movement against Big Boy and his gang.

MEXICO WILL RESTORE SEIZED STOCK RANCH

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) July 16. An agreement has been reached with the government of Mexico under which the famous T. Borders of Chicago, attorney for the owner, who arrived at El Paso from Mexico City, where he negotiated with President Calles and Gov. Almeada of Chihuahua, for the return of the property, which was confiscated in April by the Chihuahua State government under the agrarian laws.

PERSHING CITES CAMP SUCCESS

Training Corps Unable to Care for All

Congressman Praises Work Done by Units

Army Officers Benefited by Recruit Classes

BY GEN. JOHN J. PERSHING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 16. — The Reserve Officers' Training Corps and the Citizens' Military Training camps are American institutons. They are not a part of the Army of the United States. Those in attendance are under no military obligation of service as are members of the Regular Army, National Guard and Organized Reserves. Nevertheless, they are most important from a defense and citizenship standpoint. They are our future protectors.

In a way the Reserve Officers' Training Corps serves the same purpose for the Organized Reserves that West Point does for the Regular Army. Moreover, it also provides the Regular Army and National Guard with valuable leaders. The Citizens' Military Training camps are the American substitute for universal training. They are the natural product of our experience in the war, as this is the method used to train young men to become officers.

CAMPS GROWING

The growth in military value of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps is indicated by the fact that 153 of its graduates accepted commissions as second lieutenants in the Officers' Reserve Corps in 1920. In 1924, all of 3337 accepted similar commissions, while 746 graduates, too young to be commissioned, were given certificates of eligibility. During the past two years, 1414 graduates of the four one-month courses given at the Citizens' Military Training Camps accepted commissions as second lieutenants n the Officers' Reserve Corps or were given certificates of eligibility. These numbers will be exceeded this summer. Both the Reserve Officers' Training Corps and the Citizens' Military Training Camps also promise to make large contributions in the future to the Enlisted Reserve Corps through those young men who, for one reason or another, are unable to complete all the courses required for an officer's commission.

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps camps opened the middle of June, immediately following the close of the educational year, and will end the last of July. These camps are of the longest duration of all conducted by the Army during the summer, being six weeks. The enrollment this summer will be more than 6000.

ATTENDANCE REQUIRED

These camps are attended by college men. Attendance at one of these camps is required at the end of the third or junior college year, and attendance at the end of the first or freshman year is optional. The War Department is unable to accommodate all who apply for the optional summer training.

The total enrollment in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps is 125,504 with units in 226 educational institutions. Regular Army officers are detailed as instructors. This enrollment is divided according to institutions, as follows: Universities and colleges, 76,743; military colleges, 5507; military schools, 7828; high schools, 34,205; other institutions, 1231. Funds permit giving summer camp training to only those in senior or college units, but many from high schools attend the Citizens' Military Training Corps.

Enrollment in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps assists man, poor boys who are desirous of receiving college educations. Many wear their uniforms daily in classrooms as well as on the drill field. Commutation of subsistence of $93.60 per year is allowed to those in the advanced courses of the junior and senior college years and $98.80 is allowed for pay, travel and subsistence during the summer camps.

The time is not far off when the majority of the present officers of the Organized Reserves, those who took part in the World War, will disappear from the picture. The Reserve Officers' Training Corps and Citizens' Military Training Camps must provide the commissioned personnel for the reserves. Upon the shoulders of these young men now graduating in these institutions will fall the great responsibility of developing the Organized Reserves to the point where our national defense will be secure. Around them must be built the citizen army of the next generation. We can only pass on our knowledge to them.

Educators believe in the intellectual and character-building qualities of the instruction given by the Army to reserve officers' training camp units. Our leading educators have spoken highly of its educational value. Our leading institutions give scholastic credits to those who attend. We are constantly refusing applications from colleges for new units, due to lack of funds. In my opinion there should be reserve officers' training camp units in every college and high school. The training received means so much to the efficiency of the individual, so much to the nation from a citizenship standpoint, that those courses would be valuable to our country even though war could be abolished forever, instead of always being possibly just around the corner.

CAMPS SUCCESSFUL

The citizens' military training camps have been successful from all standpoints and have exceeded expectations. These camps were first held in 1921 with attendance of 10,681. The attendance this summer will be 35,000. Many applications have been turned away each year. More than 100,000 young men would attend if funds permitted. Some such number will have to be eventually reached if the citizens' military training camps are to be a substitute for universal military training, for approximately 900,000 young American men reach the age of 21 each year.

These forty camps, as compared with twenty-nine last year, are of a month's duration and are held during July and August, except on the Pacific Coast, where they are open in June.

The popularity of these camps can be traced to a large degree at the present time to the improvement in citizenship on the part of the young men who attend. This is brought about through the definite service to their country, the daily routine including respect to authority and to the flag, the hourly lessons in co-operation and the courses in citizenship which are conducted at the camps.

That Congress is favorably disposed toward the citizens' military training camps can be seen by the following statement made by Congressman Anthony on the floor of the House of Representatives last year:

"I saw one of the civilian camps and, I will say to the House that I am thoroughly convinced that the money we are spending under this head brings back nearer 100 per cent return than any other money in the bill. I saw nearly 2000 raw boys, most of them coming from the hills of Arkansas, Missouri, and the plains of Kansas, who, when they arrived at camp were typical green and unfledged youngsters of about 18 years of age, but absolutely as unmilitary a lot of youngsters as I ever saw. But within a week or ten days time you never saw a finer aggregation of young American manhood in your life. They walked about with heads erect, their shoulders thrown back and looked like real men, like real soldiers."

ARMY BENEFITED

Some of our greatest industrial, commercial, financial and public utility organizations in the United States are so enthusiastic about the splendid results obtained by the Civilian Military Training Camps that they have demonstrated their support of the movement by encouraging employees to attend, by granting accepted applicants thirty days' leave of absence, generally at full pay.

Not only are these camps of great benefit to the young men of our nation, they are also of decided benefit to the Army of the United States. Approximately 350 reserve officers will be used at the camps this summer as instructors. The Civilian Military Training Camps closely parallel mobilization and give our officers practical instruction in handling raw levies. Duties at Civilian Military Training Camps are looked upon as the best training that the younger reserve officers can be given. Regular officers are being skilled as never before in producing expertness in volume from raw material.

Without question the Civilian Military Training Camp is the most popular institution under the direction of the Army. I look forward to the time when public opinion in the United States will be molded by the young men who have attended these camps. I look forward to this not far distant future with confidence. I feel grateful that I have had the opportunity of helping start this truly great movement.

TAIL LIGHTS FOR DOBBIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 16.—The City Council debated for an hour the wisdom of an ordinance compelling saddle horses to be equipped with "tail lights." Under the terms of the ordinance introduced by Alderman Donald S. McKinlay and referred to the local transportation committee for consideration, "bicycles and saddle horses shall carry one lighted lamp which shall be so lighted as to throw a red light visible in the reverse direction from which said bicyce or saddle horse is traveling." The Alderman said tail lights on a horse may sound funny, but it is a serious matter.

OWNER HAS TO KILL FAMOUS RACE HORSE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) July 16.—Huon, formerly one of the most famous thoroughbred race horses and sires in Europe, had to be killed at W. Rodes at Estill's Elmwood farm near this city. Huon while grazing in his paddock, in some unknown way broke a leg and it was necessary to kill him. His value was at least $25,000, it is believed.

The horse was buried on the Estill farm and it is likely that a stone or marble marker will be set up, a practice followed by the late James B. Haggin of Elmendorf, and other turfmen here.

Later, she suspended herself to a cell window by means of a rope she had made of her bandages. She was cut down before strangulation was effected. Next day she was sent to the State insane hospital.

INDIANS ON WARPATH

Kill Four Persons and Pillage Property of Farmers

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

RIO JANEIRO (Brazil) July 16. Dispatches to newspapers here state that a tribe of Indians known as the Urubus, meaning buzzards, are on the warpath and have swooped down from their mountain homes in the interior of the State of Maranhao, killing four people and pillaging property in the thinly populated coffee and farming region of the district.

The inhabitants are asking aid from the Federal government as the farm houses of the scattered settlers are far apart and the State police force is not sufficient to afford full protection.

BRITISH TURN DOWN AMERICAN REQUEST

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, July 16.—Ronald McNeill, Parliamentary Undersecretary of State for Foreign Affairs, stated in the House of Commons today that the British government has replied to the United States government expressing regret as being unable to accede to the American request that diplomatic status be granted to representatives of the customs division of the treasury.

PAPAGO INDIANS HIT BY DROUGHT

Inhabitants of Arid Section in Sore Straits

Crops Fail; Cattle Too Poor for Slaughter

Men Leave Settlements to Seek Employment

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) July 16.—The friendly Papago Indians have been left in hard straigts by the southwestern drought. Wheat, corn and beans have failed to mature, for lack of rain, while the cattle are too poor to kill and the cows give no milk. Even the mesquite bean crop has failed.

Bravely stolid, the Indians have accepted their lot without complaint, but, as a reservation resident declares, "If the Russians or the Armenians were one-half as starved, the Americans would be organizing large relief funds to aid them."

The Indians, who number several thousand and who belong to the great Piman family, usually live in small and widely scattered settlements or camps in what is considered the dryest part of the United States, utilizing to the last drop the water found in springs and wells.

Some help to the farmers has been given by the Indian Service, especially in the San Xavier district, south of Tucson, along the Santa Cruz River, where ditches have been dug from the river. Most of the men now are gone, taking employment where it can be found in Arizona, welcomed as good laborers.

Aid has been given by the men's class of Trinity Presbyterian Church, which has purchased 1500 pounds of seed beans for planting in the hope of growth in the expected summer rainy season. Seed wheat may be provided for the fall planting.

Fidel La Barba is manhandling Georgie Rivers's goat but Rivers will not wear horns in their bout at the Hollywood arena tonight and Fidel may not find it as easy to get his opponent as it is to get his goat, but it is quite definitely decided that the former amateur flyweight champ is the favorite to win the battle. La Barba is being watched as a possibility to fill Villa's shoes.

GIRL FAILS IN CHANNEL SWIM TRIAL

Lillian Harrison Taken from Water When Within Five Miles of Goal

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BOULOGNE (France) July 16.—The cold water of the English Channel proved too much for Miss Lillian Harrison, the young Argentine swimmer, who started from Cape Gris-Nez early this morning to swim to the English coast, and after eight hours, fifty-seven minutes, when within five miles of Dover, she had to be taken from the water.

It was at half-past one this afternoon while receiving food that the swimmer stiffened from the cold, the temperature of the water being 59 deg. Fahrenheit. Only the quickness with which the man who was feeding her caught hold of her jersey saved her from sinking like a stone.

After a brief rest Miss Harrison said she felt none the worse for her experience and made known her determination to try again in August.

Through her efforts today she is credited with having swam a greater distance in the channel than any other woman swimmer.

WATCH LA BARBA TONIGHT

Bout with Rivers Draws Interest of Experts as Blake Protege May be Next Flyweight Champ

The passing of Pancho Villa, the flyweight champion, is going to make a national figure out of Fidel La Barba, former amateur champion. La Barba boxes Georgie Rivers tonight in the Hollywood American Legion Stadium main event.

Men who follow the fights closely will watch every move La Barba makes to compare him with others who will claim the flyweight title. When Villa died his manager, Frank Churchill, was in Los Angeles dickering with Dick Donald for a world's championship fight between Villa and La Barba.

Georgie Rivers

Churchill considered La Barba so good that he didn't want to have Villa gamble his title against a $25,000 guarantee. The mere fact that Frank Churchill was holding out for more money than he was offered proves Fidel a mighty good boy.

Georgie Rivers and Fidel box at Hollywood as bantams. They will come in under 118 pounds. Rivers will be the short-ender, as La Barba has one win over Rivers. Blake claims he can repeat, as Fidel is better today than ever.

Fidel will have to win from Rivers tonight to be a contender for the vacant flyweight crown. The boys will not be making the weight, but that will not make any difference to fight fans. The La Barba who faces Georgie Rivers will be the same boy who will have to box Frankie Genaro or any other contender advanced by the East.

Blake is ready to let Fidel meet any good boy his weight. He isn't raising Fidel to be a showcase fighter. La Barba's time in the boxing racket is limited. He is after the coin. Blake believes Fidel as good today as he ever will be.

Fred Cullen is due to get a trimming tonight from Lou Rollinger. This is the semi-wind-up and it looks as if something will give if either connects. Rollinger is the better fighter of the two. Cullen has a chicken heart, but is fast and can hit for a big fellow.

The Hollywood card:

Fidel La Barba vs. Georgie Rivers, 118 pounds, ten rounds.
Lou Rollinger vs. Fred Cullen, 165 pounds, six rounds.
Benny Furrell vs. Mike Mitchell, 118 pounds, six rounds.
Willie O'Brien vs. Cy Murphy, 135 pounds, four rounds.
Chick Tabit vs. Bob Der, 145 pounds, four rounds.

ANGELS WIN OVER DUCKS

Krugmen Are Outhit, but Locals Take Advantage of Breaks to Win Second Straight, 5 to 3

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Although they were outhit and contributed three errors to boot, Marty Krug's soaring Seraphs managed to make it two straight over the Portland Beavers by hammering out a 5-to-3 victory yesterday at the Wahington Park base-hit emporium.

The Angels, who have had the Indian sign on the Ducks for lo, these many years, won so easily that they were able to play around on the bases, especially in the sixth, when Clyde Beck and Ray Jacobs passed each other up so much that it got everybody in the park dizzy and forced the umpires to call them both out.

It was in the merry go round sixth that the Seraphs pushed the runs that broke a 2-to-2 tie and gave them their winning margin. Marty Krug was out to open the frame, but Wally Hood drew four wide ones to get a free pass to first. "Bummer" Grimes bounced one through the center of the diamond that looked as if it would be turned into a double play, but Lady Luck favored the Angels and the slap went for a single when it bounced into Umpire Ed Teck's blue jeans, caroming off into center field. Hood went to third on the rap, but Umpire Teck made him go back to second. Charley Deal knocked down Ray Jacobs's sizzler with his meat hand, holding it to an infield single and filling the sacks.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Clyde Beck then pasted a long fly to right. It looked as if Charley High would catch the ball easily, but it kept drifting back toward the bleachers and finally evaded the Beaver fly-chaser's hands. Hood and Grimes scored on the hit, but Jacobs, thinking the ball would be caught, turned back for first. Beck rambled right on past Jacobs before Ray knew what was happening, automatically putting Clyde out. Jacobs then came to life and sprinted past Beck, passing him at second, but he was out trying to reach third, High to Jones to Deal. Two runs scored, but the side was retired by the freak play.

The Beavers started out after

START VILLA INQUIRY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—An inquiry into the death of Pancho Villa, flyweight champion, who died here Tuesday while undergoing an operation, will be held Saturday morning by Coroner T. B. W. Leland.

Although details behind the announcement of the inquest were not given, Coroner Leland said ten witnesses had been summoned, and "a thorough inquiry" will be made.

The Filipino fighter boxed Jimmy McLarnin on the 4th inst., the day after an operation for an abscessed tooth. Complications developed shortly after the match and an operation was pronounced necessary. He died during the administration of an anaesthetic prior to the operation.

SHADE CASE DISCUSSION IS DELAYED

Kearns Appears But Action Withheld Until Monday When Board Meets

The Dave Shade-Mickey Walker fight situation will remain in status quo until the three members of the California Boxing Commission meet in Chairman Seth Strelinger's office next Monday morning.

Action was delayed yesterday by Capt. Strelinger until he lays the matter before his confreres.

Jack Kearns, manager of Walker, called at the commissioner's offices in Hollywood and put the case before the captain, who tabled it.

"I do not want to decide the matter one way or the other until I talk with Commissioners Almgren and Hanlon," Capt. Strelinger said briefly.

"It is a situation that calls for action by the commission as a whole. It is too important even for me to express a personal opinion."

Kearns hopes to convince the California Boxing Commission that Dave Shade should be forced to meet Mickey Walker in Los Angeles before he is allowed to box Frankie Schoell in San Francisco. The New York Commission made Walker sign for a fight with Shade before they would let him meet Harry Greb and told Kearns to find a promoter for the fight. He prevailed upon Jack Doyle to bid for the match, which Shade now wants to duck because his manager, Leo P. Flynn, believes the bout would draw at least $100,000 more in New York.

MacBETH, JUNIOR, IS CHAMPION

Defeats Hensley, 4 and 2, in California Junior Golf Title Play

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DEL MONTE, July 16.—Norman MacBeth, Jr., of Los Angeles today won the California junior golf championship when he defeated Leslie Hensley of Long Beach, 4 and 2, on the Del Monte course. Both boys are under 16 years of age.

Norman MacBeth Jr.

The young champion carried a rabbit's foot in his pocket to help his putting. The token evidently worked its charm for on seven greens the lad was down in one putt. When the match ended he had two pars left for a 74 medal score, while Hensley had two pars for a 78.

In the second flight of the finals, David Hanna, Glendale, defeated Wee Selkirk, Auburn, 4 and 3.

VICTORIA (B. C.) July 16.—Miss M. Gladman of Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Mrs. J. Finlayson of Victoria, 6-3, 6-1, in the fourth round of the British Columbia lawn tennis championship tournament here today.

DELANEY, LOUGHRAN BOX DRAW

Referee Gives Decision to Jack But Commissioner Calls Fight Even

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, July 16. After Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Ct., had received the referee's decision tonight over Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, at the end of their ten-round bout, C. F. White, a member of the State Athletic Commission, reversed the verdict, making it a draw. The judges previously had disagreed and the referee's decision was unpopular with the fans.

Lew Tendler, Philadelphia welterweight, and Joe Dundee, Baltimore, also fought a ten-round draw. Tendler weighed 145 and Dundee 142.

Basil Galiano, New Orleans, was awarded the judges' decision over Joe Tiplitz after a hard eight-round fight. Rain ended the bout. Tiplitz weighed 142 pounds and Galiano, 138.

HARRY GREB WINS OVER ROSENBLOOM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND (O.) July 16.—Harry Greb of Pittsburg, middleweight champion of the world, defeated Maxie Rosenbloom, New York middleweight, in a ten-round no-decision bout tonight. Greb led all the way. He knocked Rosenbloom down for a count of seven in the seventh round.

Clay-Court Semifinals Play Held Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. LOUIS, July 16.—Play in the national clay-court tennis tournament reached the semifinals in the singles event as a result of today's matches. The doubles matches are mostly now in the fourth round.

The brilliant work of Wray Brown, St. Louis, the Missouri Valley champion, has proven the outstanding feature in the men's singles. Yesterday he furnished the first upset of the tournament.

Bill Tilden

In a fifth-round match today Brown further upset the dope by eliminating Harvey B. Snodgrass, the brawny California star. The match went the limit of five sets, Brown winning, 6-4, 3-6, 5-7, 6-2, 6-0.

Another upset occurred when youthful George Lott, Jr., Chicago, won from Howard Kinsey of San Francisco. The match was completed in four sets, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

A third and greatest upset was avoided when William T. Tilden defended his title against the excellent playing of Walter Wesbrook, Los Angeles. The big Philadelphian won in five sets.

Brian Norton, St. Louis, defeated Fritz Bastian, Indianapolis, in a match played chiefly from the baseline.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

CHARLEY PADDOCK'S difficulty over in Europe over some alleged demands for heavy expense money is worthy of a little thought whether in this case the charges are true or not. There certainly is an epidemic of near-amateurism sweeping the athletic world these days and sooner or later there is going to be something done about it. In almost every line of sport we now have young men masquerading and actually being accepted as amateurs whose sole source of income is their athletic ability. They aren't receiving a salary for doing their stuff, but they are actually traveling around and living with all expenses paid because they are athletes.

It is perfectly true that these Tildens, Paddocks, Caseys and similar young man are contributing heavily to popular interest in the particular branch of athletics in which they participate, but nevertheless they are overstepping the line that marks the limit of the true spirit of amateurism and eventually they should be classified as out-and-out professionals, unless they can show some other source of income than their athletics. If they were out-and-out professionals it would then begin to mean something to retain status as an amateur. Now, if you really are an amateur, the fellows who are making a living off their athletics look on you as a poor boob.

We don't often become so excited over pugilism that we work ourselves up onto a lather in this column, but we are forced to admit a decided desire to see the New York Boxing Commission seated in ringside seats in the hot place if they don't force Dave Shade to fight Mickey Walker in Jack Doyle's hand-painted fistic bazaar. He's been howling to fight Walker and the N.Y.B.C. wouldn't let Walker fight anybody else until he had not only agreed to fight Shade, but had lined up a promoter willing to stage the match. Doyle was the guy and now it's up to the commission to force Shade to do his stuff. Otherwise the California Boxing Commission would bar Shade.

Mr. J. Raymond Hunt, who played a rather respectable center when we were standing behind him and playing a rotten quarterback many years ago, writes in to state that honorable mention should go to Miss Lois (Toots) Reed of the fair city of Brea, Orange county, who competed in the high and broad jumps in the recent national championships for women. She is just 15 years of age and only recently graduated from grammar school and the national meet was her first competition except for the little grammar school meets in which she participated.

J. Raymond continues: "She has several times in practice exceeded the record of Miss Filkey in the broad jump and also exceeded the world's record for women in the standing broad jump. She injured a limb (Mr. Hunt is getting bashful) in practice a day or so before the meet, but a third in the broad jump at her age is not to be sneezed at. Keep your eye on the little miss from Brea. She's a winner." The youngster's performance certainly is remarkable and the mere fact that Mr. Hunt is the grand mogul of the Brea Chamber of Commerce should not be allowed to discount the young lady's feat.

LEVY WANTS GOODRICH FOR FIGHTING TOMMY

Joe Levy, manager of Tommy O'Brien, is after a match for his charge with the New York Commission lightweight champion, Jimmy Goodrich, and has petitioned "Wad" Wadhams, Vernon matchmaker, to land the easterner for an August date. He believes Tommy will make goulash out of Goodrich and is willing to take a small percentage of the house to vindicate his judgment.

DETROIT, July 16.—Coveleskie allowed Detroit only five hits in ten innings today and Washington won an overtime game from the Tigers, 2 to 1.

Both teams played excellent ball all the way through and the Senators won only after Whitehill had been removed to give way to a pinch hitter. In the tenth inning the Senators scored the necessary run needed to win, a single, base on balls and two sacrifices breaking the tie. Score:

FORMER MIDWICK POLO FOUR CAPTURES MATCH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) July 16.—Overwhelming the hitherto unbeaten Wichita team, the Broadmoor four were victorious in the finals of the July polo tournament here today by a score of 14 to 6. After a scoreless chukker, the Broadmoor team, which last winter played under the colors of the Midwick Club of Los Angeles, countered in the first few seconds of the second and were never headed thereafter.

The Wichita team was weakened by the absence of J. A. Vickers, captain, who was out of the game on account of injuries.

FOUR TRAPSHOOTERS TIED FOR TOP HONORS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, July 16.—Three amateurs and one professional trapshooter were tied at the top of the field in the Denver introductory contest here today, the opening event of the Rocky Mountain region handicap trapshooting tournament. They were R. A. King, Wichita Falls, Tex.; E. M. Roush, Shaunavon, Sask., Can., and Ed Varner, Adams, Neb., amateurs, and James Grove, Chicago, professional, each shooting 149 out of 150 points. The tie will not be shot off, officials of the tournament announced.

King led the field for straight runs with a total of 195.

DEMPSEY AND KEARNS BREAK

signing came from both Rickard and the world champion. Dempsey declared he was doing his own business from now on. In other words, the break with Jack Kearns is definite.

HANDLES OWN BUSINESS

"After my fights I will give Kearns his share until his contract with me expires," said the titleholder. "I am going to make my own matches and handle my own affairs from now on." Dempsey stated that he would place a forfeit of $100,000 with the Boxing Commission here or with Rickard to prove that he means business, but that he wanted a guarantee from the commission that a bout with Wills could be staged within the jurisdiction of the commission. "I don't want to go ahead and do a lot of training and then find that the fight has been chased out of New York," said Dempsey, when interviewed in his suite at the Alamac Hotel.

"I don't want another Jeffries-Johnson fiasco. If the commission will give me a guarantee that there will be no opposition on account of the color of the challenger, why, we will go ahead and hold this fight.

"I am off to California tomorrow and I will start training at once in Los Angeles. I fear nobody now in the heavyweight limelight. I want to give them all a chance. I would be willing to meet Wills in September, but there are obstruction to such a plan. In the first place, I would like to get a fight under my belt before tackling the negro. Then, again, Wills is in Europe and would not be ready to start training for some time."

TO MEET MADDEN

"I think that my fight this September will be with Bartley Madden at Benton Harbor, in the arena in which I knocked out poor Billy Miske. I think I am entitled to the tryout after a long rest. Wills tried his hands on Madden, so I think there should be no objection to my testing my mitts on Bartley, who is a tough bird.

"After that I will be ready for the word from Rickard to get ready for Wills and Gene Tunney or anybody else Tex sees fit to send into the ring with me.

"I realize tha tthe public has become impatient with me and that the heavyweight title really belongs to the public. However, I fought them all and I thought I deserved a little rest. Now I am all keen for the ring. No more movies, and for a while no more taking it easy. Bring them on—Wills and the rest."

"Dempsey has signed a contract to fight Wills and another contender under my promotion," said Rickard. "The date of the bout has not been fixed definitely, but I would say now that it could not take place before a year from the coming Labor Day. You see Dempsey has been out of the ring for two years and needs conditioning as well as another fighter under his belt before he tackles the negro.

"Dempsey asked to be allowed to fight somebody before taking Wills on, and I felt that this was not only a reasonable request, but actually essential in order that the champion may not meet Wills before Jack is truly fit for the fray. Dempsey isn't afraid of Wills, but he is a pretty level-headed young man and he realizes the necessity of having a tryout before he faces the challenger.

"The Dempsey-Wills fight will be the biggest affair in boxing history from the standpoint of attendance and money involved. I cannot give out the details of my agreement with the champion but it calls for a tremendous lot of money, perhaps more than he got for fighting Georges Carpentier.

"I got Wills tied up last week when I had a conference with Paddy Mullins, his manager, so the absence of the negro in Europe has no bearing on the affair at this time. No doubt he will want to have something to say about some of the details when he returns next month."

Dempsey's second fight for Rickard—the one in addition to the Wills affair which may precede the battle with the negro and take place next July 4—will be with Gene Tunney, George Godfrey, the negro, or Jack Renault.

Dempsey's announcement of his break with Kearns bears out reports which have been circulated many months and which came to a head when Kearns signed as Mickey Walker's manager—privilege for which Jack is said to have paid $75,000 to the welterweight champion. The fact that Dempsey has done the signing with Rickard leaves Kearns on the outside insofar as his relations with the Boxing Commission here in the heavyweight situation are concerned. Perhaps the commission now will recognize him as the manager of Walker—action which it had refused to take because of Dempsey's refusal to answer the Wills challenge.

MURCHISON AND PADDOCK CLEARED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 16.—Officials of the Amateur Athletic Union today declared they had no faith in the charges of the Swedish newspaper Idrotsbladet that Charley Paddock and Loren Murchison, American sprinters, now abroad, had demanded excessive expenses to appear in an international athletic meet scheduled to take place in Stockholm.

William C. Prout, chairman of the union's foreign relations committee, and Secretary Frederick F. Rubien announced today that they had investigated the charges and found they had no basis in fact.

"It has been at least two weeks since the publication of the charges," said Mr. Rubien tonight, "and in that time no official complaint has been lodged with the Amateur Athletic Union. I have no faith in the accusations," he concluded.

ANGELS ANNEX FROM BEAVERS

Whitey Glazner as if they meant to batter him from the picture before the contest was well under way. In the first four frames Whitey was rapped for eight hits and the Angels made two errors, but two runs were all the Ducks were able to get out of the mess.

A couple of star plays, one by Ray Jacobs and the other featuring Babe Twombly and Gus Sandberg, saved Glazner's lily-white skin. Jacobs made a one-hand stab of Deal's mile-a-minute drive in the second, while in the fourth, Twombly made a great throw to Sandberg, who blocked Deal off the plate, to cut off a run. Deal was the victim in both cases, especially in the latter play, for Sandberg blocked him off the plate and then sat on him as he tagged Charley.

The Ducks gathered a run after two were out in the first when Emmet McCann socked a triple to right center and legged it home when Rohwer singled to right. High also singled in this frame, but Lewis, who played in the outfield in place of Hunnefield, out with a bum leg, forced High at second to end the inning.

Singles by Tobin and Lafayette and Johnny Jones's double gave the visitors another in the second, which ended the Portland scoring until the ninth when Hannah, batting for Yarrison walked, and Meeker, who ran for Truck, made the circuit on an infield out and Jones's single.

Wally Hood accounted for the initial Angel tally in the fourth when he drove one of Yarrison's offerings over the left-field wall for a home run. The ball was curving into foul territory as it cleared the fence, but just was inside the line as it dropped out of Umpire Perle Casey's sight.

The Angels knotted the count in the fifth when Glazner reached first on Jones's bobble, took second on Statz's infield out, and scored when Twombly smashed a single to center.

What happened in the sixth has already been told, leaving the Angels' final marker yet to be explained. Said tally arrived in the eighth, when Twombly opened with a rousing triple to left center. Babe romped over the plate when Marty Krug hit what he calls a "blooper" single to center.

Government to Tax Golf and Tennis Clubs

Tennis and golf clubs are subject to taxation under new rulings received yesterday from Washington, D. C., by Collector of Internal Revenue.

Where a public golf course held by a corporation, for the profit of its stockholders, sells its privileges for a day charge, or for a charge of $250 issues of associate membership certificates entitling the holder to reduced green fee charges and additional club privileges, the certificate fee is subject to tax as an initiation fee. Where a fee in excess of $10 is required to be paid to the club for transfer for a membership, the fee also is taxable.

A tennis club which is granted permission to use land owned by a municipal corporation with a provision that improvements made on the land revert to the corporation, is not exempt, the Internal Revenue Bureau holding that only fraternal societies are entitled to this privilege.

os to Select Course for $10,000 Tourney

MRS. WENTWORTH WINS AT SUNSET

Mrs. Ike Wentworth collected 19 points to win the feature women's golf tourney at the Sunset Canyon course yesterday. Mrs. Neal Elder and Mrs. Daro Stever each added 11 points to tie for second prize and Mrs. Elder later scored with a beautiful par to win the runner-up trophy. Mrs. Cary O'Steen was third with 10 points over the difficult short course.

tions for the open championship before the event is awarded to any club, it was stated at the meeting last night.

Because Willie Hunter, Brentwood pro, came through with the first and only offer of a club to stage the tournament on, at a professional meeting several weeks ago, President Malley directed that a letter of thanks be drafted and dispatched to Brentwood officials at once.

Heated discussion at the last meeting of the local big guns, questioning the authority of the few professionals in attendance awarding the classic to Brentwood caused the special meeting to be called last night.

COURSE READY

Fearing that buildings and remodeling operations under way at Brentwood might prevent the course being in perfect shape for the tournament caused some of the discussion at the previous meeting, but Max Behr, Brentwood architect, assured the association that the course would be open for championship play at least one month before the event, which is planned for early in January.

Desiring the full and hearty cooperation of every club in the circuit and distressed by the adverse publicity released in a Santa Monica paper billing the featured Los Angeles open as to be played on a Santa Monica course was responsible for reopening the question of a course for the tournament, it was stated last night.

Willie Hunter, assured of the entire co-operation of the Brentwood officials and membership personnel has already made arrangements to collect a sum greatly aggregating the original $2000 bid of the club and President Malley directed Jack Jacobs, Wilshire's sunburned Scot club-maker pro-secretary, to assure Brentwood officials that the invitation forwarded by the club would receive due consideration before a course for the open would be selected.

BRENTWOOD LOYAL

Directors of the pro association went on record as being duly grateful for the offer of the Brentwood course and while the action last night withholds officials' sanction of Brentwood as the battle ground for the golf classic that will find Willie MacFarlane, national open champion, "Long Jim" Barnes, "British open king, Bobbie Jones, flashy Atlanta amateur, and other internationally famous stars, battling for the largest purse that has ever been offered for a single tourney, Malley intimated that Brentwood might yet be the scene of the tourney.

The Women's Athletic Association of England has invited the Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada to send a team of ten women athletes and two officials to the international track meet at London, starting August 1.

LA JOLLA, July 16.—With play in the women's event already arrived at the final brackets, the junior players are likely to hold the center of interest in the La Jolla tennis tournament for the next couple of days. Finals in the women's singles and women's doubles events will both be played tomorrow.

Mrs. W. M. Henry of Santa Monica, holder of numerous titles, is a favorite to take the championship when she meets Miss Margaret Lord, the only surviving home-town entrant. Mrs. Henry arrived at the finals by beating Miss Jessie Grieve, while Miss Lord eliminated Miss Jean McGill in the semifinal round. In the women's doubles Mrs. Henry and Miss Jessie Grieve are to meet Miss Gladys Pats and Mrs. Percy Wilbourne.

Play in the men's events has not progressed sufficiently to warrant any popular choice for the title, but it is believed to lie between Norval Craig, Southern California junior champion; Ed Berry, Harold Dickenson and young McDougall of San Francisco. Finals in all other events are expected to be decided Saturday.

Mrs. Bundy on Way to Forest Hills Matches

Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, whose name has been a by-word in women's tennis all over the world for the past twenty years, left her home in Santa Monica yesterday bound for Forest Hills, L. I., to compete in the national women's championships. She is accompanied by Marion Williams, Southern California champion for two years and La Jolla champion. They will play as a team in the doubles tournament.

Mrs. Bundy has been at the top of the list of women net stars for two decades. Year after year, she has played in the biggest eastern tournaments and has frequently been a prominent figure in European tennis.

Southern California will be well represented with these two latest entries. Miss Mary Browne, another outstanding Los Angeles player, will be in the same tournament. She is already in the East.

All three have reached the best of condition, playing in local tournaments of varied size and importance, and should be playing their best games in the title matches.

ISSUE REGATTA RACE PROGRAM

Announcement of Events at Santa Barbara Made

Sailing Craft Leave Harbor Saturday, August 8

Race to Santa Cruz Island Planned for Schooners

First announcement of the extensive racing program for the fifth annual Southern California Yachting Association regatta at Santa Barbara August 10 to 16 was made last night by Henry B. Warren, following receipt of a letter from Commodore Hoefling of the Santa Barbara Yacht Club yesterday afternoon.

Standing out among the many races is the event for schooners and yawls to Santa Cruz Island, the Lipton trophy race for R boats, a race for the small 151-type hydroplanes, and the consolation races.

This year's regatta program is rich in events for all types of sailing craft and power boats.

On August 6 sailing boats from San Francisco will race from the Bay region to Santa Barbara and on August 8 local sailing craft leave Los Angeles Harbor for the Channel City. On the following day powerboats of the California, Newport Harbor, Southland Sailing, Los Angeles, Catalina, and San Diego clubs stage their race from Los Angeles Harbor to Santa Barbara.

According to the program Monday August 10 is a rest day, allowing ample time for all skippers to bring their craft into Santa Barbara Harbor.

Tuesday is a busy day for skippers and power and sailing boats. In the morning races are scheduled for runabouts and all classes of power boats, including cruisettes, Fellows-Craft, California 32's, mixed-power cruiser class, and express cruisers. These races are scheduled over a twelve-mile course. A race will also be held for the speedy 151 type hydroplanes.

Sailing races for R-boats, Stars, handicap sloops, yawls and schooners over a twelve-mile course will be held Tuesday afternoon.

The big race for schooners and yawls to Santa Cruz Island and return will be held on Wednesday. The event is the same as held two years ago at the Channel City, which was won by the Diablo. The course is approximately twenty-five miles. The free-for-all powerboat event is also planned on the same day, with the same sailing races scheduled as on Tuesday's program.

Thursday's racing program is a duplicate of Tuesday's with the addition of the Sea-Mew and Marion classes and the stellar event of the regatta, the Lipton trophy race for R-boats.

Friday's program consists of model yacht-racing, and a consolation event for all sailing and power boat classes. The annual sport writers' event will be held in the afternoon with Southern California newspaper correspondents attending the regatta acting as skippers on the R-class boats.

According to Warren, a host of social events are also on the program, with several special events listed, the full content of which is being kept a surprise by the Santa Barbara club. The Samarkand Hotel has been definitely chosen as regatta headquarters.

KEARNS SAYS HE'S MANAGER

the subject of matchmaking was not gone into. He said he didn't want to fight and I took him at his word.

"As I told you at the time of his marriage, I did not believe he would fight until his love sickness wore off.

"If Dempsey thinks he can give me the run-around by signing for a couple of push-over matches and stall off the Wills match until after our contract expires, I may throw a monkey wrench in his plans.

ALSO A NOTIFIER

"When he starts notifying the promoters and the New York Commission that he is ready to fight and is going to do his own business, he'll find me the best little notifier in the country.

"I had considerable to do with bringing the world's heavyweight title to Mr. Dempsey. That's a fact that most everybody connected with the fight game will acknowledge. However, Dempsey seems to have forgotten my connection.

"When he states he will see that I get my cut from his ring earnings until our contract runs out he is only wasting his breath. He knows I'll get it, or he won't fight."

It looks as if Kearns hit the nail on the head when he said Dempsey apparently wanted to save the Wills fight—the big money battle—until his contract with Kearns runs out. It is understood the Dempsey family, including fair Estelle, has been after him hot and heavy for the past year to sign a new contract with Kearns whereby the latter would only receive 35 per cent instead of 50. The family wanted the other 15 per cent, believing 35 plenty for a manager, according to Mrs. Lottie Dexter Dempsey, divorced wife of Jack's father.

CORN IN KANSAS HARMS ROADS

Prop Roots Break Slabs of Concrete on Rural Highways

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PADONA (Kan.) July 16.—Officials here have appealed to the State Highway Commission at Topeka for aid in combatting a road menace brought about by the rapid growth of corn in the last few hot days.

Prop roots of corn in fields abutting hard surfaced roads have grown so rapidly, and to such an enormous size they are cracking huge slabs from the concrete roads. Macadam roads, too, show great bulges where the roots are forcing their way underneath.

The county commissioners have employed all available men and equipped them with axes and saws to patrol the roads, cutting off the damaging roots, but because of the favorable weather of the last week, the roots are growing faster than they can be cut off.

EMPLOYING BANDITS ON WAGE BASIS

Leaders Offer Two Pesos a Day for Recruits, Avers Mexican Newspaper

BY JACK-STARR HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, July 16.—Two pesos a day is being offered recruits to join a gang of bandits in the State of Puebla according to a report published in El Universal here. The report as published by the El Universal states that official information furnished to the newspaper's correspondent at Puebla is that a group of suspicious individuals operating near the village of San Bernardino Lagunas in the same State are offering recruits two pesos daily to enroll in the bandit ranks.

The government, the report states, is taking precautionary measures to prevent the enrollment of brigands. The Federal army pays its soldiers at present one peso a day.

A dispatch received here by the newspaper Excelsior from Orizaba, State of Vera Cruz bordering on Puebla, states that former Gen. Eduardo Loyo, ex-rebel and follower of Adolfo de la Huerta in his collapsed revolt against the administration of President Obregon, was arrested and shot attempting to escape. The message states that Loyo was on his way to an isolated ranch which he owns when the arrest was made. While being conducted under guard along a lonely road he tried to escape and was subsequently shot.

WOMAN FOUGHT FOUR VICE-SQUAD RAIDERS

SUCCEEDED IN RETRIEVING PART OF ASSERTED BRIBE MONEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Bearing the marks of battle, Mrs. Victoria Dubeski, a 250-pound woman saloonkeeper, heard members of "Unit No. 1," Director Butler's antivice-and-liquor squad, accuse her of fighting four of them to get back $100 they said she gave them in her saloon at Twenty-first and Jefferson streets as an asserted bribe.

"I didn't think I could whip the four of them," she said when she was arraigned before Magistrate Fahnestock, "but they'll admit I gave them a good battle." Mrs. Dubeski's arms were black and blue.

She succeeded in retrieving $80 of the $100, Sergt. William Smith testified, when she saw them marking only the money they retained, which was introduced as evidence at the hearing.

"We were searching the place," said Smith, "and Mrs. Dubeski said she had children to support and was honest.

"We continued to search the saloon, and she gave me and three other men of the unit $25 each. When she did so, we started to mark the bills, and then she tackled us.

"She is a strong woman, and, while we did not want to hurt her, it was impossible to hold her until she had grabbed most of the $100, which she gave us apparently as an attempt to bribe us."

The detectives testified they had found a small amount of liquor in the saloon.

Mrs. Dubeski was held under $3000 bail for court on a charge of bribery and illegal possession of liquor.

D., Bishop of Mississippi, will preach the sermon at the opening service of the Forty-eighth Triennial General Convention of the Episcopal Church at New Orleans, October 7, next. SPAN PROPOSED FOR RIO GRANDE

Bridge Planned for Rail and Vehicular Traffic

Hidalgo Will be Location of Projected Structure

Mexican Governor in Favor of Proposition

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HIDALGO (Tex.) July 16.—Plans are on foot for the construction of a combination vehicle and railroad bridge across the Rio Grande at this point. It is stated that the bridge will be built irrespective of whether or not the Southern Pacific is granted authority by the Interstate Commerce Commission for extending its line south from Falfurrias, Tex., to a connection with the National Railways of Mexico at Reynosa. If the railroad is not built the bridge will be used exclusively for vehicles and foot passengers.

Gov. Portes Gil of the State of Tamaulipas, Mex., came to the American side of the Rio Grande the other day and went over a part of the route of the proposed Southern Pacific extension. He expressed himself as greatly interested in seeing the road built and he said that he would give the project all possible official assistance in so far as that part of the line which is to be located in Mexico is concerned.

H. A. Morrison, vice-president of the Municipal Securities Company at Memphis, Tenn., met Gov. Gil and conferred with him in regard to financing the proposed international bridge and other projects. Mr. Morrison said that the construction of the bridge would be started in a short time. The Southern Pacific will hold stock in the company that is to be formed to build and operate the bridge. Toll will be charged vehicles and foot passengers.

While making the survey for the extension of the Southern Pacific to Hidalgo a deposit of gypsum which covers 640 acres of ground was discovered. The gypsum outcrops in many places and is located fifteen miles south of Falfurrias.

Lad Smothered to Death While in Refrigerator

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CORPUS CHRISTI (Tex.) July 16.—Harry Lee Beane, Jr., 5 years of age son of Mrs. H. L. Beane of Corpus Christi, smothered to death here in an old refrigerator which he had entered while playing in an effort to hide himself.

The old refrigerator was in a garage in the rear of the home and lay in a slanting position, the door upward. On entering, the door closed of its own weight, imprisoning the boy and the catch on the door resisted all his efforts to get out. He was found by his little sister after he had been in the box at least two hours. Efforts to revive him were futile.

MYSTERY SCREAMS AROUSE NEIGHBORS

POLICE AND WORKMEN PUZZLED OVER FAILURE TO FIND ORIGIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—A woman's voice, shrieking: "Murder! Help! Police! I'm dying," created intense excitement near Eighteenth and Wallace streets.

So loud were the screams that workmen dropped their tools, and drivers serving milk and bread in the neighborhood jumped from their wagons to take part in the rescue. A physician, hearing the screams, ran out of his office to give first aid. Policemen, summoned by telephone, dashed in a bandit-chaser from the Twentieth and Buttonwood-street station.

But while the posse was pounding on the door, preparing to enter by force, a young woman who lives in the apartment sauntered up and inquired the cause of all the excitement.

"Don't break the door down. I'll unlock it and let you in," suggested Mrs. Virginia Freeman, 1801 Wallace street.

Lieut. Stack, the district commander, Graley, a detective, and Logan, a policeman, waited with drawn pistols as the door was flung open. Lewis Fletcher, 3147 Fontaine street, a contractor, and a gang of workmen, armed with hammers and pick handles stood at their backs.

Mrs. Freeman's apartment was in perfect order, just as she had left it two hours before when she went out with her husband.

"I was going to the seashore," she explained, "and my husband to work. I missed the train and came home."

There was no "corpus delicti" in the apartment, and the policemen turned puzzled faces elsewhere.

Fletcher and his men, engaged in remodelling the house where Mrs. Freeman has her apartment, were sure that was the direction from which the cries had seemed to come.

Residents of North street near Eighteenth, just to the rear, also were sure they had heard screams, as were other neighbors on Wallace street.

The police searched other houses and made many inquiries, but could find no clew to the "crime."

GRAIN IN CANADA DESTROYED BY HAIL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WINNIPEG, July 16.—Terrific hailstorms struck Manitoba and Saskatchewan farming districts yesterday, destroying great areas of grain. Hail as large as baseballs, reports received in Winnipeg stater, covered the wheat fields. Atty.-Gen. Headley of Alberta said in Edmonton that 300,000 acres of grain had been destroyed by hail in Alberta alone during the past ten days, resulting in a loss of more than 5,000,000 bushels of wheat, according to reports he had received from 3000 growers.

RARE WET HOARD DOOMED

Gen. Andrews's Personal Aide Now in Chicago to Destroy Liquor Worth $3,250,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 16.—Special Treasury Agent O'Neil, personal aide to Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, yesterday came to Chicago on orders of his chief to direct the destruction of the $3,250,000 hoard of rare liquors and miscellaneous booze which now jams the Federal grog depository here.

Previous starts have been made in the destruction of the rich treasure, but each time the pouring squad has been halted abruptly after discovering that proper legal procedure had not been followed in the performance of the harrowing task.

Mr. O'Neil went into conference with District Chief Edwin A. Olson immediately upon his arrival from his headquarters in Washington with a view of arranging a witness proof program which will allow the stuff to gurgle down the huge booze sink without interruption.

Mr. Olsen announced the assignment of assistant district attorneys to prepare motions covering every parcel of hooch in the warehouse, with the exception of $260,000 worth of stuff taken in recent seizures. The latter is to be held for use in prosecutions now pending, and is then to be destroyed forthwith, according to the instructions of Gen. Andrews.

Some of the booze that will rush down the drainage canal is pre-Volstead.

Film Censorship Trend Looms in League Requset

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GENEVA, July 16.—The first step toward a modified international censorship of motion pictures is seen in the request of Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League of Nations, that all governments furnish the League with information of steps taken to ascertain the effects of motion pictures on the moral and mental well-being of children. The move was launched by the advisory committee on the traffic in women and children, and was approved by the League Council.

Drummond asked copies for all laws and decrees and of executive regulations in force and other relevant information which it is suspected in some quarters might later be used as an entering wedge in support of efforts to establish international supervision of the film industry.

ELDERLY COUPLE IN ROW OVER FLAPPERS

WIFE, EIGHTY-FOUR, MAY RETURN TO HUSBAND, SIXTY-FOUR, FRIENDS SAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, July 16.—A complete reconciliation of a wife 84 years of age, and her husband twenty years her junior, separated as a result of the asserted influences of "flappers" on the husband after the couple had lived happily together for a third of a century, is believed near in Dedham Probate Court.

The wife, Mrs. Sarah F. L. Castor, who is suing for separate maintenance, was on the verge of forgiveness as the trial progressed. The husband, Theodore H. C. Castor, of Quincy, retired book merchant, declares he is eager to take his elderly wife back to his home and spend his remaining years with her.

Dislike for a relative with whom her husband associates apparently is the only thing that stands in the way of the reconciliation of the aged pair. She said she "would have been almost willing to forgive" had she not seen them together during the trial.

Friends of the couple aver that Mrs. Castor may yet be induced to make up.

The husband, called to the stand, admitted that the ladies "liked" him. He also declared he would do everything possible to have his wife return to him that they might spend the remaining days of their lives together.

"All the humiliation I have suffered as a result of this trial will be forgotten if she returns home," the husband declared.

SOUTHWEST FLOUR BUYING INCREASES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) July 16.—Flour buying in Texas and Oklahoma gained an impetus during the second week of July that drove mill operations up to near 75 per cent of capacity on an average and some of the larger mills to 100 per cent, had they been equipped on short notice to fill all orders received. Heaviest buying came toward the end of the week when dealers, observing that flour prices did not follow an upward movement of wheat prices, evidently concluded to abandon their policy of aloofness and to begin the accumulation of at least moderate stocks. Millers received more than the usual percentage of orders that called for sixty-day delivery.

TWO FISH CAUGHT ON SAME TROLLING LINE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RHINELANDER (Wis.) July 16.—R. W. Stambaugh of Milwaukee and Charles Smith of Oshkosh, captured a three-pound pike and a twenty-pound muskellonge on the same line while trolling in Kathan Lake, near Eagle River. While the pike was being reeled into the boat the muskellonge made a grab for the fish, and his gills became caught in the line in such a manner as to hold him prisoner.

FIELD WELL NAMED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) July 16.—"Fly Field" is the very appropriate name of the local aviation field. It lately has been inspected by Col. William Mitchell of the Army Air Service, who came with a number of planes to give the field a practical test. The landing was pronounced good. Naming of the field was in honor of a local resident, Col. B. F. Fly, who had much to do with its establishment.

MAY REACH HOSPITAL IN PARACHUTE

Steeplejack Would Have Medical Men Meet Him With Pair of Crutches

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PONTIAC (Mich.) July 16.—John Clapp, a local steeplejack and parachute jumper, was obliged to go to Ann Arbor for treatment at the University Hospital and planned to make the trip in an airplane, jump from the plane with a parachute as close to the hospital as possible, and then, with the aid of crutches, hobble into the hospital.

Clapp suffered a fractured leg at Lake Orion a year ago in making a parachute jump from an airplane. He struck a stake and since that time has been unable to go into the air, either by steeple or plane. It was necessary for him to have the leg broken again and reset several months ago. Since then the leg has been in a cast.

Clapp planned to take off in a commercial airplane from the Overcashier Flying Field at Monnier and Nine-Mile Roads, in Royal Oak township. He has requested that when the hospital authorities see him coming sailing down out of the sky they come out with a pair of crutches.

"I've just got to get into the air again, that's all," Clapp said in explaining his plan. "Probably most folks will think I am crazy, but then most folks don't know how wonderful it is to be flying above the earth and how pleasant it is to come sailing down, down with nothing between you and death but a parachute. I haven't been in the air for a year now and I can't stand it any longer. I don't expect any more inconvenience in going the way I am than I would if I went by auto or train."

MARRIAGE TO CHILD BRIDE BRINGS ARREST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HARLAN (Ky.) July 16.—Thomas Slusher, reported to be more than 48 years of age, was arrested after he married a girl of 12 near Wallins, this county. He was charged with forging the name of the girl's father to a permit to procure a marriage license. He was arrested when the child's father discovered the marriage. The father is Robert Garret and the girl is Vernice Garret. Slusher was held to the grand jury under a $2000 bond.

SEVEN POWER GRANTS ASKED

Permits Sought for More California Projects

Edison Would Build New Ventura County Line

Plea Made for Installation Near Los Angeles

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Seven applications for permits or licenses under the Federal Water-Power Act were filed with the Federal Power Commission during the seven weeks' period ended the 11th inst., for power projects in California. These applications are:

The Southern California Edison Company has applied for a license for a transmission line in Ventura county, a small portion of which is on government lands.

Walter G. Muncy has applied for a license for a small power development for domestic and camp use in Kelly's Gulch, about nineteen miles from Crescent City, Del Norte county.

TO HEIGHTEN DAM

The Great Western Power company has applied for a license to increase by forty-five feet the height of an existing dam in the north fork of Feather River, near Greensville, Plumas county. This will add 1,000,000 acre feet to the storage capacity from Lake Almanor and will regulate the flow of water in the river now used through the company's existing Caribou and Big Bend power plants.

The Feather River Power Company has applied for a license to construct a 106-foot dam on Bucks, Grizzly and Milk Ranch creeks in Plumas county. A reservoir with a capacity of 103,000 acre feet will be created, and the project will have an approximate primary capacity of 60,000 horsepower, intended for general sale.

The Ventura Power Company has applied for a preliminary permit for a power installation consisting of two reservoirs and three power units with appurtenant structures in Sespe Creek, Ventura county. The dams will impound 63,500 and 10,800 acre feet of water, respectively. The developed power will be used for general sale.

IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY

The Ventura Power Company has also applied for a preliminary permit providing for a power installation with a primary capacity of approximately 25,000 horsepower in Ventura and Los Angeles counties. The project will comprise a reservoir of 22,000 acre feet capacity, behind a 200-foot multiple-arch type dam, at the junction of Bucks and Piro creeks and another reservoir on the latter creek near Los Alamos Creek with a capacity of 33,000 acre feet, behind a 120-foot dam, together with three power houses and other appurtenant works. The power to be developed will be for general sale.

The Southern Sierras Power Company has applied for a license for a short transmission line near Wilde, Victorville and Oro Grande, San Bernardino county.

GIRL MURDER TRIAL MAY BE TEST CASE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Dorothy Ellingson's trial of August 11, on a charge of murdering her mother, Mrs. Anna Ellingson, may be turned into the first test of a new law permitting a judge to name his own alienists in a criminal case. The law, effective July 24, authorizes the appointment of one or more experts to examine the defendant's sanity and testify as witnesses for the court. If such action is taken by Judge Harold Louderback the constitutionality of the statute may be attacked, counsel for both sides said.

PROSPEROUS SEASON FOR PRUNE GROWERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICO, July 16. — All available California prunes will be disposed of by the end of the present month, in the opinion of W. J. O'Connor, director of the California Prune and Apricot Association, who is here today from Oakland. O'Connor predicts a prosperous year for prune growers.

MONKEY INVADES WHITE COURT

President On Stroll Spies Intruder in Tall Tree; Fire Laddies Called

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SWAMPSCOTT (Mass.) July 16.—Slipping through a cordon of marines, policemen and secret service operatives, a monkey entered the grounds of White Court late this afternoon and climbed one of the tall trees. President Coolidge, taking an after-dinner stroll, saw the animal in a tree and called for Richard Jervis, chief of the White House detectives. Jervis called the fire department. A few moments later residents of the exclusive North Shore district, where the summer White House is located, were given a thrill when the fire department apparatus came dashing up Puritan Road and entered the White Court grounds. The crowds which came to see a fire remained while a ladder was run up the tree and the monkey dragged, resisting, from his perch near where the President stood. The monkey was later claimed by its owner.

Wales Talks to Native Chiefs on Cleanliness

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BROKEN HILLS (Northern Rhodesia) July 16. — The Prince of Wales completed his program in Northern Rhodesia with a round of visits here yesterday.

The main feature was a meeting of the Prince with native chiefs from all parts of the territory except Barotseland. In addressing the chiefs, Wales urged them to keep their villages clean and acquire the knowledge which the white man had to offer them.

In the afternoon he motored to Nulungushi, where he opened a new hydroelectric plant.

Gang Escapes With Fortune in Gem Theft

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, July 16. — Five robbers today held up the Stanley Jewelry Store in West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, handcuffed three employees and escaped with jewelry valued by the proprietor at $100,000. The robbers fled in an automobile driven by a sixth man.

The robbers entered the store shortly after the safe had been opened and while the employees were carrying trays of jewelry from the safe to show cases.

Police found the three employees shackled with handcuffs of an old type. It required twenty minutes to saw them free.

LAND TO BE ADDED TO IRRIGATION DISTRICT

The district then will embrace about all the cultivated area of the Duncan section and will join a similar district in New Mexico, now being organized by the settlers around Virden. The districts will unite in efforts toward water storage.

FIVE KILLED IN ENIGMA BLAST

Rancher and Four Children Victims of Explosion

Concussion Shakes Houses Two Miles Distant

Officers Fail to Uncover Clew in Tragedy

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REEDLEY, July 16.—In a mysterious blast which wrecked a farmhome and then set fire to it, H. D. Schroeder, prosperous rancher living two and a half miles south of here, and four of his children were killed today. Houses in Reedley were shaken by the blast and its noise was plainly heard.

Though the explosion took place about 2 a.m. and a swarm of officials under Sheriff Bob Hill of Tulare county, and Deputy State Fire Marshal Ralph Williams of Fresno have been seeking some explanation for it ever since, they have not a single clew. Williams, who is rated an explosive expert, said he could not even guess what explosive had been used or where in the house it was placed. Fire had completed the destruction done by the blast and five unrecognizable bodies were all that remained of the Schroeder family.

CRIMINALS SOUGHT

The other victims are Myrtle Schroeder, 24 years of age; Sarah Schroeder, 21; Louise Schroeder, 18, and Arnold Schroeder, 8.

The Schroeder house, a two-story stucco, stood nearly on the line between Tulare and Fresno counties and officials of both counties joined in the investigation. They have been unable to discover that the Schroeders had any known enemies, but are proceeding on the theory that the explosion and fire were of criminal origin.

The bodies were found in the wrecks of their beds, indicating that they were killed outright by the blast, or so badly injured that they could not move. The body of one of the daughters was a few feet away from her bed; whether she was thrown out or tried to escape by crawling could not be guessed.

BLAST TERRIFIC

The fire was discovered by John McBrian, a rancher living about a mile away. He roused Andrew Winter and other neighbors, but by the time they got there the wrecked house was a mass of flames into which no one could venture. Fire departments were called from Dinuba and Reedley, but these arrived too late to be of any aid.

The force of the blast tore the north wall from the house and moved it nearly sixteen feet. A massive oak door was blown 200 feet away, and bits of glass from the windows were driven deep into all surrounding trees. Other portions of wreckage were strewn over an area of 250 feet radius, sash weights from the windows being blown twenty feet.

WIFE AND SON ESCAPE

A sad journey taken by Mrs. Schroeder prevented her also from being a victim of the blast. She went to Hillsborough, Kan., last week on account of the death of her father, and was expected back in a few days. Another son, Edgar Schroeder, 17, is a cripple, undergoing treatment in a Fresno hospital. These are all that are left of the family.

The Schroeders have been here eight years, and were hard-working and well liked. They had been in no difficulties of any description, so far as the officials could learn.

The report that a mysterious stranger had been seen lurking in the vicinity for several days reached officials this afternoon, but was discounted because it lacked definiteness. Sheriff Hill said he believed the reports are merely baseless rumor.

Rumania Calls Minister Home to Discuss Debt

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Prince Bibesco, Rumanian Minister, has been instructed by his government to return to Bucharest to discuss the Rumanian-American debt situation.

The minister will sail from New York next week.

The problem of collecting the relief debt owed by Rumania probably will be given serious consideration at Bucharest before Minister Culbertson, the new American diplomatic representative in Rumania, reaches his post.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BUCHAREST (Rumania) July 16.—After a Cabinet meeting today the newspapers stated that the government was preparing to send a commission of experts to the United States for a preliminary discussion of arrangements for funding the war debt.

Finance Minister Bratiano likewise, is going to Paris and London shortly to discuss the inter-Allied debt problem with the French and British governments.

The American Legation here states that no official notice has yet been given of the commission's departure.

OIL QUIZ HURT BY RETICENCE

Buyers in Asserted Swindle Refuse to Talk

One Promises Assistance if Convinced of Fraud

State Department Inquiry Embraces San Diego

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, July 16.—Baffled, but undaunted, by a mysterious silence on the part of investors in the Gollett Oil Company, the State Corporation Department is continuing its investigation of the company's asserted swindle with evidence against the company accumulating bit by bit.

The department investigators learned definitely today the names of three local business and professional men who have invested in the company, but none of the three would give the needed information or show their receipts for the payments they gave Gollett company representatives.

One of the three, however, is said to have promised to "make a clean breast of everything" if he "becomes convinced the company perpetrated a fraud."

Among those who have admitted paying out money for the purchase of stock, but who have refused to disclose the amount of their investments are Leo Lobner, local clothing merchant, and Dr. George E. Chappell, well-known Sacramento physician and surgeon.

Several local residents who, the Corporation Department officials are sure, have invested in the company, deny all such reports and steadfastly refuse to talk. Of a total of sixteen such persons, the evidence in the hands of the State authorities shows three have admitted buying stock and that the rest have bought, but will not admit it.

The investigation has shown that the company agents brought an interpreter here and staged a selling campaign among the members of the local Italian colony. Several prominent residents of Italian descent were approached, but it has not been learned how much, if any, stock was purchased by them.

The investigation extended to San Diego today when E. F. Dishman, chief examiner of the department, went to that city, to follow up a series of clews.

THREE DIE IN TANK CAR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BALTIC LEAGUE PLAN BLOCKED

Lithuania Frustrates Move Against Soviet

Refuses to Join in Alliance With England

Demands Poland Give Back Vilna to Her

BY DONALD DAY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune]

RIGA, July 16.—Lithuania is the pivot state of Northeastern Europe today. This little country of 3,000,000 has succeeded in frustrating all of England's efforts to form a league of states bordering Russia against the Bolshevists. Thus far England has lined up Finland, Esthonia, Poland and Rumania, but Lithuania divides Poland and Rumania from the Baltic states and refuses to enter any combinations until Poland returns Vilna—the ancient capital of Lithuanian kings.

While the Baltic states are reported to be willing to side with England, still they are holding back from any agreement until Lithuania joins. Lithuania, recognizing its position, is reported to be handing over to Moscow copies of its diplomatic correspondence and informing the soviet government of all propositions being tendered.

A few days ago the Latvian Foreign Minister, M. Meirovitz, started a tour of the capitals of Europe. En route he visited Kovno a few days. Later, when M. Meirovitz reached Paris, the Moscow Isvesthia accused him of attempting to form a border league against Russia. After this was denied by the Latvian Foreign Office, the official soviet telegraph agency yesterday sent out the following dispatch from Moscow:

MOSCOW DISPATCH

"The soviet government is informed from absolutely trustworthy sources that the Latvian Foreign Minister, M. Meirovitz, acting under English instructions, is negotiating with the ministers of the Baltic states regarding united action against Russia. During his visit to Kovno, M. Meirovitz attempted to persuade Lithuania to join the border bloc, but the Lithuanian government categorically refused. Finland has already given M. Meirovitz an indefinite reply, while Esthonia has taken a neutral attitude. M. Meirovitz before returning to Latvia intends to visit Warsaw, where he hopes to disillusion the Poles, who are hoping for better economic relations with the soviet government."

The second accusation resulted in another denial by the Latvian Foreign Office.

ENGLAND'S TASK

England now faces the task of untying another of David Lloyd George's Gordian knots made when he permitted the Polish general Zeligovski to annex by a putsch one-third of Lithuania, including Vilna, in 1919. The English press already is discussing the possibility of liquidating the Dantzig corridor and giving the Poles Memel, which Lithuania took in the putsch of 1923, and forcing Poland to return Vilna to compensate Lithuania for the loss of the German city of Memel.

England is in hopes of forming a bloc of border states against Russia, but both Lithuania and Poland officially have announced that any change in the present borders will result in war.

England's effort to form a combination against the soviet government is replacing the Chinese events on the first page of the Moscow press, which declares England is isolated and fighting a losing fight against the Bolshevik diplomacy. In an effort to offset England's efforts to unite the bordering states, the soviet government has promised Poland the fulfillment of the Riga Treaty.

MOSCOW REPORTS BRITISH AIR-BASE PLANS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIGA, July 16.—The islands of Dagee and Oesel, off the coast of Esthonia, will be subject to the rule of Great Britain, which intends to build airplane bases on them in order to threaten the city of Leningrad, according to advices received from Moscow. Negotiations between Great Britain and Esthonia, according to the Isthvestia, have been proceeding for some time, and the Esthonian Foreign Minister, M. Puata, recently signed an agreement.

The above report, which has been published in the Moscow press several times, has always brought denials from the Esthonian government.

Esthonia reports that the soviet government is again concentrating troops in the vicinity of its borders and the population is fearing a repetition of the Communist putsch of last December, which almost resulted in the overturning of the Esthonian government and the annexing of Esthonia by Russia. Esthonia is the weakest of the Baltic states.

Girls Who Fled Desolate Camp Located in City

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 16.—Junie and Esther Bradshaw, 14 and 12 years of age, respectively, daughters of A. W. Bradshaw, Tule Lake sheepman, who disappeared from their sheep camp on Lower Tule Lake a week ago, were located in Portland late today.

The girls were found in a lodging house and were taken into custodaw by the members of the Woman's Protective Division. Sheriff Sharp and Constable Cozard of Klamath Falls came to Portland after I. W. Rhodes, sweetheart of Junie, confessed that he had brought the girls to this city and had placed them in the care of friends.

The girls declared that they ran away because their father kept them in the desolate sheep camp. The girls also said that Rhodes helped them only because they had asked him.

FOUR DIE AS GUNS BLAZE IN CHICAGO

Avengers Riddle Enemy of Notorious Gangster and Escape in Automobile

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 16.—Guns blazed again in Chicago streets last night and today, bringing violent death to four men, three of them outlaws. Two others were seriously wounded and lie close to death in hospitals.

One of the men killed was a gangster, known as an enemy of the notorious Genna brothers. He perished in the typical gangster manner. Four avengers, armed with automatics and sawed-off shotguns, riding in a big car, drove alongside his car, shot him and drove away.

Patrolman Lauderdale intercepted two youths in a stolen car. When he called them to halt, they sped away, firing at him repeatedly. He returned the fire and gave chase. Eventually the pursued car crashed into the curb. As the occupants ran, the policeman fired his last cartridge. It went through the wrist of one man and the heart of the other.

Al Grossman, a bandit, using a pretty girl as a lure, paid for his latest adventure of this sort with his life. Lieut. Cunningham, not in uniform, was held up by a signal light. A girl appeared at the side of his car and asked him an address. As he leaned out to point the way for her, Grossman leaped upon the running board from the opposite side and ordered Cunningham to put up his hands. Instead, the officer seized a revolver from a flap case in his machine and perforated Grossman. The girl escaped.

Edward Clay, a former taxi driver, was found fatally shot in the street and the causes for his death and the identity of his slayer are unknown. Harry Meyers and Arthur Krueger, pickpockets, were fighting a pistol duel in an alley when Police Operator Fred Jones came upon them. He shot Myers, seriously, but Krueger escaped.

AMERICA LEADS ALL IN WEALTH

Other Nations Have Good Cause to Seek Alliance

Principal Predominance Rests in Motor Industry

Telephone Service Far Ahead of Foreign Countries

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The reason that the rest of the world is so anxious to have the United States join some international arrangement which will aid in maintaining world peace and administer economic aid is that our country today is the wonder of history from the point of view of progress and material prosperity. No nation previously in the entire history of the world has made the strides which have been made by Americans. Those in America who are considered relatively poor would be regarded as fortunate in many foreign lands. We have only 5.7 per cent of the land area of the world but on that land we have produced more than any other country has in the way of material wealth.

Probably the principal predominance is in the automotive industry. With but 6.2 per cent of the people of the world, the United States has 82.7 per cent of the automobiles. And many of the automobiles in use in other countries were made here and exported. There is a machine for nearly every American family. England probably stands second in wealth to the United States but even there the workman who has so much as a bicycle thinks himself prosperous.

SNAPPY TELEPHONE SERVICE

The installed water power of the United States represents 37.9 per cent of all the installed water power of the world and yet this industry is merely in its infancy. Americans have 57.5 per cent of the telephone and telegraph facilities of the whole world. While it is a popular pastime to criticize telephone service, the actual fact is that service here is far ahead of that in any other country. For instance, in Italy when one wants to call a number he puts in his call and then hangs up the receiver. He waits sometimes as much as an hour to get the connection. It takes about as much time to call the instrument across the street in Italy as it does to get a connection bewteen New York and San Francisco in the United States.

American coal deposits amount to 43.5 per cent of the world's total. And of the world's petroleum, we have 71.9 per cent—nearly three-quarters of the entire world's supply. Copper is one of the basic metals without which industry cannot get along and of the world's copper supply the American nation has more than half—52.7 per cent.

FEED OURSELVES, OTHERS

Almost every country in the world produces wheat. Yet with only 5.7 per cent of the world's land area, we produce 21.3 per cent of its wheat and send huge quantities to other countries. Of other cereals the United States produces 32.2 per cent of the total supply of the world.

Despite the fact that for many years, other nations have been carrying on campaigns looking to the increase in cotton production, the United States still produces more than half of the world supply. Fifty-two per cent of this important staple comes from American plantations. Again, in lumber, the United States stands first with more than half—52.6 per cent—of the world's lumber cut to its credit.

Pig iron production of the United States amounts to 60.2 per cent of that of the whole world. From this pig iron is made 59.3 per cent of all the steel produced.

Americans are tremendous consumers of paper. The tremendous consumption of paper in this country causes 6.2 per cent of the world's population to produce for its use 57.4 per cent of all the paper made.

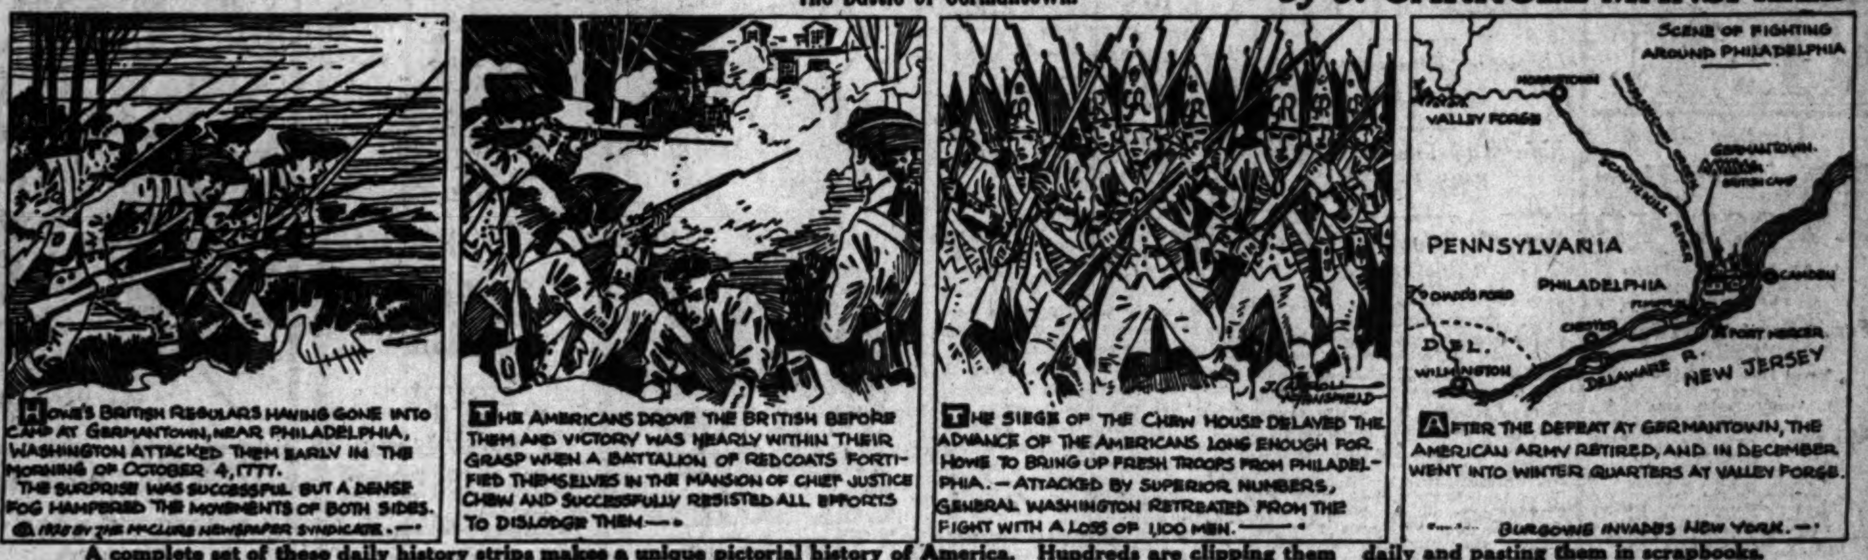
The Battle of Germantown.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



Howe's British Regulars having gone into camp at Germantown, near Philadelphia, Washington attacked them early in the morning of October 4, 1777.
The surprise was successful but a dense fog hampered the movements of both sides.

The Americans drove the British before them and victory was nearly within their grasp when a battalion of redcoats fortified themselves in the mansion of Chief Justice Chew and successfully resisted all efforts to dislodge them.
The siege of the Chew House delayed the advance of the Americans long enough for Howe to bring up fresh troops from Philadelphia.—Attacked by superior numbers, General Washington retreated from the fight with a loss of 1,100 men.

CHICAGOANS SEE SPOOR'S DEPTH FILM

New "Third Dimension" Invited Audience Views Pictures at Studio

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 16.—"Third dimension" motion pictures, produced by a new light ray invention, that may revolutionize the films proved a reality when sample reels were screened for an invited audience at the Essanay Film Company studios here last night.

Pictures portraying views of Niagara Falls were thrown on the screen. George K. Spoor, president of the company, who has developed the new lens device, declared that it marks a beginning of a new era in the motion-picture industry.

Twice the size of the ordinary picture, the new film requires a screen measuring 40x20 feet in order to bring out the depth effect, which is not unlike that of the old parlor post-card stereoscope. To side sitters and front-row occupants of a theater the pictures appear correctly proportioned, and without the usual distortion.

"This achievement alone, in addition to the magnified background, will be an invaluable boon to the public, and means millions for theater managers," said Mr. Spoor.

Arrangements have been made to give first exhibition rights to theaters in Chicago, New York, London and Los Angeles.

BRIG TOURIST SLIPS IN AT LAST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, July 16.—After three round trips across the Atlantic as a brig guest, Daniel Du Shansky, "man without a country" was admitted to the United States yesterday by Ellis Island immigration authorities. Du Shansky stowed away here last April, hoping to reach Moscow. At Liverpool he was jailed while his status was investigated. Unable to prove himself an Englishman, he was shipped back to America; he couldn't prove he was an American and was sent back to Liverpool; again he was sent back to the United States, where again authorities returned him to England. When Du Shansky arrived yesterday immigration officials gave up trying to solve the puzzle of his nationality and admitted him.

FORESTRY CONGRESS FOR ROME

World Conference Will be Sponsored by American Tree Association

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Plans for a world forestry congress to be held in Rome, April 29 to May 5, 1926, were announced here today by the American Tree Association, headed by Charles Lathrop Pack.

The Congress will be under the presidency of Prof. Arrigo Serpieri, director of the Royal Higher Institute of Agriculture and Forestry of Florence. It will be sponsored by the International Institute of Agriculture, the Italian government and the American Tree Association.

Objects of the congress, as outlined by Mr. Pack, will have direct relation to the economic necessities of every nation in the world.

"The congress will have as its complement," he said, "an important international exhibition of woodworking machinery and of forest products, which will be held at Milan. The organizing committee is anxious that this exhibition, in which manufacturers in the different countries are greatly interested, should contribute to a marked degree to a better acquaintance with the typical products of the participating countries, and at the same time give a useful inpetus of international commercial relations."

PHOENIX, July 16.—Over 4000 horsepower now is being developed at Roosevelt by utilization of the power canal, which has been unused for most of the time since completion of the storage dam. It heads about twenty miles above Roosevelt and passes through several syphon conduits.

DEPOSITIONS FINISHED IN BANK TRIAL

Litigation Against Sale of Fresno Institution to Rest Until August 3

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, July 16.—Taking of deposition preliminary to opening of the trial of the suit of Mrs. Maude James Loller and other minority stockholders of the Valley Bank against the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, and the Bank of Italy, seeking to have the sale of the Valley Bank to the latter two institutions canceled, was concluded here today.

As no other notices of deposition taking have been issued, it is understood that no further steps will be taken in the case until it comes to trial before Superior Judge Ward in San Francisco, August 3.

Announcement by C. M. Booth for the plaintiffs, that he would examine none of the other eleven called for depositions here came as a surprise after preparations had been made by defendant attorneys for a week of hearings. H. D. Swengel, vice-president of the Pacific-Southwest, was the only one called today. His deposition was brief.

Douglas as State Veterinarian and then addressed letters to the three members of the Live Stock Sanitary Board refusing to accept their resignations and expressing high personal regards. Denial was made today that representatives of the Arizona Cattle Growers' Association had recommended retention of Dr. Douglas, though intimation was given that California authorities had expressed approval of his action. The board members have gone home and the Governor has started on a trip.

CANCER-CAUSE FIND AFFIRMED

Imperial Researcher Delves Into Virus Theory

New Announcement of Work Expected Soon

Secret Regarding Smallpox Closely Guarded

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, July 16.—A new announcement regarding the cancer work of the British Medical Research Council may soon be expected. This announcement will deal with the next step in the work of the research council, which announced this week the discovery by Dr. W. E. Gye and J. E. Barnard of a virus believed to cause cancer.

At the same time experiments are being made in causing cancer in rats, mice and chickens by means of the newly discovered virus, other experiments are being conducted in immunizing these animals against the virus and in connection with this work the new revelations are to be made.

DISCOVERY CONFIRMED

While it would be an exaggeration to say a cure for cancer is in sight, the new announcement is expected to indicate probabilities of finding a method of vaccination against cancer.

It can now be stated that the discovery of the virus believed to be an important causative agent of cancer by Dr. Gye and Mr. Bernard has been confirmed by independent investigation undertaken by Dr. R. G. Murray of the Imperial Cancer Research Fund. This fact is of prime importance, since it gives high scientific confirmation of the discovery of Dr. Gye.

It is understood that the research council may soon make an important announcement regarding smallpox, the nature of which for the present is a guarded secret.

Through the courtesy of the editor of Lancet, who has supplied a proof of the articles to be published Saturday, containing the report of the cancer experiments made by Dr. W. E. Gye and J. E. Barnard, it is now possible to give a summary of the results on which are based the claim that the causative factors of cancer have been discovered.

Dr. Gye conducted the medical part of the experiments. Mr. Bernard supplying the mechanical equipment and technical skill which made possible the observation and photographing of the alleged ancer-producing organisms.

The conclusion reached is that cancer is caused by a virus, that is by specific organisms, which, in themselves, are insufficient directly to cause cancerous growths, but do so when used in connection with a supposedly chemical substance obtained from tumors and which Dr. Gye calls "the specific factor." Two papers, which are some 20,000 words in length, are technical and naturally the report of the experiments are essentially involved.

The culmination of Dr. Gye's present series of experiments was reached last May, when, with cultures made from human cancer virus, the specific factor, he caused a cancerous growth in a chicken in all respects similar to the chicken sarcoma, with which cancer experts have been long familiar. His conclusion that there exists a virus common to cancerous growths is supported by the circumstances that microscopic photos of a considerable number of different cultures revealed the existence of a seemingly similar organism.

HEN TUMOR DESCRIBED

Dr. Gye begins his paper with a reference to a description in 1911 by Dr. Peyton Rous of sarcoma or fowl which differs from mammalian tumors in that it can be transmitted from chicken to chicken by the inoculation of dead cells, whereas mammalian tumors have so far been transferred only by inoculation of live cells. He also refers to reports by Dr. Peyton Rous in 1912 of a second filtrable hen tumor and in 1914 of a third hen tumor. Dr. Gye starts out on the assumption that Dr. Peyton Rous settled the point that new cancerous growths could be transmitted from chicken to chicken by the use of cell filtration from the sarcoma.

In carrying on Dr. Peyton Rous's work, Dr. Gye says the first thing to be established was the nature of the filtrable agent capable of transmitting hen sarcoma. While Dr. Peyton Rous seemed inclined to believe there was a living organism, he did not adopt the term "virus," but used the term "agent."

His report discusses at length the arguments between those who believe that malignant new cancer growths constitute a specific disease caused by a specific parasite and those opposing these views. While their opponents seemed on the face of it to prove their cause that cancer was not caused by the simple conjunction of host and parasite, Dr. Gye adopts the opposite view.

DR. MICHELSON SERIOUSLY ILL

Famous Scientist Confined to His Room

In Pasadena to Continue Experiments

Health May Prevent Work at Present

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, July 16.—Since arriving in Pasadena several weeks ago to complete his experiments with light, Dr. A. A. Michelson, world renowned scientist, has been confined in his bed, seriously ill. He has been constantly attended by a nurse and is visited by a doctor every day, it became known today.

Although Dr. Michelson's condition has been reported as critical, it was announced from his room at the Hotel Maryland today that the noted Chicago scientist is not in any present danger. He may not be able to complete his experiments this year, as he had originally planned.

For many years Dr. Michelson has been coming to Pasadena, where atmospheric conditions made it possible to perform certain experiments with light which have proved of great value to the scientific world. It is said Dr. Michelson can record the heat of a lighted candle with an instrument several miles away. He has been conducting these experiments on Mt. Wilson.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, July 16.—Mrs. Matilda E. Wood of 5 Ford Place, said to be wealthy, will face a charge of reckless driving in Police Court tomorrow as a result of two automobile collisions which occurred on Colorado street last night.

Mrs. Wood was driving down Pasadena's main thoroughfare when she collided with a car owned by C. J. Mitchell, 1163 North Kingsley Drive, Hollywood. The woman then put her car into reverse and drove backward for more than 100 feet, it is said. She came to a second halt when striking another car driven by Leslie Nelson, 574 Garfield avenue. Police Officer C. H. Painter made the arrest. Mrs. Wood's bail was fixed at $500.

Seven-Year-Old, Lighting First Cigarette, Ignites Timber

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, July 16.—His first cigarette brought fire down upon the head of a 7-year-old Riversider today when the match with which he had started his smoke ignited a eucalyptus grove at North Market and Henry streets. When the fire department arrived in response to an alarm it found the boy bravely seeking to undo the evil wrought by his afternoon escapade.

Trampling the flames and beating them with sticks, the youth was attempting to extinguish the fire, which he admitted having started. The professional fire fighters extinguished the blaze before much damage could be done. The wind was slight, so that the flames had not been fanned into the tops of the trees.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 16.—A $300,000 bond election will be held here August 15 for the purpose of providing a new high school, the total cost of which will be $500,000, it was announced today following a special meeting of high-school trustees last night.

A resolution providing for the bond election was passed by the school trustees.

Three buildings will be included in the school plant, which will be strictly modern, according to Thomas Berry, consulting engineer for the school board. The administration building will include classrooms, study hall, auditorium, cafeteria, domestic science and laboratory rooms.

The gymnasium and mechanical arts building will be separated from the main building. School trustees plan to spend nearly $200,000 out of the school treasury for the new school plant. The new buildings will be situated on the new tract recently purchased by the school trustees and will face Main and Seventeenth streets. Complete plans are to be worked out during the next few days for both buildings and grounds.

BOOST VALUATIONS; REDUCE TAX RATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, July 16.—The Board of Supervisors of San Diego county, sitting as a board of equalization, is putting in long hours equalizing the values of real estate in the county. A steady and consistent raise is being made in the value and indications are that when the task is completed the assessed valuation of all property will be doubled that fixed last year.

The total value of property as fixed by the Assessor after his tour of duty was $99,300,000. Those in a position to know are now predicting that this valuation will be more than doubled when the board has completed its labors. A corresponding cut in the tax rate is possible and the board will no doubt revise the rate downward to meet the increased valuation placed on property.

START BIGGEST SEASON

Pomona Canners Make Ready to Handle Record-Breaking Pack of Fruit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, July 16.—Next week will mark the opening of the heaviest local season of peach canning since the record-breaking pack of 1922. Cannery officials believe that this season's record will come near to equalling the strong production peak established three years ago, and have in mind the employment of a force of 800 persons, 630 women and 170 men, to handle the fruit.

More than 6000 tons of peaches will be Pomona's contribution to the national canned-fruit supply this season, including 200 to 300 tons to be dried by the A. E. Waters dry-yards and about 3000 tons at each of the two local canneries. The Cutler-Lobingier establishment, as a starter, has already contracted for 1360 tons of the fruit. Operations are scheduled to start next Tuesday morning at the canneries, while the dry-yards will commence drying peaches about the 27th inst.

The three concerns all closed the apricot run Tuesday, this pack being somewhat lighter than in previous years. The total tonnage was 1200, the companies having paid about $76,000 for the fruit and labor. The two canneries each put away 500 tons, and the dry-yards dried 200 tons. Prices paid for the canning fruit were about $40 per ton, or a total of $40,000 paid to growers for this variety.

The peach run will continue into the middle of September, when several of the Pomona Valley canneries will start on tomatoes, an excellent crop being reported in this connection. After the tomato season, some of the plants will pack pumpkin.

He demanded that Silvera pay him some rent due him or vacate the park. The dead man had been a resident of the bay district for a number of years. His body was removed to the Todd & Leslie undertaking parlors.

NEW BEACH WALKS

Venice Plans New Promenade Along Ocean Front

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, July 16.—Walks along the ocean front to the main promenade may be provided providing the expenditure is not too great, according to information received from Trustee C. Gordon Parkhurst, who has instructed the City Engineer to make a report at the regular meeting Tuesday. Parkhurst states he believes the improvement can be made from funds in the shore protection balance.

Walks are now being built between Avenues 51 and 63 by the regular assessment method. Owing to the nature of the beach in many places, it will be necessary to drive pilings at various sections, which necessitates the engineer submitting an estimate of cost.

CONSPIRACY CASE ENDED AT ONTARIO

Three Defendants Liberated Following Settlement of Row During Trial

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, July 16.—After being held to answer to the Superior Court under bail of $2000 each on a charge of conspiring to defraud, B. G. Caddell, former Ontario hotel proprietor, E. E. Williams, a local building contractor, and Henry M. Douglas, local stock salesman, were liberated this afternoon when Dep. Dist.-Atty. A. S. Maloney moved to dismiss the action against them. Dismissal followed a settlement of the difficulties of the defendants with the complaining witness.

Testimony at the preliminary hearing in Judge Holbrook's court today was to the effect that after Williams had sold a house and lot at 312 West Park street to Caddell and the papers were in escrow in a local bank, the former executed a mortgage on the property in the amount of $1400 in favor of Douglas, who was aware that the property had been sold to Caddell.

Attorney A. O. Dillon, representing the defendants, filed a demurrer when the hearing opened, but this was overruled.

Caddell, Mrs. May Caddell and A. W. Hayes testified for the people and Douglas took the stand in his own behalf. Williams and Douglas were arrested more than a week ago and had been held in jail since in default of bail.

Mayor in Favor of Proposal for Flood Prevention

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, July 16. — Declaring that "a flood like the one of 1921 would spell misery to thousands of Long Beach people," Acting Mayor Filmore Condit today advocated vigorous municipal support for County Flood Control Engineer Reagan in his work to widen a narrow section of the Los Angeles River channel near Artesia Boulevard.

The flood-control measure urged by Mr. Reagan is necessary, Condit said, to prevent the inundation of a vast area in North Long Beach whenever heavy rains in the mountains should send torrents of water down the streams of Los Angeles county.

The North Long Beach territory said to be affected is now populated by about 10,000 people. The Los Angeles River, or flood-control channel, runs through the heart of this area.

SAYS POLICE ARE NEGLIGENT

Glendale Resident Complains to Council

Says Bootleggers Operated in His House

Report Pigeonholed With No Action

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, July 16.—Charges that the police department of Glendale was negligent in allowing a bootleg gang to operate in this city, filed today with the City Council by former Councilman S. S. Gilhuly, drew from Chief of Police J. D. Fraser the retort that Gilhuly is attempting to place the responsibility on the police department because Gilhuly, as owner of the place where the bootleggers are supposed to have operated, was forced to pay $300 to repair the damage done to his building.

Gilhuly is said to have rented a house that he owned to a man giving the name of B. Davis, and when Gilhuly went to collect the rent he is said to have found the house empty of tenants, but to contain much evidence that the house had been used for making liquor. He found forty-two barrels of mash in two of the rooms. Chief Fraser stated that the department had received several complaints regarding liquor-making operations in the vicinity of Gilhuly's house, but he put these down to the activity of a resident in that locality who had a permit to make wine, and that the smell arose from the barrels containing this man's grape juice.

Gilhuly objected to the police burning the barrels of mash after pouring coal oil on them. Chief Fraser said, because he wished to salvage the barrels. The Council filed the complaint, together with Chief Fraser's reply, without taking action.

HALT DEPOSITIONS

Case to Prevent Bank Merger at Fresno Takes Sudden Turn

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, July 16.—Taking of depositions of Fresnans in the suit of Banks, charging conspiracy and asking that the merger of the Val- for the plaintiff, announced that none of those under subpoena will be ings Bank, the Bank of Italy, and J. F. Johnson, State Superintendent of Bank, charging conspiracy and asking that the merger of the Valley Bank with the defendant banks be set aside, was brought to a sudden halt here today. Clarence M. Booth of San Francisco, attorney for the plaintiff, announced that none of those under supboena will be examined.

H. D. Swengel, vice-president of the Pacific-Southwest bank here, and in charge of the liquidation of the Valley Bank's accounts, was the only witness examined today, although eleven former officials of the Valley Bank and A. M. Hays and F. L. Waldron, vice-presidents of the Bank of Italy, were under subpoena to appear during the next ten days.

Swengel's testimony consisted principally of identification of general balance sheets of the Valley Bank for February 23, February 25 and March 1, which were introduced in evidence in an effort by Booth to prove the bank was solvent when it was taken over by the defendant banks. The records purport to show the condition of the bank on the dates given, and analysis of the statements shows depletion of deposits was not offset by liquidation of loans, but by reduction of reserves and increased borrowings from other banks.

Most of the time Swengel was on the stand was given to verbal tilts between the witness and attorneys for both sides, due to Booth's attempts to show that the Pacific-Southwest bank has made no determined effort to collect Valley Bank accounts listed in its records as uncollectable.

Booth demanded that all data pertaining to seven loan accounts be produced from the Pacific-Southwest files, but his demand was refused with the statement that the plaintiffs may examine the records, which will be presented when the case goes to trial.

Booth made the statement that several of these accounts are collectable, and that Swengel and the Pacific-Southwest bank officials know they are but they have not attempted to collect them. Swengel denied this assertion in part, and disclaimed knowledge of the status of other accounts.

Plan Relief for Overworked Beach Police

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, July 16.—Police surgeons, pension board officials and others in authority here are endeavoring to devise ways and means to combat a new form of illness that is affecting traffic officers of the Long Beach police department. The complete breakdown of two traffic policemen stationed at busy intersections and the frequent absence from duty because of illness of several other policemen have caused police officials to make a study of conditions surrounding their work.

Monoxide gas poisoning, resulting from the exhaust of passing automobiles is said to be a great factor but the physical strain incident to long hours in one spot, directing traffic in the hot sun is said to be the principal cause of the trouble officers are experiencing.

Change of post, relief at regular intervals and other methods of combatting the menace are being planned by Acting Chief Robberson and Police Surgeon Sweet.

ESPEE NOT DROPPING RIGHT OF WAY CLAIM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BURBANK, July 16.—The Board of Trustees of the city, which recently announced that the Southern Pacific Railroad had relinquished its claim to a 200-foot right of way on either side of its tracks, has received another letter from the railroad to the effect that the road does not relinquish its claims to the 200-foot strip at all points. The last communication from the railroad came in response to a request from the board that the road put in black and white the relinquishment of its claims.

The board inferred from the letter that the railroad would not enforce its claims along Front street, where street improvements have been proposed, the point in which the city was most vitally concerned.

Speeder Pays Interest on Liberty Judge Triples Sentence

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, July 16.—H. Rafael, salesman for a cloak company at 936 East Maple avenue, Los Angeles, is spending fifteen days in the Orange County Jail when he might have escaped with five had he not tried to escape with none at all. Rafael was sentenced late yesterday by Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison on a speeding charge as the climax to a seven-months' prosecution.

Arrested while driving at the rate of fifty miles an hour on last November 26, Rafael was cited to appear in court December 3, but failed to do so. A letter from the court evoked no response and finally on May 6 a bench warrant was issued. Rafael posted $250 bond for his appearance here yesterday. Instead of the usual five days jail sentence Rafael found a triple dose awaiting him. "That extra ten days is interest for the loan of your liberty seven months," the court told him.

Dearer Money in Autumn is Forecast by Cleveland Banker—As Funds Flow Into Business and Foreign Loans, He Says, Stocks and Bonds Will Sag.

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

...year. Is it reasonable, however, to expect that money will remain as cheap as it has been?

CHANNELS FOR FUNDS

To this question Wall street daily is seeking an answer and to those who have thoughts on the matter it always listens, since a change in the rate for money may determine in a measure the movement during future months in stocks and bonds.

We may or may not always agree with what Col. Leonard Payres says about the markets and his method of determining turning points, but in a few words this Cleveland banker now expresses an opinion on the future that should provoke thought.

"Present indications are that by autumn loan rates will be firmer," he says, "due to increased business activities and foreign loans. Stock brokers will find it much less easy and convenient to carry margin accounts. This will result in a decline in stock prices and will also have the effect of bringing about somewhat lower prices for bonds."

ASSUMPTION WRONG

An assumption that the public often makes in buying securities is that so long as business is good stocks and bonds must continue to advance.

A smart improvement in the business situation could, of course, by diverting funds from the securities markets to business channels, have just the opposite effect. A part of the recent advance has been stimulated by the pressure of funds seeking employment.

It is too early to predict how much additional money business and foreign loans will take this autumn, or how much difference such activities will make in the loan rates. At least this much is clear, present signs indicate a tendency toward firmer rather than easier rates.

Wall Street Paragraphs

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—Stocks continued to work steadily upward today despite attempts by the professional element to check the advance. The possibility of an advance in the rediscount rate with a consequent tightening of the money market was the chief argument against a further advance in the stock market. This argument fell flat as the rediscounts of the New York Federal Reserve Bank showed a decline last week of $123,000,000 from $151,000,000 in the preceding week. Call money again is available at 3½ per cent after getting as high as 6 per cent in the latter part of June. The firmness in demand funds was a temporary condition arising out of half-year disbursements. Leading industrial stocks were in demand today. United States Steel common entered new ground on this movement and American Can advanced to a new high price. Public utility stocks were buoyant with Havana Electric the feature.

PARALLEL DRAWN

Minority holders of Chesapeake and Ohio were keenly awaiting further developments in the Nickel Plate merger plans in which they vitally were interested. That a road which had earned at the rate of $18.10 a share in the twelve months to June 1, against $16.77 a year ago, should be at its present market level when other roads earning less were far above it in price, was something which they could not reconcile.

MAKING COMEBACK

Greater study than usual was being given to accomplishments of the carriers since the first of the year, and in this wise New Haven stood up well. The New England system during the first five months of 1925 had an operating ratio of 75.2 per cent, against 78.1 per cent in the same period last year, and while it was due in part to cutting maintenance charges, the same policy was elsewhere adopted. New York Central's operation ratio over the same period was 83.2 per cent, against 76.6 per cent, while many others of the eastern group were higher than New Haven in this respect.

REAL BETTERMENT

It appeared today that the improvement in copper metal had become more pronounced and worthy the name. The price was moved up another peg to 14 3-8 cents, following substantial business done at 14 1-4 cents, and, with demand in hand for deliveries as far ahead as November, the producers were in fine fettle when discussing their affairs. Foreign consumers were in the picture in goodly volume and their agents were vying with those of American mills to secure requirements before the price should further advance. And the ardent advocates of 15-cent metal were even more pronounced in their views.

ANOTHER NEW TOP

With a bang American Can made an impressive opening at the new high top of 202. It was in recognition of the fact that the pool working in the stock was bound, if possible, to make its favorite sell in line with what had been considered a more equitable price, considering earnings and prospects.

VIA WIRE

Western Union enthusiasts also were being keyed up to high pitch in anticipation of dual benefits expected to be forthcoming through higher dividends and rights. Having earned its full year's dividend requirements in half that time, the street saw no reason why the 7 per cent rate should not yield to a higher basis; in fact, it was vinced that the management even now was giving careful consideration to such a step.

STEADY PROGRESS

The equivalent of a rate of $25 a share on the old stock was seen in the showing of Otis Elevator for the first half of the year in earnings of $6.22 a share on the present outstanding stock of $50 par value. But to analysts it was apparent that the amount revealed for net did not tell the full story of the accomplishments of this concern. The management in the past had been most liberal in the matter of reserves, to which additions were made from the efforts of the six months' period to midyear. In the steady gains made by this company the street saw another case of arms around the world in bearing the banner of American industry.

Sales of Silk Company Show Large Increase

Sales of Belding Brothers & Co., manufacturers of silk thread and staple broad silks, for the first six months of this year showed an increase of 12½ per cent over the corresponding period of last year. Sales of H. W. Day, representative for Southern California, showed a gain of 19½ per cent.

Southern California is recognized as the biggest silk-consuming territory of the United States, and Mr. Day's sales for each of the past six months eclipsed those of all other representatives of the company in the United States. Sales of this company in Southern California for the first six months of this year totaled $150,226.54, compared with $133,808.73 for the same period of last year.

The greatest amount of sales was recorded in February, when the total value in this territory amounted to $30,905.17, a gain of $1808.23 over February of last year. Sales in the month of June showed a value of $23,505.22, compared with $19,496.48 in June of last year.

Belding Brothers & Co. is the largest producer of silk thread in the United States, and also manufactures staple broad silks. The products of the company are sold, through eleven branch offices, to over 20,000 wholesale and retail distributors located in every State of the Union. The eight principal plants of the company are located at Rockville, Ct.; Belding, Mich.; Northampton, Mass.; Winsted, Ct., and Petaluma, Cal.

Control of Belding Brothers & Co., which has been held in the Belding family since the business was started in 1863, recently passed to the public through the distribution of 320,000 shares of no par value common stock. The transaction was managed by an investment syndicate headed by Edward B. Smith & Co., and including Cassatt & Co. and Spencer Trask & Co.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

HARBOR ENJOYS RED-LETTER DAY

Period from Dawn to Dark Among Busiest

Twenty-eight Vessels Dock, Twenty-five Sail

Millions in Cargoes Taken and Discharged

Los Angeles Harbor yesterday experienced one of the busiest days in her history. Between dawn and sundown, twenty-eight commercial ships entered. In the same period twenty-five vessels weighed anchor for many ports.

All day the port presented a scene of unusual activity. Ships from all parts of the world, flying flags of many nations, kept the channel virtually chock full of vessels.

Millions of dollars in cargo were loaded and unloaded on the docks yesterday. A record in petroleum activity was made when ten tankers arrived to take on cargoes of nearly 1,000,000 barrels. The world's largest tanker, the British ship, G. Harrison Smith, was among the arrivals. She is to take on 143,000 barrels of oil for Chile. Ten passenger ships arrived and eight departed.

Stimulus has been given the oft-repeated promise of a refrigerator ship line to operate between Pacific and Atlantic coasts, by the recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission denying California Fruit Growers' Association a reduction in rail rates on fruit shipments to the east coast.

The biggest promise of such a line is in the recent purchase of two steamers, the President Fillmore and the Susquehanna on the east coast by fruit and steamship men headed by George W. Edwards of Philadelphia. The vessels are now undergoing extensive reconditioning and equipment with refrigeration in an Atlantic shipyard.

On their reconditioning they will be put in the run to the Pacific Coast, which indicates that this port, with its vast cargoes of fruit for shipment, may become the chief port for the line on the Pacific.

Coincident with this is the belief that the new Harbor Commission will take action on a proposal for a cool-air storehouse advanced by Capt. S. S. Sandberg, port traffic manager, a few months ago. The plan was to put refrigeration in one floor of the outer harbor warehouse, for accommodation of fruits outbound.

SMUGGLING LAID TO FOREIGN FISHERMEN

That foreign fishermen operating out of Los Angeles Harbor are bringing in not only most of the smuggled liquors, but almost all of the narcotics brought to Southern California, is the belief expressed yesterday by Capt. A. D. Hansen, personal representative of Collector of Customs Schwaebe, after a tour of the mounted inspectors' posts over the local customs district. The tour took Hansen to San Luis Obispo on the north, to Andrade and the border.

Capt. Hansen expressed the conviction that foreign steamers leaving the Orient with narcotics, and searched in vain in port here, drop off their drugs later while off Coronado Island. There the packages are picked up by foreign fishing boats and brought to the vicinity of Los Angeles Harbor, where the drugs are transferred to local fishing boats, operated by foreigners, who are not required to pass rigid quarantine inspection. Once ashore, the narcotics vanish with ease.

Much of the liquor recently has been landed along the unprotected shore north of Santa Barbara, Hansen opines, where law-enforcing facilities are necessarily too small properly to patrol the scores of miles of beach, where landings may be made.

Indications of continued heavy lumber shipments from the Pacific Northwest to the Atlantic seaboard, are found in eastbound ships putting into Los Angeles Harbor yesterday. The Lewis Luckenbach, Capt. A. H. Sears, sailed with 6,200,000 feet, and general cargo totaling 15,000 tons; the Peter Kerr departed after bunkering with 5,000,000 feet, and the schooner Catherine G. Sudden, which sailed for New York at noon yesterday with 2,200,000 feet from Gray's Harbor, on her first intercoastal trip this year. Other ships leaving the North Pacific shortly for the Atlantic, via here, are the Montfeville, Willpolo, Sumance, Norline and the Romsone. Other ships to bunker here will be the Steel Ranger, due Friday, en route from Baltimore to Yokohama, and the British steamer City of Dunkirk, en route from Mobile to the Orient, due Monday.

A long-felt want was filled at the harbor yesterday when announcement was made of the appointment of A. L. Flinn as quarantine officer at the port for the State Bureau of Plant Quarantine, operating jointly with the Federal Department of Agriculture. The promotion makes Flinn second ranking officer of the harbor staff, succeeded only by A. P. Messenger, supervising quarantine officer. Flinn has been with the department at the port three years, having entered the State service shortly after his recovery from war wounds received in France.

The Munson-McCormick intercoastal freighter Thomas P. Beale, which struck a rock in East River on the 9th inst., is averted sinking and is reported discharging her cargo of Pacific Coast lumber at Weehawken, New York. Officials are, the vessel has a hole in her bottom seventy feet long.

The old Southern Pacific ferry steamer El Capitan, bought last week by Thomas Crowley, is reported slated for use in marine service. The vessel is expected to be brought to San Pedro. It is understood the deal stood Capt. Crowley $750, said by shipping men to be far under her value for junking purposes alone.

Frank White, engineer with the State Harbor Board, came down from San Francisco yesterday and left last night for San Diego. It is understood the State Board is greatly stirred over the suit recently filed against it by the Ferguson company for a big amount for asserted misuse of the latter's patent on reinforced concrete piling and decking.

New bids on the cost of installing deep tanks in five steamers plying between the Pacific Coast and the Orient will be called for by the United States Shipping Board next week. The tanks would fit the ships to carry vegetable oil from the Orient to the Pacific, much of which would be brought here. The steamers affected are the O'Rowa, West Nomentum, West Keats, West Cayote and West Niger.

Exportation of deer carcasses is rapidly becoming an important item of trade from New Zealand, Capt. Joseph L. Fritsch of the steamship West Rivaria, which arrived from the Antipodes today, said.

The animals are controlled by a company which was granted a concession by the New Zealand government, and exportation of 500 carcasses a month has begun the industry, with prospects of increasing to 2000 a month.

PORTLAND (Or.) July 16.—The Kasho Maru has been chartered for late August for loading of lumber for the Orient.

W. T. Sexton, traffic manager of the Columbia-Pacific Shipping Company, returned last night from Seattle, where he attended the Pacific westbound conference. No changes were made in existing steamship rates in the trans-Pacific field, he reported.

The steamer Lancaster shifted from Westport to the local terminals today to load canned salmon for Atlantic Coast delivery.

The biggest shipment of shad roe ever received in the local trade came in yesterday on the gasoline schooner Ramer from the Anderson Fish Company plant at Reedsport. The shipment consisted of 1350 cases and was insured for $47,500.

COOS BAY (Or.) July 16.—The Trans-Marine Corporation steamer Sutermco departed last night for Willapa Harbor with a general lumber cargo.

A Good Chance

Mr. Newrich was in the worst possible frame of mind to receive the would-be son-in-law and his reply was decidedly negative.

"But," said the young man, "what is your objection to me as a suitor for your daughter's hand?"

"My principal objection is that you cannot keep her in the style in which she has been brought up."

"Oh!" said the youth. "At any rate, I can start her on bread and milk, the same as you did."—[Brockton Call.

BETTER TONE IN DRY GOODS LINE

Gradual Improvement Seen by Wholesaler

Collection Gain Reported Over Year Ago

By September the dry-goods business, both wholesale and retail, in Southern California is expected to be in a very satisfactory position, according to Milton G. Cooper, president and general manager of the Milton G. Cooper Drygoods Company, wholesalers of Los Angeles.

The drygoods business is already showing signs of staging a comeback after the last year or more or less reaction. The trade is in better spirits and there is a better feeling among the buyers. More buying has taken place during the last month than in many months, and the retail trade is getting ready for the anticipated larger fall business. Retail stocks have run low and this has necessitated buying.

LOW PRICES AID

The low price of silk and wool has done much to relieve the situation and stimulate buying. The low price of wool since early spring has reflected in the price of wool and this in turn has brought about better values and increased the business in wool goods. The sale of rugs made from wool has increased during the past few months.

Better merchandise can be purchased for the same money than a year ago owing to the lower price of silk and wool. Mr. Cooper estimates that the trade can buy about 12 to 15 per cent better materials now than a year ago for the same consideration.

The high price of raw cotton aided by the hand-to-mouth buying of the retailers has accounted for the high price of cotton goods, and little relief is in sight for lower raw cotton prices.

COLLECTIONS GOOD

Retailers who have been keeping their stocks well rounded-out have experienced normal business. Mr. Cooper reports collections very good and much better than a year ago. This is partly due to the fact that retailers as a whole have not been carrying large stocks of merchandise and have kept their accounts short through hand-to-mouth buying.

Los Angeles as a wholesale drygoods market is becoming more important among the markets of the West, this authority states. The trade is realizing more the advantages offered for trading in Los Angeles.

The drygoods' business in Honolulu is improving and the outlook for business this fall is good in the belief of Mr. Cooper. He reports business along the West Coast of Mexico and in the Philippine Islands much improved over a year ago.

Mr. Cooper's faith in the market and his predictions for fall business are borne out by the fact that he is this week sending all of the company's buyers to market to purchase large stocks of merchandise for fall distribution.

FALL SHOE TRADE GAIN INDICATED

Wholesaler Confidently Predicts Improvement in Retail Business

Indications are for better wholesale and retail shoe business this fall, in fact, the best in many years, was the assertion made yesterday by E. V. Stewart of Stewart-Dawes Shoe Company, Inc., wholesalers of footwear of Los Angeles.

The unsatisfactory shoe business of the past few years has been due to overproduction, and the falling off of foreign shoe trade, in the opinion of Mr. Stewart. During the war many new factories were established and production was on the boom, and following the war the manufacturers were unable to find markets for their products. Many of the smaller manufacturers were forced out of business and the larger ones were forced to curtail production.

Manufacturers as a whole are now entering into a specialized process, whereby they make only a small number of lasts, and this promises to be an important factor in meeting the present situation.

The biggest problem of the manufacturer has been distribution. The rapid elimination of the jobber and the inauguration of selling through wholesalers has aided greatly in distribution. In this manner the manufacturer is actually selling to retailers through distributors and this has eliminated an extra cost.

BANK NOW OPERATES UNDER RESERVE ACT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, July 16. The Home Bank of South Pasadena this week became the First National Bank of South Pasadena and will operate henceforth under the provisions of the Federal Reserve Act, according to a notification from the Comptroller of the Currency, at Washington, D. C. Request for the change in status was made several months ago.

The officers and directors of the bank remain the same, and are: Frank H. Hale, president; L. A. Norris, vice-president; O. R. Clanton, cashier; George H. Rust, John C. Jacobs, Ralph G. Johns and Frank A. Brown, directors. W. L. Parslow is assistant cashier. The bank, which was started in February, 1923, has a capitalization of $100,000, and its total resources on June 30, 1925, were $513,819.

COTTON OUTLOOK CHEERFUL

Estimates Indicate Record Crop Will be Harvested; Plants Show High Condition

BY EARLE E. CROWE

California and Arizona are swinging into a great cotton year. Hot weather in the past few days has measurably improved the condition of the plant and bolls are coming out much faster than in normal years. Cotton merchants are particularly sanguine over the prospects ahead, for the crop is from three to four weeks early, and has a good chance to reach maturity before the excessive heat spell comes in the latter part of August and the first of September. Ordinarily, the heat wave causes heavy shedding and loss in condition, which in the end means less money for the cotton grower.

So far this season, the cotton raisers in the Pacific-Southwest have had little worry over the condition of the crop. The government in its last report gave California a condition figure of 95 and Arizona 92. Merchants following the situation closely are confident that the report released on the 23rd inst., to show condition as of the 16th inst., will reveal both these States still above the 90 mark.

NEW PEAK REACHED

If the plant does manage to maintain around this level, it is not difficult to imagine the financial results accruing to the growers. Nearly 500,000 acres are planted to cotton this year, from which it is expected that approximately 325,000 bales will be harvested. This is an increase of about 25 per cent over the 1924 yield.

California, from the San Joaquin, Sacramento, Imperial and the smaller valleys, has about 170,000 acres in cotton, from which it is estimated that 135,000 bales will be picked. Arizona's acreage is estimated at about 163,000, or a yield of 110,000 bales. From the 150,000 acres in Lower California, a production of approximately 80,000 bales is forecast.

Travelers affiliated with Los Angeles cotton merchants are deeply impressed with the progress of cotton this season north of the Tehachapi Mountains. The San Joaquin Valley is expected to turn out from 75,000 to 85,000 bales from the same number of acres. Merchants assert that there is no other growing section in the world where such favorable results are obtained. Last season, the San Joaquin acreage failed to live up to its standard because of water trouble, but a repetition of this deficiency is not looked for this season.

Cotton has caught the fancy of the Sacramento Valley to a surprising extent. It is freely predicted that if satisfactory prices are received this year, the cotton acreage in the valley will double or triple. Acreage this season approximates 5000.

As near as trade authorities care to forecast, the average price growers will receive for their cotton is placed at 25 cents a pound. This conjecture hinges upon the outcome in Texas, the key State in the southern belt. If Texas makes 5,000,000 bales, the prophets conclude that the total crop will reach 14,000,000 bales. On the other hand, should Texas fall to 4,000,000 bales, a final outturn of about 13,500,000 may be safely figured.

TEXAS WEAK POINT

On the supposition that the Texas harvest will only show around 4,000,000 bales because of the dry weather recently, the market has boosted prices to the 25-cent level. Later developments may radically revise the Texas production estimates, but the preponderance of opinion now seems to favor the smaller harvest in that State.

Other States in the cotton belt, as the previous government estimates for the crop would indicate, are growing good-sized crops, although the boll weevil is making considerable headway. The acreage this season is the highest on record, even after a determined campaign was pushed in the South to diversify agricultural pursuits. Nevertheless, a total acreage that will yield a crop about the same as last year's will not be viewed as a calamity by the bulk of the growers, for 1924 with them was just as satisfactory as it was to grain growers.

One private estimate of the production as of the 16th inst., was published yesterday, indicating that the crop will approximate 14,114,000 bales. This does not seem startling when it is remembered how the market absorbed the commodity last year. The demand for raw cotton is steadily growing, the exports of American cotton from August 1, 1924 to June 30, 1925, amounting to more than 8,000,000 bales, compared with about 5,600,000 bales in the same period of last year.

Without considering the vagaries of Texas weather, it is predicted by the trade that the carryover by the end of this crop year, concluding the 31st inst., will show about equal the same period for last year. And if Texas weather gets in its deadly work, the path ahead of cotton prices will be free from all obstacles.

BAD CHECKS

The following bulletin on bad-check writing was issued yesterday by the forgery detail of the Los Angeles police department, detective bureau.

Persons having rooms and apartments for rent are warned to accept no checks from a person using the names of M. J. Sheldon, L. Williams and other aliases, as this person has victimized a number of Los Angeles citizens in this way recently. It is his custom to select an apartment or suite of rooms and, when making a deposit, present a worthless check, requesting a sum in cash.

Following is a description of the man: American, brown hair, 6 ft. tall, about 35 years of age, weight 180 pounds, rather heavy build, broad-shouldered, smooth-shaven, dark rather ruddy complexion. When last seen wore blue suit with small white stripes, silk shirt, tan shoes and a straw hat. Was well dressed.

The checks issued by the above-described person are drawn on the Bank of America, 752 Broadway, although he has no account there.

SOUTHLAND TRADE TONE STATIONARY

Bradstreet Notes Little Change Generally Except in Industry Lines

Bradstreet's weekly review of business conditions in Los Angeles reports:

"Little change in general conditions. Industry appears more active. Hot weather is helping women's ready-to-wear trade. Automotive trade active, but collections dragging. Electrical supplies, which include radios, report sales quiet, but some improvement in collections. Furniture, both manufacturers and retailers, very quiet. Increase is found in failures of furniture retailers.

"Public improvements are helping employment situation. Santa Barbara is quickly recovering, with business practically normal. Rebuilding plans about completed, with assurances of financial support on long-time loans. Banks continue to show splendid condition. Call money little higher. Continued hot weather may hurt fruit crop, although condition of fruit and vegetables shipped is good. Local market receipts moderate with prices higher than last week.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]
[BY WIRELESS-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, July 16.—Financial markets were strong today in expectation of a strong bank statement and in response to easy money conditions.

Investment stocks continued their improvement, buying being helped by the plentiful supply of funds in the market.

A further rise in the price of crude rubber attracted a following in the rubber stocks and the tone again became buoyant. The commodity was marketed up here to 4s 5d a pound, a new high for the year.

The improved sentiment was reflected in other markets, where the tone was strong.

Flotation of the British portion of the Australian loan, amounting to £5,000,000, is expected immediately to take advantage of favorable market conditions. They will be 5 per cents and will be offered just under par. It is probable that the American share of $75,000,000 will also be offered publicly at once.

Winston Churchill's speech at the banker's annual dinner was miserably disappointing, indicating an expansion, rather than a contraction, of expenditures. He merely emphasized the higher standard of living by the community at large as an evidence of well being, whereas the whole danger of the situation lies in the fact that there is too much consumption and too little production.

The continued influx of gold has completely removed all apprehensions of an early advance in the bank rate and at the same time has perplexed financial observers to no little extent.

An improved demand for foreign securities has again raised the question of removing the ban on foreign government financing. Japanese loans are favored and there has been an improvement in Chinese securities, although a serious feeling over the Chinese situation is still prevalent.

New Mortgage Company Will Open Here Soon

The Pioneer Bond and Mortgage Company, with a capitalization of $1,000,000, of which $400,000 has been subscribed, has been organized and will open for business on the 20th inst., at 117 West Fourth street. Permission was granted by the State Corporation Department on June 17, last.

The company will sell only $500,000 of its capital stock at this time and this will be sold at $100 par value, to present stockholders only. The object of the company is to loan money on real estate and trust deeds, and to buy first and second mortgages and trust deeds.

The officers of the company are: William Weisman, president; Joe Toplitzky, vice-president; Robert H. Parker, vice-president; C. H. Evans, secretary; Irving H. Hellman, treasurer. The board of directors includes: Marco H. Hellman, president Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, chairman; William Weisman, Joe Toplitzky, Robert H. Parker, James W. Hellman, M. A. Hamburger, George Newberger, Ross N. Boggs, Henry Frieberg, Carlin G. Smith, C. R. Bell, Earl P. Jones, Irving H. Hellman, J. Baum and C. H. Evans.

HUNDRED BUILDING ROAD

POWER AND LIGHT LIENS PURCHASED

Los Angeles Bankers Are Offering Ontario Utility Gold Securities

California Securities Company yesterday purchased an issue of $175,000 general and refunding mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds of the Ontario Power Company of California. The territory covered by the generating and distributing system of the company includes the cities of Ontario and Upland, together with 150,000 acres of citrus fruit orchards and agricultural lands in the immediate vicinity.

The company owns and operates three hydroelectric generating plants located in the San Antonio Canyon in the Sierra Madre Mountains and also has an agreement with the Southern California Edison Company for the exchange of power. The company's lands, water rights, plants, equipment and distributing system are valued in excess of $1,500,000.

The bonds will be a direct obligation of the Ontario Power Company of California and will be secured through a trust indenture by a mortgage on all of the company's properties, including valuable water rights and franchises valued, as of May 31, at $1,531,947.48, subject only to the lien of $255,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds now outstanding and a depreciation reserve of $183,433.89.

The capitalization of the company, after the application of the proceeds of the sale of the bonds, will be $975,000, of which $500,000 is common stock, and $475,000 preferred 7 per cent cumulative stock. All of the common stock is owned by the San Antonio Water Company, an affiliated company, which uses water from the company's hydroelectric power plants for supplying their customers with irrigation water.

The entire proceeds of the sale of these general mortgage bonds will be used to retire existing indebtedness, placing the company in a strong financial position.

The officers and directors of the Ontario Power Company of California are: George B. Harrison, president and director; Glenn D. Smith, vice-president, general manager and director; A. C. Reynolds, secretary and treasurer; J. S. Armstrong, director; W. A. Freemire, director, and C. C. Graber, director.

Bank Officers Are Named for Merged Group

Yesterday the Continental National Bank lost its identity after ten years in the Los Angeles banking field when the final papers were signed by which the Commercial National Bank acquires the assets and business of the Continental. The two banks will continue under the name of the Commercial National, with headquarters at Ninth and Spring streets.

Executive vice-president L. M. MacDonald, in announcing the completion of the merger, named officers who will manage the affairs of the enlarged bank. Frank R. Strong, president of the absorbed Continental National, becomes a vice-president of the Commercial National, and W. N. Hamaker and A. O. Garrett, vice-presidents of the Continental National, are elected to similar posts with the Commercial National. All will be located at the head office.

Junior officers of the Continental National were all re-elected to serve under the new administration.

As a result of the consolidation, the Commercial National becomes a bank with assets of $25,000,000, and ten branch offices, including the former headquarters of the Commercial National at Fourth and Spring streets. Two more branch offices will be opened soon.

Charles C. Chapman, pioneer orange grower of Southern California, is president of the Commercial National Bank. L. M. MacDonald is senior executive vice-president and Walter A. Bonynge is junior executive vice-president. Mr. MacDonald will divide his time between the Commercial National and the Bank of America.

A revised board of directors for the new Commercial Bank will be named today.

SUFFICIENT CATTLE FOR LOCAL DEMAND

The Los Angeles Union Stock Yards reports that during the past week some 2500 cattle have been purchased through the yards by fifteen regular packers and twenty killers. The cattle supply of the local market has been rather light during the past week, but entirely adequate to take care of local demands, due to the rather sluggish condition of the dressed-meat trade.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Trading Quiet

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, July 16.—The bond market marked time today, failing to respond to the further relaxation of money rates. Both call and time funds were offered freely and, while the situation was reflected in greater speculative activity in the stock market, it had no appreciable effect on bond trading. Reports that the New York Federal Reserve Bank might increase its rediscount rate restricted buying operations, but the rate remained unchanged. Railroad issues lost most of the ground which they gained yesterday, the list being spotted with conflicting price movements. Seaboard Air Line bonds were actively bought on the announcement that the road would be extended to Miami, Fla., but this development was not favorably received by holders of Florida East Coast obligations and this company's 4½ per cent bonds fell 3 points to a new low for the year. A further advance in Western Maryland 4s was linked with merger reports.

Higher crude-oil prices laid the basis for renewed buying of several oil-company issues, including Pan American 6s and Skelly 6½s, which advanced a point or so. American Writing Paper issues added 2 points to their recent gains, based on reorganization developments, a factor which also accounted for the strength of Virginia-Carolina Chemical and Wilson & Co. packing bonds.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices on bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond. These quotations are received over Associated Press wire, and to expedite transmission the closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, July 16.—Stock prices displayed a strong undertone in today's curb market. Pool operations again were conducted on a large scale, more than a dozen issues being lifted to new peak prices for the year. Oils showed a little more activity, Vacuum, Humble, Ohio and Prairie all closing a point or so higher. Crescent Pipe touched a new high at 17 in reflection of the directors' decision to disband the company. Recent strength and activity of American Maracaibo was explained by the announcement that the company had acquired 20,000 additional acres in Venezuela, making it one of the largest independent companies operating in that field. [illegible] responded to the announcement that June business was the best in the company's history by touching a new record top at 49. Expanding earnings also accounted for a 7-point jump in F. & W. Grand Stores, which attained a new peak price at 80. Miller Rubber and St. Regis Paper also broke through their previous top quotations.

Southeastern Power and Light reached new high ground at 128¼, a gain of more than 25 points on the week, and then broke to 127 on profit-taking.

Wide fluctuations continued to characterize the trading in Engineers' Gold, which closed 4 points lower at 102, after having duplicated its high of 106.

WOOL HANDLING PROJECT AFOOT

Los Angeles Chamber Back of Movement

Aim to Make City Central Shipping Point

Large Saving to Growers in West Promised

Efforts are being made by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to re-establish Los Angeles as a wool storage and shipping point, according to an announcement made yesterday by S. C. Simons, engineer on market development. An endeavor is being made to obtain the best rates for storage, handling, insurance and financing of wool.

Wool, which is to be shipped directly to the large eastern markets, can be moved on the car direct to the wharf at Los Angeles Harbor, loaded into the steamer and shipped to Boston, without warehousing.

Charges will consist of the rail rate from point of shipment to Los Angeles, handling charge at Los Angeles, which will be 60 cents a ton, which is a reduction from $1.11 previously charged; wharfage, 10 cents a ton; marine insurance during water movement, 12¼ cents a hundred pounds, and wharfage at Boston, 3½ cents a hundred pounds. As the water rate from Los Angeles to Atlantic ports is now 90 cents, this means a total of all charges, in addition to the rail charge of $1.09½ a hundred pounds.

RAIL RATE SAVES

The rail rate from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles is $1.19 a hundred pounds, making a total cost of shipping from Salt Lake City to Boston via Los Angeles Harbor of $2.28½, as compared with the rail cost from Salt Lake City to Boston amounting to $2.34. The rail rate is $2.42 from Jericho and $2.52 from Milford. Arizona points would also find it advantageous to ship via Los Angeles, as the rate from Prescott to Boston by rail is $2.52, while the charge by rail and water through Los Angeles Harbor would be only $2.37½.

It is frequently advantageous to place wool in storage and hold it for favorable condition of the market. For this purpose Los Angeles owns a class A concrete warehouse located at the harbor, which is one of the best equipped on the Pacific Coast, with a total floor space of 415,000 square feet. Being located at the harbor the wool would be stored in a moist atmosphere, which should permit the absorption of two or three pounds in 100 pounds and thus appreciably add to the growers' weights.

WAREHOUSE LEASED

The warehouse is operated by the Union Terminal Warehouse Company, under lease from the city of Los Angeles. This warehouse seems to be the most conveniently located, in the opinion of Mr. Simons, but opportunities are also being extended to other warehouse companies to obtain the business.

The following rates have been obtained as a result of prolonged negotiations: Storage, 10,000 pound lots or larger, 5 cents a 100, and less than 10,000 pound lots, 6½ cents a 100 each month; handling, including in, out and weighing, $2 a ton; insurance, 17 cents a 100 per annum. Grading can be arranged at a charge of approximately ½ cent a pound.

BANKS TO CO-OPERATE

The banks of Los Angeles indicate a favorable attitude toward advancing funds to growers on the security of warehouse receipts. Satisfactory arrangement for grading and storage of wool will be required, but officials of leading banks have indicated approval of the arrangements of the Union Terminal Warehouse Company. Wool growers usually are advanced from 60 to 70 per cent of the market value of wool.

A co-operative marketing association can go direct to the intermediate credit bank and obtain advance upon warehouse receipts. Individual growers cannot do this, but there are loan companies in Los Angeles authorized to deal with the credit banks, which can and will advance funds to the grower on the warehouse receipts.

Los Angeles is already headquarters for several wool buyers operating for eastern interests. The growers shipping wool to Los Angeles, therefore, will have no difficulty in reaching the eastern market.

FACTORIES SOUGHT

In addition to the efforts on the part of the Chamber of Commerce to establish Los Angeles as a wool storage and shipping point, efforts are being made to obtain factories for the scouring and manufacturing of wool in Los Angeles, the logical textile center of the West. The twelve Western States produce 65 per cent of the total wool clip of the United States, while the Atlantic States produce only about 5 per cent; yet the Atlantic States manufacture 92 per cent of all woolen goods, while only 1 per cent is manufactured in the Western States.

California wools are noted for their elasticity, strength, fineness and excellent felting qualities. The eight months' clip is suitable for fine woolens, while the twelve months' clip is comparable to "Ohio Delaine" in length and quality and is used in worsteds.

Wool, as it comes from the sheep's back, is full of grease, burrs and dirt; only about 45 per cent is real wool. Before it goes to the mills, the wool is scoured, and the grease residue is used as a base for various lotions, such as cold cream. At present, nearly $2,000,000 a year is spent in transporting this grease and dirt across the continent. More than this sum, it is estimated, would be saved by scouring and manufacturing the wool in Los Angeles.

RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 16.—With large manufacturers again in the market for supplies, crude prices turned stronger today and sellers had little difficulty in running quotations up to new high levels. Crude was up 4 cents at 1.16 a pound, while other leading grades advanced from 1 to 5 cents higher. Goodyear, Firestone and Miller were reported as large buyers late Wednesday. London also enjoyed an active day, and with a manufacturing and speculative buying movement in progress came over up 1½d at 33d. There appears no relief from the squeeze in the spot and near-by positions and, with it practically impossible to accumulate supplies, importers are loath to utter any predictions as to what levels futures may reach.

New York close: Ribbed smoked sheets, spot, 1.16; July, 1.15; August, 1.12; September, 1.06; October, 1.00. Brown crepe thin clean, 1.00; first latex crepe, 1.15; amber No. 3, 1.09; upriver Para fine, 1.02.

RANGE CONDITIONS GOOD

Ranges are generally in very good condition in the Coast, intermountain and Northern Rocky Mountain sections of the range country, with feed conditions much better than a year ago, according to the range report issued by the United States division of crop and live-stock estimates. Dry conditions continue in the Southwest.

Range conditions in California the 1st inst., were 95 per cent of normal, compared with 52 per cent on July 1st, last year, and compared with 86 per cent for the average of the seventeen western range States the 1st inst. The condition of cattle in this State on the 1st inst., was 97 per cent of normal compared with 86 per cent a year ago, and 87 per cent the average of the seventeen States. The condition of sheep in California the first of this month was 98 per cent of normal compared with 85 per cent a year ago and 96 per cent average for the seventeen States.

Ranges improved materially during June in Washington, Idaho, Nevada and Utah, giving abundant feed for all stock. A year ago the feed situation in these States was very poor. Range conditions are above the average in Montana, Wyoming, the Western Dakotas and Western Nebraska, with prospects of a good hay and feed crop. Lack of moisture resulted in a deterioration of range feed in Western Kansas, Oklahoma, parts of Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. Arizona, Northern and Western New Mexico received sufficient rain late in June to give the feed a good start.

Cattle are generally in very good shape in all the range country except Texas and the Southwest. In the intermountain and coastal sections, cattle are in fine shape where thin last year. Montana, Wyoming and the western sections of the Dakotas report cattle in fine shape and are making rapid gains with prospects that grass fat cattle will be ready early. In the Southwest and Texas, cattle are only in fair condition and there has been a heavy movement to better feed.

Sheep in all of the range country except in Arizona, Texas and New Mexico are in fine shape. In the Southwest, sheep are in fair condition and there has been some loss of lambs. In Montana and Wyoming, lambs are making good gains and will be fat early. The early lambs of Idaho, Oregon and Washington have been unusually good, and shipments to markets are heavy.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

A definite test of the deep zones in the Casmalia district is being made by the Pan American Petroleum Company on its Soladino lease. The Pan American is drilling two wells on this property at the present time, and plans to put one of these holes down to at least 6000 feet, if it is mechanically possible, to show once for all what is below the surface in that area.

The Soladino lease of the Pan American Petroleum Company in Santa Barbara county, is one of the old properties of this company in California, and aggregates about 400 acres. It has been producing for several years, and now has about forty-two wells on production, averaging a total of about 1700 to 1800 barrels a day. All of these wells are completed at between 1400 and 1500 feet, and as a rule come in with an initial production of about 500 to 600 barrels, although wells have been completed at the initial rate of several thousand barrels a day in this shallow zone.

The Pan American Petroleum Company has done no development work in this district for the last two years, but only recently began drilling its Soladino No. 15, and No. 45. Soladino No. 15 is now down 925 feet, standing cemented, and will be completed at somewhere near 1400 feet.

Soladino No. 45 is being drilled with rotary tools, and is now going ahead at 4059 feet. Work has been proceeding rapidly and efficiently, it is said, and at present the well has a good chance to make a thorough test of the deeper horizons at Casmalia.

The General Petroleum Corporation is drilling a prospect well in the Guadalupe district, near Casmalia in an effort to develop the existence of a new structure.

Test Well Wet

The Shell company's Bryant No. 2 in the Seal Beach district, which has been making a test for water shut-off, is still wet, it was officially reported yesterday, and will have to be recemented. Bottom of the well is at 5030 feet, at which point the drill is said to have penetrated sixty-eight feet of oil sand.

The sand in Bryant No. 2, although found several hundred feet deeper than the zone from which Bryant No. 1 is getting about fifty barrels a day of emulsified oil, is said to be a much better-looking sand, and its discovery is causing something of a revival in interest in that area. Henry Dabney, one of the pioneers of the district, who has had a well standing idle at about 3000 feet for more than a year, may resume operations on the strength of the Bryant No. 2 showings.

Off Production

Barham & Leeper's No. 1 well in the northwestern end of the Signal Hill field, which has been one of the consistent producers in that area for about two years, is off production. The well developed sand trouble last month, and was cleaned out, and returned to production, but showed a considerably diminished flow, making considerable water. It is to be plugged and tested to determine the source of the water, which will then be shut off, if possible.

Outpost Well Produces

The United Oil Company has brought in its Dominguez No. 5, the eastern outpost of the southeastern end of the Dominguez field. The well was brought in on the beam at a depth of 4222 feet, and made an initial production of about 180 barrels a day, practically clean, the oil showing a cut of only 2.9 per cent fresh water, no emulsion, the gravity being 29.9 deg.

The well was brought in on the pump, but occasionally makes a head flow, with the production showing a considerable decline.

Well Stands Idle

The Como Oil Company, drilling in the Cajon Pass district of San Bernardino county, has suspended work in the well, after going to a depth of 964 feet. The company expects to resume operations when refinancing arrangements are completed, it is said.

To Make Test

The Regina Judd No. 1 well in the Signal Hill field, is preparing to make a water shut-off test at 3936 feet, according to field reports.

This well was originally drilled to 4190 feet, and produced from that depth, but died, and was redrilled to 4303 feet.

Pilcher with United

Rufus J. Pilcher, statistician with the Associated Oil Company for several years, has taken charge of the statistical department of the United Oil Company as chief statistician.

Near Production

The Petroleum Securities Company expects to have its Cone No. 13 in the Inglewood field on production by tonight, or early tomorrow morning, according to official reports. The crew started bailing yesterday, and will run tubing today to bring the well in.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—A slow dressed beef trade narrowed demand considerably, and trading on yesterday's moderate supply was rather sluggish. Most sales were made on a steady to weak basis. Load lots of 1000 to 1068-pound grass steers cleared from 7.00@7.70, two loads topping at the latter price. Common kinds, mostly odd head and small lots, were fairly numerous from 5.00@6.25, with a few stags as low as 3.50. Fat cows and heifers turned largely from 4.50@5.60, load lots clearing mostly from 5.25@5.60. A short load of 710-pound heifers realized 6.00, while several small lots of 737 to 923-pound cows and heifers turned from 5.10@6.25. Most canners and cutters went over from 2.00@2.50. Bulls ruled firm, most bolognas turning from 4.00@4.60, with thin canner kinds as low as 2.25, while the few beef bulls on hand sold around 5.00.

CALVES—Active demand at strong prices cleaned up yesterday's small veal supply. A sizeable lot of 179-pound vealers realized 11.25, while the bulk of good and choice 190 to 280-pound calves cleared from 10.00@11.00, a load of 237-pound vealers making the first figure. Common kinds and heavies were most numerous from 5.25@8.00.

HOGS—The continued warm weather and extremely dull dressed pork trade resulted in practically a standstill on yesterday's market, only one load selling of the six offered. These sold late, averaged 172 pounds and realized 13.10. A small lot of 154-pound trucked-in kind made 13.15. Prices look sharply lower on the sales made. However, not enough trading was done to really test prices.

SHEEP—None. Good and choice lambs were quotable from 13.00@14.00, with common to choice ewes from 4.50@6.50.

STEEL STOCKS LEAD ADVANCE

Favorable Earnings Forecast Spurs Trading

Renewal of Activity in Oils Also Resumed

Copper, Utility and Specialty Lists Stronger

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, July 16.—A marked expansion in public participation characterized the resumption of the upward movement in today's stock market. Steel shares awoke from their lethargy and assumed the early leadership of the advance, but the buying switched to the oils in the late trading, with sporadic strength showing throughout the day in the coppers, public utilities and specialties. The day's sales exceeded 1,400,000 shares.

Predictions of favorable second quarter earnings report and stiffening comodity prices stimulated the demand for the steel shares. United Steel common touching a new high on the current movement at 118¼, Republic closed a point higher and the most of the others improved fractionally.

OILS ACTIVE

Extension of recent crude oil price advances was finally taken cognizance of by the oil group. Tidewater jumped 5 points to 114 on a few sales, on which California Petroleum, Colorado Fuel, Houston, Mid-Continent, Phillips, Producers and Refiners, Texas Company and Royal Dutch sold about 1 to 3 points higher. The weekly report of the American Petroleum Institute showed an increase in crude production in the week ended the 11th inst for the first time in five weeks, but it was only sixty-five barrels above the week before.

In the railroad list, the feature was the spirited demand for Southern Railway common, which touched par for the first time in history, showing a gain of 2 5-8 points on the day. International Railways of Central America and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred also mounted to new high ground. Chicago and Northwestern closed almost 2 points higher at 64⅛.

NEW HIGHS SET

In all about three dozen issues attained new 1925 peak prices, the list including United States Rubber common. Savage Arms jumped 7 points to 58 1-8 on a run-in of the short interest, and then eased on profit taking.

An obvious attempt to unsettle the general list by the circulation of rumors that the New York Federal Reserve Bank would increase its rediscount rate after the market closed was a flat failure. The rate was unchanged.

The return flow of funds from the interior to New York was reflected in the further towering of the renewal rate on call loans to 3 3-4 per cent and the subsequent reduction to 3½. The time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

A rally in Danish kroner, which carried them up to around 20.90 cents, the highest rate in about three years, featured the foreign exchange market. Other rates held relatively steady, demand sterling being quoted around $4.85 11-16 and French francs just above 4.70 cents.

Henry Allen Finds Great Improvement in North Dakota

"North Dakota's return to political sanity from its late experience with the Nonpartisan League is noticeable to a marked degree," in the opinion of Henry J. Allen, former Governor of Kansas, who was in Kansas City today. Mr. Allen was returning to his home in Wichita after a speaking tour of North Dakota.

"I spoke at Valley City July 4," said Mr. Allen, "a town of four or five thousand population in a big farming country. The first thing the people there try to impress upon you is that their State now is both safe and sane, and that they are forgetting the radical movement which swept the State a few years ago.

"It reminded me of the old days in Kansas," Mr. Allen said, "just after the Populist movement had held sway. The first real sign of the passing of that movement was our anxiety to impress upon the people from other States that Kansas had found solid footing again."

The recent death of Senator Ladd of North Dakota, which leaves a vacancy in the United States Senate, has given rise to an interesting situation in that State.

"The Nonpartisan League revised the constitution of the State," said Mr. Allen, "and there now is a question, under the reading of the new constitution, whether the Governor has a right to appoint a successor to Senator Ladd. The Nonpartisan Governor still holds his office and would like to name a Nonpartisan to succeed Ladd. But grave doubt is expressed as to whether the Governor can appoint, and the Nonpartisan League may find itself robbed of a United States Senator by its own constitution." It is the opinion of Mr. Allen that, if the election of a Senator was left to the people, the Nonpartisan League candidate would be defeated.—[Kansas City Star.

Tadpoles Kept Young

Scientists at the Johns Hopkins Medical school have found the fountain of perpetual youth, but so far only tadpoles are permitted to drink of its magic waters. When frog eggs were hatching at the laboratory, before the tadpole was developed fully, the anterior lobe of a certain gland in the brain was cut away. With this gone the thyroid gland does not develop normally and the tadpole remains the same.

Grain Prices Up in Buying Rally as Trade Ends

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 16.—Grain prices made their best levels in the last hour today. After moving irregularly a greater part of the day, the markets suddenly became strong and prices advanced rapidly, more than recovering early losses. Wheat closed with net gains of 2⅝@3⅛c. Corn was 1⅝@2⅝c higher, with new crop futures leading. Oats were ⅛@⅝c higher and rye 1⅛@1⅝c above the previous day's finish.

Wheat traders were rather skeptical about following the upturn during the greater part of the morning, as weather in the Northwest was cooler and there were orders here from that quarter. There was the claim of 15 to 30 per cent damage to the Montana crop due to heat, that came from the most reliable parties in the Northwest. Rust damage reports were also numerous and came from Crop Expert B. W. Snow and others who are in North Dakota. There were reports of rust in Southeastern Saskatchewan and parts of Alberta, but during most of the day a great many operators were disposed to believe that there had been more damage to the spring wheat from heat and frost than from black rust. Those who accepted this belief were the best buyers.

The late buying and advance after an early break came from a few large local operators, who used commission houses to pick up a lot of wheat and advanced prices 4c from the low point of the morning. Reports from the Northwest said that it will be another week or ten days before the spring wheat crop can be called safe.

Reports from the Southwest told of a good milling demand and receivers here said there was more wheat offered by the country. Cash premiums were easier here, with a limited demand, while the seaboard sold only 200,000 bushels for export. Trade sentiment is largely bullish, but there are a number of operators who were bullish when prices were 15c lower, who are now skeptical about following the advance. They say there have been more rust reports than real damage to the crop. September closed at 1.54⅝@1.54½ and December at 1.55@1.55⅛.

An oversold condition of the new crop deliveries, December and May corn, brought good buying to cover shorts and for investment account, based on reports of dry weather damage from Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and other States. December advanced 2⅛c to 90c, and closed at 89⅞c, and May finished at 92⅛c. Cash prices were unchanged to 1c higher, with arrivals forty-three cars.

Oats were slow and lower early, but advanced with other grains and on crop damage reports closed at the best of the day.

Rye stocks are decreasing rapidly and the shorts in July are uneasy, with offerings light. Harvesting of the crop is well advanced, but there was no fresh export demand.

Trading in provisions was active toward the last, with heavy buying of lard by one of the largest specialists, and prices moved up sharply and closed with gains of 20@22½c, while short ribs and bellies were 5c higher.

Camille Flammarion, the famous French astronomer, made some interesting experiments on the audibility of sounds at great altitudes. The shout of a man could be heard in a balloon 1600 feet above the ground; the croaking of frogs in a marsh at 3000 feet; the music of an orchestra at 4500; church bells at 5000; rifle report at 5900; roar of railway train at 8200, and the whistle of a locomotive at 10,000.—[Pathfinder.

The New Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern Power Corporation Will Play an Important Part in Future of the Power Industry in New York State—Has Immense Capacity.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—The strategic position occupied by the recently organized Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern Power Corporation will unquestionably prove a formidable consideration in any future development of the power and light industry in New York State. The system, which has at its command a generating capacity of close to 800,000 horsepower, about 78 per cent of which is developed by hydroelectric methods, holds a place well up in the ranks of the nation's power companies.

The company was organized in May this year as a consolidation or affiliation of the Buffalo General Electric Company, the Niagara Falls Power Company, the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Company and the Tonawanda Power Company. As a holding company for the common stocks of these units it controls properties with an annual earning capacity, compiled from the 1924 reports, of $24,526,826, having total assets of $163,510,087.

At the present time this vast organization serves a territory covering approximately 300 square miles, extending from Erie, Pa., to a point beyond Syracuse, N. Y., and from the Niagara frontier to Bradford, Pa., consisting of eighteen counties in western central New York and one in Pennsylvania. The region holds a population of more than 2,000,000, and of that large total over 400,000 are either directly or indirectly consumers of the company's production.

The character of the industry in the territory is well diversified and assures a constant and increasing demand for power. Niagara, for instance, is regarded as the electrochemical center of the world, and the nature of business in the district is such as to require constant twenty-four-hour service. The increasing demand for electricity for power and lighting purposes is steadily increasing and at a rate that taxed the capacities of the constituent companies when operated independently.

The task of meeting the vital economic needs of the district was the real impulse which led to the formation of the new company, which would unify the properties, permit a more reliable service and at the same time make possible great operating economies.

The system as it now stands constitutes an important link in the seaboard superpower system by reason of its connection with other power companies in Eastern New York and Pennsylvania. It is at this point that its strategic position is most forcefully demonstrated. Its location and ability to produced power at an unusually low average cost are the biggest factors in its favor.

Through its connections east and south with other companies, including the newly formed Mohawk-Hudson power system, it is feasible, if necessary, to dispatch power generated by the waterfall at Niagara clear across the State and into the New England States. Generating capacity in excess of 2,000,000 horsepower is thus made available wherever needed.

Hydroelectric power, which constitutes three-quarters of its total resources, is generated at Niagara Falls, on both sides, with other plants on the Salmon River and at Minetto, N. Y. The company has a long-term lease through the Niagara Falls Power Company to use 19,500 cubic feet of water a second of the 20,000 feet per second permitted to be diverted from the Niagara River above the falls.

Stem plants with a capacity of over 174,000 horsepower include the Buffalo General Electric station with a capacity of 126,000 horsepower, the Lyon plant of the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario of 40,000 horsepower capacity and two smaller plants, thoroughly modern at Orleans, N. Y., and one a gas plant at Bradford, Pa.

CASE NOT REGARDED EPOCHAL

Tucson Judge Doubts That Evolution Verdict Will Mark New Era of Thought

Whatever the final decision may be in the famous evolution trial now in progress in Tennessee, it is not likely to influence future legislation or the public mind in general to any appreciable extent, in the opinion of W. H. Sawtelle, judge of the United States District Court of Tucson, who is now in Los Angeles.

The jurist declined to enter into any discussion of the merits of the case or the questions in controversy, stating that his position on the bench barred such discussion.

"The time may come when a similar case will arise within my own jurisdiction and in that event any expression of opinion on this subject at this time would disqualify me to act as the presiding magistrate," he said. "I may say, however, that I do not attach as much importance to this Tennessee case as might seem to be warranted by the widespread publicity. I am not sufficiently familiar with the statute under which the case was brought to form any opinion as to the constitutional questions that may be involved. I am inclined to the belief that the whole matter will subside when the trial is over and that it will have no widespread or particularly important effects."

Judge Sawtelle is one of three Federal judges conducting a hearing in Los Angeles in two Arizona cases, the proceedings being conducted here under stipulation of the parties interested. The other two judges are Erskine M. Ross, judge of the United States Circuit Court of Los Angeles, and Fred C. Jacobs, judge of the United States District Court of Phoenix.

DEATH FEAR GIVES CLEW TO SLAYING

Victim's Premonition Led Her to Put Identification Packet in Stocking

NEW YORK, July 16.—How a woman's premonition provided identifying material for the police, searching for her supposed murderer, was revealed in the hunt for Albert D'Amore of Passaic N. J., formerly of 326 West Twelfth street whose wife Anna was found slain in Banigan's wood, Clifton, N. J., on the 2nd inst.

According to the police, the slayer had searched her clothing for tell-tale objects before he left her body in the woods at 5 a.m. that day. He found nothing; but feminine cunning, sharpened by fear, had fooled him.

In one of her stockings was her husband's photograph and on the back of it his name. Then, too, sewed in a scapular hanging from the neck, was Mrs. D'Amore's marriage certificate and a boarding-house mistress's card bearing her name.

It is the theory of the police, as well as of Mrs. D'Amore's brothers, that she had a premonition of death.

The D'Amores, according to the authorities, were ejected from a Paterson (N. J.) boarding-house for quarreling on the day of the murder.

Es Inminente la Huelga Carbonera en Inglaterra

LONDRES, Julio 16.—Todo el mundo se ha hecho ya cargo en las islas Británicas de que es inminente una gran huelga carbonera, y todos esperan, contra toda probabilidad, que surja alguien con algún proyecto practicable de mediación, que pueda conjurarla.

"Si ocurriere la catástrofe de una huelga carbonera", dijo Winston S. Churchill, Canciller del Tesoro, en discurso pronunciado anoche, "trastornará por completo toda la situación económica y comercial del país, burlará todos los cálculos, hará imposibles todas las promesas de seguridad nacional, y traerá irremisiblemente daños y privaciones para todas las clases sociales".

Según las estadísticas publicadas hoy, están paralizadas 500 minas de carbón, lo que seriamente está afectando a la maquinaria económica del país; pero esto es una mera cabeza de alfiler en comparación de lo que sucedería con una huelga general.

Debe tenerse presente que, caso de paro de mineros, los ferrocarrileros, trabajadores de muelles, operarios de transportes locales, e ingenieros, se declararán probablemente en huelga, y todos estos obreros forman un total de 5,000,000.

Oficialmente se dijo hoy que en los círculos ministeriales no se considera irremediable la situación minera. Pero esto no es sino un débil rayo de luz. La verdad del caso es que el gobierno se halla casi en la impotencia. Después de que hubo creado un "tribunal investigador" con vagas facultades, se encontró con que ningún caso le hacían a ese cuerpo. Los mineros decidieron no concurrir a sus reuniones, ni hacer caso alguno de sus fallos.

Muchos de los más importantes líderes de los mineros han deseado con anhelo algún ajuste razonable que hiciera a un lado el peligro de la huelga; pero los dominaron los elementos radicales y comunistas en un mitin de la federación de mineros celebrado anoche en Scarborough. La federación resolvió, primero, negarse a aceptar un tribunal investigador, y segudo, rehusarse a reunirse con los dueños de minas, hasta que estos retiren sus proposiciones sobre jornales y jornadas.

El resultado del punto muerto será probablemente que el tribunal investigador quede suspendido después de su primer mitin, que se efectuará mañana. Después de eso, se espera que el gobierno trate de convencer a los dueños de que deben modificar sus pretensiones.

Incendio y Muertes en un Rancho de Reedley

REEDLEY, Julio 16.—En una misteriosa explosión, que primero destruyó una casa de hacienda, y después la hizo arder, fueron muertos hoy H. D. Schroeder, un próspero cortijero, que vivía a dos y media millas al sur de aquí, y cuatro de sus hijos. Las casas de Reedley fueron sacudidas por la explosión, cuyo ruido se oyó aquí muy claramente.

Aunque dicha explosión se efectuó como a las 2 a.m., y un enjambre de policías, bajo la dirección del sheriff Bob Hill, del condado de Tulare, y del "Marshal" de Incendios del Estado, Ralph Williams, de Fresno, le han estado buscando una explicación desde entonces, no han podido averiguar la más mínima cosa acerca de su causa. Williams, que tiene fama como perito en explosivos, dice que ni siquiera atina a descubrir qué clase de explosivo se usó, ni en qué parte de la casa lo pusieron. Las llamas completaron la destrucción iniciada por la explosión, y todo lo que quedó de Schroeder, de sus tres hijas y de un hijo, fueron cinco cadáveres imposibles de reconocer.

La casa de Schroeder, que era de estuco y de dos pisos, estaba ubicada casi en la línea limítrofe entre los condados de Tulare y Fresno, y las autoridades de ambas entidades políticas están colaborando en la investigación. No han podido averiguar si los Schroeders tenían algunos enemigos conocidos; pero están basando sus pesquisas en la suposición de que la explosión y el incendio hayan sido causados por mano criminal.

Doctor Arrestado por Violación de las Leyes sobre Narcóticos

Ciertas historias que circulaban entre la gente maleante, esclava de las drogas heroicas, de que había un vendedor de narcóticos que les arrancaba la proverbial libra de carne de Shylock, acarrearon una extensa averiguación por parte de las autoridades, que dió por resultado ayer la aprehensión del doctor Louis T. A. Hotten, en su consultorio de la calle Olive Sur, 624, según información del señor De Spain, agente de narcóticos.

Luego que lo aprehendieron, el doctor Hotten pidió dramáticamente su libertad, asegurando que no podría soportar la vida de cárcel.

Se dictó su arresto, según dice el agente De Spain, después de que los empleados del gobierno hubieron hecho tres compras separadas de morfina, a precios muy superiores a los cargados por los vendedores ambulantes. Se acusa al sospechoso de haber violado la ley sobre narcóticos de Harrison, pues se dice que en las tres referidas operaciones de compra, vendió ocho cubos de ese narcótico en $30.

CULP FLEES HOME AGAIN; FUNDS GONE

Pulpitless Pastor's Wife Obtains Warrant; Mexico Believed His Goal

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) July 16.—The itching feet of Rev. W. W. Culp, pulpitless preacher, have carried him away again. This time his destination, his family reports, is Mexico if his $9000, all the family funds, holds out long enough.

Culp left on the latest of his flights from his wife and nine children on the 8th inst. His departure came on the day after Mrs. Cleo Culp of Nappanee, his brother's wife, visited their home here. Mrs. Culp's whereabouts are not known; she is not here nor is she in Nappanee.

The forgiving wife of the pastor says she has tired of his actions and has obtained a warrant for his arrest, charging nonsupport. The warrant, however, is on file at the police station until such time as he might return to South Bend.

"We have no way of getting him—no funds with which to bring him back," the police captain remarked as he filed the warrant away when it was given him by Mrs. Culp.

Rev. Culp's heart first leaped while he was the preacher at a little Ohio church. He served time soon after his arrest in Michigan. The girl reformed and is studying to become a missionary. His name next appeared in print with that of his sister-in-law, but after a few days in Chicago they came home because of the publicity.

CALIFORNIA CUPID'S JUNE RECORD SAGS

NUMBER OF MARRIAGES FOR MONTH DROPS BELOW LAST YEAR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, July 16.—California's 1925 crop of June brides fell short of the 1924 harvest, according to figures made public today by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health. Three small counties are still to be heard from, but whose figures are not expected to change the result.

San Francisco showed a loss of thirty-six marriages, only 804 licenses having been issued, as against 840 in 1924.

Los Angeles and Alameda counties aided Cupid, Los Angeles, with a gain of thirty weddings, and Alameda with an increase of thirty-five. The total for Los Angeles county was 1990, as against 1960 last year, and for Alameda, 556, as compared to 521 in 1924.

SUFFERING IS NEEDLESS—HEALTH EASY WITH "IONACO"

A marvelous method of combating pain and disease, requiring neither drugs, diet, baths, massage, sweating or any other discomfort, is now available for free trial on the part of any sufferer, through the assistance of Gaylord Wilshire, internationally famous as the originator of the Wilshire district and the founder of Fullerton.

Mr. Wilshire, besides being in real estate, is also widely known as scientist, scholar and philanthropist. After making a thorough study of the Ionaco and the wonderful results it has achieved in relieving sickness and pain, he decided to give it his personal backing in order that Ionaco's blessings of health and relief from suffering might be made available to as many persons as possible.

FREE TREATMENTS

With this idea in view, Mr. Wilshire has made arrangements for giving free treatments to anyone ill or in pain. In this way, any sufferers may find out for themselves, without cost, just what the Ionaco will do for them. Some of the remarkable results obtained with the Ionaco are described below:

INDIGESTION AND ARTHRITIS:

MRS. E. L. REED, 3802 W. 2nd St., Los Angeles.

"Since using the "Ionaco," the pain has completely disappeared from my back, and my hands are now perfectly flexible. A bad case of chronic indigestion has also vanished."

ASTHMA:

T. J. POLLARD, 414½ N. Hill Ave., Los Angeles.

"I had asthma for 15 years and did everything possible to get relief. After one Ionaco treatment I sleep peacefully without paroxysms, something which I had not done for a long time."

GOITRE:

DAVID VAN ZILE, 1029 E. Villa Street, Pasadena.

"Within ten days, Free from Pain; saved from a dangerous operation."

NERVOUS PROSTRATION:

MRS. ELANORE SMITH, 536 N. Hill Street, Pasadena.

"I was a wreck. Now I sleep and feel as well as I ever did."

TUMOR AND RHEUMATISM:

MRS. EMMA M. BROMLEY, Sierra Madre.

"After about six weeks' treatment rheumatism and tumor disappeared."

CRYER TO BE SHYER

His Honor Seeks Barrier to Baffle Rabble

The man from Iowa who shook hands with the King of England will be crowded off into obscurity by some bold citizen who can succeed in having an interview with Mayor Cryer, if changes in the Mayor's offices at the City Hall are authorized by the City Council.

The Board of Public Works yesterday requested the City Council for an appropriation of $700 to change the layout of the Mayor's offices. The board's request stated that the $700 worth of changes to give the Mayor $700 added protection from the public were requested by Mr. Kinney, secretary to the Mayor.

Under the maps, and plans submitted by the board to the Council yesterday, citizens who were told during the campaign that an "open-door" policy would prevail at the Mayor's office during the next four years if they would re-elect Cryer at an increased salary of $10,000 a year, will be required to pass more secretaries and attaches before seeing the Mayor, than surround President Coolidge at the White House.

A new entrance room is proposed, and in this will be located an assistant secretary. The Mayor's former reception room will be filled with secretaries and clerks. If the visitor is able to get by these attendants, then the private room of Secretary Kinney will be reached, where the visitor will be put through a final "third degree." If the visitor can get by Kinney, then he will be ushered into the presence of the Mayor.

It also was proposed that a private entrance or runway should be built from the Mayor's office to the Council chamber so that the Mayor could visit the Council, and the Councilmen could visit the Mayor without being required to pass through lines of citizens waiting to see the Mayor or attending Council sessions. The private hallway was abandoned for fear that if any more changes were made in the partitions at the City Hall, the entire building might fall down.

The City Council's Finance Committee next Monday afternoon will consider Secretary Kinney's request for $700 to protect His Honor from the public.

RED LINE'S FARES HIT IN COUNCIL

Resolutions Will Carry Investigation of Tariffs to Railroad Board

Councilmen Randall and Hughes yesterday put through the City Council resolutions to start an investigation of fares charged in Los Angeles by the Pacific Electric Railway.

Councilman Randall said the fares from the center of the city to Atwater Park of 17 cents were too high. Councilman Hughes protested against the fare of 18 cents from Cochran avenue to the business section of the city.

The Board of Public Utilities will make a report to the Council preparatory to the Council's taking action before the State Railroad Commission for readjustment of fares.

MISSION'S FUND DRIVE OUTLINED

Southland Notables Pledge Aid in Restoration

Santa Barbara Institution Requires $450,000

Southern California Share Put at $200,000

Definite steps to obtain funds for the restoration of the old mission at Santa Barbara, severely damaged by the temblor of June 29, last, were taken yesterday at a luncheon at the Biltmore attended by fifty prominent men and women, who organized committees and pledged themselves to do their utmost to replace the ancient institution as the queen of the missions.

A general executive committee for Southern California of thirty-three was named, and the selection of a campaign committee of nine to carry the brunt of the work was decided upon. This committee will be named by Joseph Scott, chairman of the general committee.

The sum of $200,000 was set as the figure which must be raised in that part of California south of Santa Barbara, of the total of about $450,000 estimated as being needed for the mission's restoration.

Committeemen will be named to represent the southern counties outside of Los Angeles, these to be designated by Father Superior Augustine of the Santa Barbara mission.

E. L. Doheny was active in the discussion as to ways and means for the restoration of the ancient buildings.

John Steven McGroarty, Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes and Charles F. Lummis, three people who have striven to preserve the chain of old missions, and whose names are linked with saving the traditions of California, were designated as a committee to prepare a statement which will serve as the commencement of the campaign for funds.

Mr. Scott was selected as temporary chairman, and later was elected permanent chairman of the meeting. Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank, was named treasurer, and John Barton Browne as secretary.

WILL STRIP WALLS

Father Augustine, who was accompanied by two other Franciscan friars from the mission, Father Theophilus and Father Julius, addressed the assemblage, and gave a detailed description of the damage. While no extensive survey has been made as yet, he stated, it is expected that early next week he will be able to announce definitely the amount needed for the mission's repair.

In the case of the walls of the church, said Father Augustine, it is planned to strip the plaster from the stone and cover it with modern waterproof material, thus leaivng visible the texture of the stone.

"We wish to return to California the mission in its original strength and beauty and glory," said Father Augustine. "There the padres stand guard over the ancient traditions of the Southwest. It is an inspiration to the youth of the country. Santa Barbara is the one mission where the lights on the altar have never been extinguished, where the friars have trodden the corridors very day since 1786."

In succeeding talks it was brought out that the old mission is one of the famous landmarks of the State, and that its preservation means much to every citizen of California.

"It is a physical tradition more valuable to us than many business enterprises worth millions of dollars," said Mr. Robinson. "There can be no estimate of its value, as it figures in the mental attitude of the Easterner toward California. It has commercial value to us far beyond its actual cost.

"The sum designated for Southern California meets with my approval. It should be made clear that the restoration of the mission is a matter for California, not alone for the church."

Mr. Robinson suggested that the committee co-operate with the California Development Association and other organizations which will aid in rebuilding schools and public structures in the city.

Mr. McGroarty declared that Californians are under a moral obligation to restore the old buildings, and this was the sentiment expressed by Mrs. J. F. Sartori, Miss Mary Workman and Mr. Lummis.

In reply to a suggestion from Dr. George P. Clements, manager of the agricultural department of the Chamber of Commerce, Father Augustine said that the remnants of the Mission Indians were gathered at San Luis Rey Mission, and that he already had on foot a plan to have members of the same tribe which first built the missions, help the padres restore Santa Barbara Mission.

ONE MAN OFFERS $5000

One Los Angeles man has promised to donate $5000 if nineteen others will do likewise, Mr. Scott said.

The members of the general committee for Southern California named were as follows: Mr. Scott, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Doheny, Mr. Browne, Mr. McGroarty, A. C. Balch, Jaseph Schenck, Mr. Lummis, J. Harvey McCarthy, Senator R. F. Del Valle, Herman Lichtenberger, Fathers Augustine, Julius and Theophilus, Harry Chandler, G. G. Young, Dr. Frank F. Barham, E. A. Dickson, Burton Kneisly, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer, Miss Grace Stoermer, Mrs. Cecil Frankel, Mrs. Frank Gibson, Mrs. Martha Nelson McCann, Mrs. A. P. Clark, Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman, Dr. Clements, Mrs. Sartori, Miss Workman, Mrs. Cecil B. De Mille, Miss Mary Foye and Mrs. Forbes.

Mr. Scott said that he will announce the names of the members of the campaign committee within a few days. It is planned to designate persons prominent in rep-

FILM DEAL RUMORED IN WINDY CITY

Lasky Reported in Huge Merger With Two Eastern Theater Corporations

Negotiations for a merger of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and the Balaban and Katz Corporation, which owns and operates a number of theaters in Chicago and Detroit, and controls several picture companies in Illinois, are under way, New York advices stated last night. Officials of the former concern were inaccessible there. The main offices of Balaban corporation are in Chicago.

As a result of these negotiations the stocks of the two principals have been active on the New York exchange this week. Sales of Famous Players yesterday amounted to 7100 shares. After opening at 103⅛ the stock rose to 104½ and closed at 103 3-4.

"It's news to me," declared Charles Eyton, general manager of the production branch of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, when told last night of the reported deal. "I've heard similar rumors before, but never have known anything definite regarding them. Of course, the eastern offices might make a deal involving the purchase or sale of theaters or the means of distribution, and we of the production department here in Hollywood might not know a thing about it until the entire transaction is closed. Mr. Lasky himself is out of town on a hunting trip."

Prof. Stauffer Late Angeleno, Expires in East

Word was received yesterday of the death in Lexington, Ky., of Prof. Vernon Stauffer, 49 years of age, first dean of the California Christian College here, formerly known as the California School of Christianity. It was during his administration, from 1921 to 1922, that the first two buildings of the college were erected.

Dr. Arthur Braden, present dean of the college, said last night that the school is largely conducted along the lines laid down by Prof. Stauffer.

Prof. Stauffer was born in New London, O., and graduated from Hiram College of Ohio in 1901, later pursuing graduate studies at Columbia University of New York, from which he received a Ph.D. degree. He was a member of the American Society of Christian History, American Association of University Professors and the Royal Historical Society of London. He is author of "New England and the Bavarian Illuminati."

At the time of his death, he was professor at the College of the Bible at Lexington. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura E. Stauffer, and three children.

BURON FITTS TO HAVE FIFTEENTH OPERATION

Chief Dep. Dist.-Atty. Buron Fitts was removed to the California Lutheran Hospital late yesterday to undergo another operation on his leg, the fifteenth in the last few years.

He was wounded in the leg by shrapnel while in service in France and the repeated operations have been made necessary by infection which set in later. The operation will be performed today by Dr. Francis L. Anton.

JUDGE CENSURES WOMEN

Action by Protective League Members Construed as on Verge of Contempt of Court

A "court committee" of nine members of the Widow's Protective League was roundly censured in court by Superior Judge Fleming yesterday because of an episode that occurred during the progress of a civil trial before the judge involving a member of the League.

The episode, which Judge Fleming construed as verging on contempt of court on the part of Mrs. Lillian Pascal Day, founder and president of the league, occurred during the trial of a suit brought by Carl Maier against Mrs. Alice G. Condon, a league member. Maier was seeking the enforcement of a contract asserted to have been entered into by him and Mrs. Condon looking toward the sale of a piece of real estate by Mrs. Condon to Maier.

As is the announced practice of the league, a committee, called the court committee, came into court during the progress of the trial, wearing the league colors, black and white. Mrs. Day, shortly after arriving in court, handed Court Clerk P. D. Scott her card, a pamphlet and a newspaper clipping setting forth the aims of the league—mutual protection of its members.

The clerk handed the literature to Judge Fleming on the bench. After looking over the literature, the judge halted the trial. He addressed those who were interested in the matter, saying that he considered it highly improper for anyone to hand a judge any such material as had been handed to him. He said that it placed the court in an embarrassing situation.

MEMBERS WARNED

"This court," he said, "is not concerned with any organization or persons other than the principles in the case at bar. Don't let such a thing as this occur in this courtroom again."

Mrs. Day arose and informed the court that it was not the intention of the league or its committee to do anything improper or to interfere with the administration of justice. Her explanation was cut off by the court ordering her to take her seat.

After hearing arguments on a motion of Defense Counsel Fergusen and Keeper to dismiss, Judge Fleming nonsuited the case in favor of Mrs. Condon, holding that the contract was not binding.

Upon the adjournment of court, Judge Fleming laid the matter before Presiding Judge Valentine and L. H. Blakely, secretary of the court.

Mrs. Day, when interviewed on the matter, said it was "not necessary for Judge Fleming to hit me on the head with an ax."

"We feel that his action was unduly and unnecessarily harsh," she said. "We didn't know that we were violating any rules. We had no intention of trying to influence the court in any way. As I tried to explain in my answer to him, we are a young organization and our only purpose is to be helpful where we can.

"We have appeared in other courts and we didn't receive any such treatment as that."

HAD CASE TRANSFERRED

Mrs. Day admitted, however, that in no other court had the judge been handed literature during the course of a trial.

"It was not my intention to have the judge receive the literature during the progress of the trial," said Mrs. Day. "I handed it to the clerk, thinking that the judge would get it after court had adjourned.

"We went to Judge Valentine the day before to have the case transferred for an early trial and he was just lovely to us. He transferred it to Judge Fleming's court. We had a little difficulty that day with Mr. Blakely and his stenographer."

Mrs. Day said that Judge Fleming's action is not likely to cause the league to abandon its plans of having a court committee attend trials where members are concerned. As to permitting literature to be sent to the judge—it never was intended. The purpose of the league's court committee visitations are, for the most part educational, and "just to let members know that they are not all alone in the world—that someone is backing them up."

CITY GETS HUGE LIGHT FACTORY

Million-Dollar Corporation's Headquarters Here

Electric Signs Will Utilize New-Found Process

Rare Gases Injected Into Illuminating Bulbs

A one million-dollar corporation with its principal factory and offices located in Los Angeles, and with branch factories and offices in San Francisco, Seattle and Denver, was announced yesterday.

This corporation will manufacture and install electrical signs, utilizing a new process of illumination, developed from the liquidation of the rare gases extracted from the air.

Through the consolidation of the Electrical Products Corporation of this city; the Claude-Neon Lights, and prominent financial interests of Los Angeles, the venture has been launched, retaining the name of Electrical Products Corporation. Standard types of electrical signs, as well as theatrical lighting and indoor and outdoor illumination will be manufactured, with the addition of signs and illumination, using as a luminous element neon, argon and other rare gases extracted from the air.

Besides Paul D. Howse, president of the Electrical Products Corporation, such well-known local business men as John B. Miller, president of the Southern California Edison Company; George I. Cochran, president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company; W. L. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company of California, and W. I. Hollingsworth are included in the directorate of the corporation, while the Claude-Neon interests are represented in the directorate by W. P. T. Hollingsworth of Paris, France, and Robert L. Kester of New York.

GREAT PROGRESS

Of the project, Mr. Howse said yesterday:

"The utilization for commercial purposes of rare gases extracted from the air has already made great progress in France and England, and in New York City during the past few months. In my opinion, the commercial use of these gases is the greatest electrical development since the advent of the tungsten lamp. There are now more than 100 plants employing the liquefaction processes of Georges Claude, the inventor of the processes of the application of the rare gases from the air, for illuminating purposes which are controlled by fundamental process and detail patents. Forty-four of these plants are located within the boundaries of the United States.

"Neon gas exists in the air in the proportion of fifteen parts to 1,000,000. This and the other gases are extracted and liquified under a process discovered by Claude, one of the most renowned chemical engineers of France and Europe. We have been negotiating for some time with W. P. T. Hollingsworth of Paris, representing the Claude interests and have

VETERANS PLAN CEREMONY

Corner Stone of New San Fernando Hospital to be Laid Sunday by Legionnaires

Corner-stone laying ceremonies for the new United States Veterans Bureau Hospital at San Fernando will take place at 11 a.m., Sunday, under the auspices of the American Legion. Dailey S. Stafford is general chairman of the day.

Local Legionnaries are organizing auto caravans and are attempting to have all the veterans of this community present at the affair, which wil be in the form of a basket picnic.

Starting promptly at 11 a.m., the corner-stone of the administration building will be laid. Every veteran attending will have his name inclosed in the copper box which will be placed under the bronze tablet.

Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, is expected to come from Washington for the service. This is one of the largest and most up-to-date of the government hospitals.

CEREMONY PARTICIPANTS

Legionnaries who will take part in the ceremonies according to Stafford are Father Joseph Lonegran, national chaplain of the American Legion; William Patrick of Bakersfield, State Chaplain; Nathan Coombs of Napa, State Commander; James K. Fisk of San Francisco, State Adjutant; William A. Knost, Commander of the Los Angeles County Council; M. B. Silberberg, chairman State Hospital Committee and K. J. Scudder, manager Los Angeles office of the veterans' bureau.

After the program a basket luncheon will be served. Each veteran is requested to bring a picnic lunch. Employees of the government will be on hand to act as guides in showing the visitors over the institution and to explain the details of the hospital.

In the afternoon members of the Ninth and Tenth districts will hold a caucus, it being their first joint caucus of the year which is always an outstanding event of the American Legion prior to a State convention.

American Legion posts of the San Fernando Valley will act as a reception committee. The Auto Club of Southern California will have the roads leading to the hospital marked.

TWENTY BUILDINGS

Lying directly north of San Fernando the hospital is being built on a 631-acre tract. Building and land comprise an outlay by the bureau of about $1,500,000. Twenty buildings make up the hospital unit. Work was commenced the first of this year and is to be completed by January 4, 1926. At the present time it is about 55 per cent completed.

by Harry Carr

THE more you read of this evolution monkey business the more respect you have for the Bible.

All that any one needs to know of religion, ethics and morality has been stated in half a dozen simple, plain sentences by Jesus Christ.

Had the Bible been written by Mr. Bryan and Clarence Darrow it would have filled 500 volumes with wheeze and wind, and nobody would ever have found out what it was all about.

Wise advice was left for us by Confucius, who said: "Do not concern yourself about the future life; you do not yet know how to live this one."

PROPAGANDA

There is being peddled around the Hollywood studios a war propaganda play. The agent states that it is written by three captains of the United States Navy.

If this is so, they ought to be ashamed of themselves.

The play is based upon a supposed war with Japan; and sounds like George Creel at his worst.

If we had to spend our lives stirring up hatred for other nations, we might as well be licked and go out of business as a nation. Life would not be worth living.

It is the business of the Navy to be ready for war against all fleets of all nations. That's what the Navy is for. Not writing maudlin melodramas. The Secretary of the Navy would do well to look up these three captains.

DIGGING UP STREETS

It is sweet to contemplate young illusions.

As, for instance, the new Councilman who thinks he has a plan to stop the public utility corporations from continually ripping up the streets.

My dear and amiable brother in sorrow, you are on a dead wire.

If they couldn't think of anything else to tie up traffic—after having put in and taken out all the pipes—they would put up a barbed-wire fence in the middle of the street and start a chicken ranch.

PANCHO VILLA

From no less an authority than the Governor-General of the Philippines comes the assertion that little Pancho Villa's managers were responsible for his death. Gen. Wood says they made him fight when he was ill.

I don't know anything about Pancho Villa or his managers; but I do know that the average fight manager is a leech and a pest. It has always seemed to me about the most contemptible of all human occupations.

Fat-necked sports with uproarious clothes sitting in the ring corner yelping while these brave little boys go in and fight for the money the manager splits.

RESPECT FOR POLICE

A frisky film director was scolded in court yesterday by the Santa Monica Chief of Police.

"Our policemen are not cattle; and they must be treated with respect," he said.

And that's that. But there is also another side. An army sentry is yielded respect by all ranks, however high; but he is expected to behave with courtesy befitting the dignity of the United States government.

A policeman is the visible representative of the power and strength and dignity of the city. Through him speaks the sovereign power of the commonwealth; and it is up to him to behave with the dignity and good manners and etiquette befitting a sovereign city.

Coast Theaters Officers Return From East Today

Sol Lesser, secretary, and A. Gore, vice-president of West Coast Theaters, will arrive in Los Angeles this morning from New York.

In a wire received yesterday from Mr. Lesser it was disclosed that A. C. Blumenthal, California realty man, arranged the deal with the Fox Film Corporation by which Adolph Ramish's 4 per cent holdings in West Coast Theaters were transferred to William Fox.

Mr. Blumenthal will soon arrive in Los Angeles and upon his arrival will make a tour of the 102 West Coast Theaters with a view to outlining the new program of expansion which West Coast officials are planning.

Fitzgerald Sonata Concert Well Received

Vera Barstow's Numbers on Violin Artistic

De Lite Products Program Features Quintet

BY CLAIRE MELLONINO

Those not in immediate contact with the situation have probably very little conception of the attention Los Angeles is daily receiving from the world of art. Musicians and artists from all parts of the globe are daily enriching the local musical colony, finding in our city an atmosphere conducive to the expression of their highest ideals. Our reputation as lovers of good music also has proved a source of attraction to musicians of other cities, to which the character of our radio programs has contributed not a little.

SONATA PROGRAM

Last night the Fitzgerald Music Company came to KHJ to give their fifth monthly concert, which has taken the form of two sonatas for violin and piano, interspersed with art songs or arias.

Selecting for her vehicles the beautiful and emotional Brahms Opus 78, and the winsome and blithesome Mozart No. 7, Vera Barstow again demonstrated her ability to be classified among the great violins of the world. Her sound technical equipment in amalgamation with her knowledge of tradition found her immediately responsive to each transition of the composer.

Georgi Shkultetsky's basso voice left little to be desired in his artistic interpretations of such glorious works as "When the King Goes Forth to War," "The Eagle" and "The Horn."

DE LITE SPONSOR

This was followed by another delightful program given through the courtesy of the De Lite Products Company of Long Beach, presenting Eva Anderson, violin and leader of her string quintet, and associated with Valdimir Thompson, violin, Virginia Hubbard, violin, Irene Salisch, violin, and Elizabeth Freeman, 'cello. Others on the program who contributed an important share to the second half of the evening were Clara Graham, soprano and pianist; Arthur Keltie, pianist; Ada Potter Wiseman, soprano; Theodore Arbeely, bass, and Robert "Bob" Muckler, humorist.

The matinee hour, through the courtesy of the Pacific States Electric Company, presented the Arion Trio, Billy Lynn, banjo, and Melba Melsing, who departed from her usual guitar accompaniment to delight the auditors with a group of ballads, seldom heard, but always holding attention because of the lovely stories unfolded.

FRIARS OFFER JAZZ

The noon period jazz was provided with an abundance of pep and vim by Kenneth and his able organization of Six Friars, who perform nightly at the Friars Inn. Scott McConnell, possessor of an excellent lyric tenor, particularly adapted to songs of the Emerald Isle, contributed several groups.

After Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog had related his daily chapter on American history, the lads and lassies were entertained by Dickie Brandon, screen juvenile and orator; Jack Searle, 3-year-old reader; Louise Glenn, 8-year-old reader pupil of Marshall Stedman; Wilbur Walters, 11-year-old pianist pupil of Donelda W. Greenbaum; Leola Dolbec, 10-year-old reader; Kathrine Crow, reader of the Cumnock School; Mildred Alexander, 10-year-old pianist, and Joyce Coad, known as "Little Red Riding Hood."

This was followed by the health talk delivered by Philip M. Lovell.

BOWL WILL HEAR MUSIC OF ENGLAND

Sir Henry Wood Offers Widely Varied Group at Concert Tonight

Sir Henry Wood, London symphony conductor, will give individual interpretations of a widely varied group of composers tonight in his third concert at the Hollywood Bowl.

After a brilliant opening performance Tuesday, which in point of attendance and direction equaled that of Fritz Reiner's inaugural concert, Wood continued his success last night.

Wood deals with the works of English composers tonight. "On the Cliffs of Cornwall," by Ethel M. Smyth, England's foremost composer, is a nature study in a gay mood, with waves, sunshine and sea gulls vividly expressed.

Rutland Boughton's luring scene from the opera, "The Immortal Hour," whose work has been presented at Covent Garden, London, will be presented by Wood for the first time in America. The orchestration was published only two months ago.

Wood's appearances tonight and Saturday will be his last at the Bowl, as he will not return later in the season. Following is the program:

Concerto Grosso in B flat ....Handel
On the Cliffs of Cornwall ....Ethel M. Smyth
Symphony No. 2 in B Minor ....Borodin
Intermission
Luring scene from opera "The Immortal Hour" ....Ruthland Boughton
(a) Valse Badinage (A Musical Snuff Box) ....Liadow

WIDOW ASKS $20,000

Husband Killed While Clearing Tracks in Sandstorm

Damages of $20,000 for the death of Martin Nila, a Mexican track worker, killed at Garnett, near Riverside, on April 11, 1924, are asked by the widow, Juana Nila, and her son and daughter, Pedro and Pedra Nila, in a suit transferred yesterday from the Superior Court at Riverside to the Federal District Court in Los Angeles.

Peter Domenigoni of Riverside appears in the papers filed as guardian for the two Nila children and one of the petitioners for redress.

Nila was killed, according to the complaint, during a sandstorm. He had gone out on the track to clear away drifts for an eastbound flyer, it was cited, and was killed when the train crew failed to give proper warning signals.

secured the exclusive rights for the uses of neon and other gases of the air in the manufacture of electrical signs and general illumination, our concessions covering the entire Pacific Coast and Western States.

"Claude's process enables us to form into various shapes for the construction of electrical signs and illumination, glass tubes into which neon and other gases are injected. Through the utilization of electrodes at the terminals of the tubes, the latter are beautifully illuminated without the use of filaments.

NONCOMBUSTIBLE

"Neon is noncombustible, produces no heat and requires a minimum amount of electrical current for illumination. The color resembles that of a particularly resplendent sunset. The light rays are brilliant and penetrating. Through laboratory discoveries of Claude, many other colors have been developed. One of the great advantages of the neon illumination is that the tubes may be recharged with neon gas."

The first laboratory for the manufacture of neon gas products will be located in Los Angeles in connection with the plant of the Electrical Products Corporation, 1118-1134 West Sixteenth street. The new product will be ready for distribution in about two months.

Howse and Hollingsworth will leave Los Angeles today for New York City to make an inspection of the plant of the Claude-Neon Lights there, and to complete arrangements for the installation of the Los Angeles laboratory, and Howe soon thereafter will proceed to France to study the many applications of neon to interior and exterior decorative work not yet developed in America.

The manufacture of neon gas products is covered with patents now transferred to the Claude-Neon Lights in the United States and the Electrical Products Corporation will manufacture under these patents, the rights of which will be jealously guarded.

CHURCH PEOPLE AT PILGRIMAGE PLAY

Alhambra was well represented at the Pilgrimage Play last night, when a large delegation of its citizens made their first civic excursion to see the play.

Another special party to attend last night's performance was a large group of members of the First Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles. One of the larger parties to witness the sacred drama tonight will be the members of the Community Church of La Canada.

Tomorrow night the "Cosy Corner Girls" from the Temple Baptist Church have reserved a block of seats and the same evening is also being observed as children's night, when all children under 16 years of age will be given seats at half price, which includes any seat in the theater not previously reserved.

EARTHQUAKE AID TO STRICTER BUILDING CODE

Referring to the Santa Barbara earthquake as merely another of the supreme tests which California has been called upon to meet from time to time, Charles S. Knight of San Francisco, director of the industrial department of the California Development Association, yesterday expressed the opinion that this disaster will have beneficial results by proving a stimulus to the adoption of improved building methods throughout the State and an inspiration to greater effort.

"Reconstruction in Santa Barbara will be carried on along lines requiring far stricter supervision of buildings than existed prior to the catastrophe and that event has sounded a warning to all other cities in the State," said Mr. Knight. "In San Francisco, for instance, steps already have been taken to revise the building code to insure better construction in the future. Aside from this, the effort and expense involved in the rehabilitation work will stimulate activity along all lines of business, which will be reflected in all parts of the State."

CONCENTRATION WINS

Mr. Knight, who is at the Biltmore, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to confer with the Chamber of Commerce here in regard to various phases of the extensive program of industrial development in Southern California now being conducted under the auspices of the development association.

"Instead of devoting ourselves to the whole field of industrial activity at one time, we have decided to concentrate on some of the more important of the basic industries to begin with," said Mr. Knight. "During the last several months we have paid special attention to mining, the manufacture of steel and the production of cotton. We have conducted a number of meetings attended by representatives of all lines of the steel industry in California, and are now laying plans for a similar series in reference to mining. The results of the conferences already held are apparent on every side in the increase in activity in the steel business, and the interest manifested in the meetings scheduled for the rest of the year indicate that these will be equally effective."

NATURAL CENTER

Mr. Knight spoke optimistically of the prospects for industrial development in California. "No matter what happens, the industrial future of the State is assured," he said. "I believe this section of the Pacific Coast is destined to become a world center. California is the natural leader of the group of the eleven Western States which embraces within its boundaries all the elements for the building of an empire."

In speaking of the growth of manufacturing here, Mr. Knight observed that the climatic advantages are beginning to be realized as an important factor in this line of development.

"Time was that we thought of the climate only as an attraction for tourists, but now manufacturers are beginning to see that it is one of the greatest aids to increased production," he said. "Government figures show that productivity in industry is greater in California by 16 per cent for each worker than in any other section of the country. This is due to favorable weather conditions and is an advantage that will play an important part in our future industrial development."

EX-CASHIER SENTENCED FOR THEFTS

Gilbert Fatrious Given Three to Thirty-four Years in Bank Case

Gilbert Fatrious, formerly assistant cashier for a branch of the Bank of Italy, yesterday was sentenced by Judge McLucas of the Superior Court to serve from three to thirty-four years in San Quentin penitentiary as a result of his asserted embezzlement of funds of the bank and falsifying of bank records.

Fatrious was convicted of eleven counts of embezzlement, falsifying corporation records, altering corporation records, making a false entry as agent of a bank and forgery. According to evidence adduced at his trial, he embezzled $2000 of the bank's funds and then changed the bank records to cover up his asserted defalcations.

Fatrious was sentenced on all eleven counts, but judgment on eight of the counts was suspended by Judge McLucas, who ordered the sentences on the remaining charges, two embezzlement and one forgery, to run consecutively.

Three additional counts of forgery brought against Fatrious were dismissed on motion of the District Attorney.

THEY HANG ON

By the time the luxury taxes are all canceled folks may be unable to indulge in any of them.

THE WRONG TACK

If a man can laugh quietly at his own troubles he is more welcome than the chap who laughs noisily at the woes of others.

THE REPEATER

One young woman in Hollywood has used the same steamer trunk for three different honeymoons. This is what she calls thrift.

NO USE FOR IT

It is hoped that the scientists who are isolating the cancer germ after accomplishing the isolation will push the germ over a cliff or knock it in the head with an ax. Nothing in the world is more cordially detested.

PINK-PATED DUCKS

From the foothills of the Himalayas an expedition sent out by the American Museum of Natural History has brought back two pink-headed ducks. They are best described as rare birds in the pink of perfection.

PLACING THE CRIME

In West Virginia a defendant was caught in the act, made full confession before five witnesses and was nevertheless found not guilty by the jury when the case was tried in court. If a man will escape jail in West Virginia he had better commit his crimes in the presence of the court and jury.

VANISHING TEETH

You can't have good teeth and be civilized, says the president of the British Dental Association. He says 85 per cent of the people of England under 20 years of age are suffering from dental diseases. Among adults the percentage is much greater. This is probably the reason France and other continental countries feel they can safely twist the British lion's tail.

PAYING THE TAXES

The closer you get to the people the higher are the taxes. The Federal government is away down at Washington and is honestly reducing taxes. The counties, cities and districts immediately under the taxpayer's eye are increasing their burdens every day. One might almost imagine the citizen liked to pay heavy local taxes. At least he is doing it with little protest.

THE NEW DAY

The Standard Oil Company has finally adopted the eight-hour day for its workers and the pay for drillers is $10 a day on that basis. They were formerly paid $12 for a twelve-hour day, so that the change is an increase in wages. The work of the Standard will be on three shifts daily instead of two. This will call for a larger force and give increased employment. This is in accordance with the policy of the junior Rockefeller as well as in keeping with the modern trend.

SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES

It appears that some 500,000 gallons of grain alcohol have been accidentally diverted from government warehouses in Pennsylvania and there is a slight suspicion that a few drops may have found their way into illicit booze. Knowing the wild and irresponsible habits of the American bootlegger, it may at once be admitted that there is some warrant for the suspicion. These bootleggers would use the government alcohol as quickly as they would some of their own creation. It is barely possible that some of this errant stuff may have been marketed as Scotch whisky.

PERILS OF PEACE

There is said to be a line-up of artillery salesmen in front of the Riffian camp at all hours. Some of the military equipment used against the French is suspected to have originally come from France. The business of peddling arms and ammunition is profitable and all peoples appear eager to embark in it. Most of the revolutions and embroilments of the world have been made possible through the simplicity of the trade in arms—even when called illicit. One-half of the world is not only ready but eager to furnish the other half with the bloody implements of war—which may the next day be turned upon themselves.

THE COOLIDGE WALK

A social note from the environment of the summer White House comments on the lithe and graceful stride of Mrs. Coolidge in her daily rambles. The motor car has almost killed off all the old-fashioned joy of walking. People nowadays cannot even go to the corner delicatessen shop without getting out the family juggernaut. They have entirely forgotten that walking develops grace, power and endurance. If Mrs. Coolidge can encourage the women of America to a return to pedestrianism she will furnish an example of her illustrious husband. The first lady of the land is showing her sisters how to walk—and do it gracefully.

A POLITICAL PILGRIM

"Something more than a burning interest in giant power regulation," comments the Philadelphia Public Ledger editorially, "takes Gov. Pinchot to the farthest West. His speech at Portland yesterday carries his political feud against Secretary Mellon and the Coolidge administration to the Oregon coast. It is evident that the Governor has an eye on the future, is making a national political pilgrimage."

The present speaking tour of the Pennsylvania Governor has occasioned critical comment in several parts of the country. In his home State the opposition press maintains that he is easing his feet into the shoes left vacant by the death of Senator La Follette. Possessed of that ambition, which "rises earlier than virtue and retires later than vice," Gov. Pinchot has shoved two irons into the political furnace. He has designs on the toga of Senator Pepper and he seeks to create a division in Republican ranks, to discredit the present administration, with the ultimate purpose of capturing the Republican Presidential nomination in 1928.

Many things will happen during the next three years; and Pinchot apparently imagines that among these will be something to destroy the present popularity of President Coolidge. He is beginning a Presidential campaign a bit early; but the Pinchot ambition gives him no rest.

Fifteen years ago power conservation was used as a political issue by the so-called Progressives. Pinchot talked the loudest and made the most extravagant charges against those who were harnessing the water power then going to waste and delivering it in the form of hydroelectric energy to agriculture and industry. If he had had his way the headwaters of the San Joaquin would still be flowing undisturbed into San Francisco Bay and the giant power development of the Edison company would never have taken place. The white fuel that is making Los Angeles one of the leading industrial districts of the United States would still be going to waste.

Pinchot's conservation plans meant keeping the coal and oil in the earth and leaving the mountain streams unharnessed. The use that has been made of these products has convinced the West that the Pinchot plan was wrong; but Pinchot does not yet seem to have found it out. Or, perhaps, he has sensed something of this, for, according to the Public Ledger, "he is interested in giant power regulation, disavowing any aims of public ownership, though that disavowal is being greeted with doubts. Just now he is more interested in the political map than anything else. Hence this Pinchot pilgrimage from the Atlantic to the Pacific, which is not taken in the interests of the Coolidge administration."

Judging from reports from Pennsylvania, Gov. Pinchot's political star is on the wane. He has lost the greater part of the support of the country districts that gave him a gubernatorial nomination and he must do something to retrieve his political fortunes, else he will pass into what Cleveland termed "innocuous desuetude" at the end of his present term.

But it is exceedingly doubtful whether Gov. Pinchot will find anything in the West with which to bolster up his political fortunes in Pennsylvania. He is wandering far afield, but one wonders what he expects to carry back. His attitude toward the President and Secretary Mellon will certainly not enhance his popularity on the Pacific Coast.

He once basked in the reflected light of the great Roosevelt. But when that sun passed below the horizon Pinchot, along with most of the other Roosevelt lieutenants, became lost in the deepening political gloom. His chance winning of the nomination for Governor in Pennsylvania gave rise to hopes that, at present, appear far from fruition.

WARNING THE CROOKS

An advertising campaign against criminality is being carried on in New York by Barron G. Collier, Special Deputy Police Commissioner of that city, as a result of the success of his safety campaign, which, it is estimated, saves hundreds of lives every year. The advertisements are cleverly written and are right to the point. As he rides in New York now the crook or the potential criminal may read the warning, "You Can't Win," in the subway, on the L, in every surface car and in all the commuters' trains. The warning sentence is printed on a series of cards, one of which depicts also the figure of a policeman, with gun in hand, ready to nab the offender who is represented as a hold-up man, dropping his loot and blackjack. The last card of the series shows four silhouettes against a blank wall—the chaplain with open prayer book, the criminal, the electric chair and, in the rear of the procession, the dominant figure of the policeman. There is no text save the poignant caption, "You Can't Win!"

On each card the "can't" strikes sharply. It is printed in large, bold-faced capital italics and is heavily underlined in black. One card, under the "You-Can't-Win" heading, gives the information, "The cleverest stick-up in New York police history is now old and broken, with twenty years to serve in Sing Sing." On another card which warns the crook that he can't win appears the words "13,000 police are sworn to get you—alive or dead!"

These advertisements are calculated to make the man contemplating a crime rather thoughtful. As he gets out of the car and walks along the street he is likely to repeat again and again "You can't win," and the psychology of this repetition, along with that of the many other reminders, constitutes a powerfully suggestive force to turn the man away from the act he has thought to commit.

The cards, eighteen in number, give the positive and negative arguments of the case against the criminal. Some of them are addressed to the young man who has become enamored of the life of a crook by the glamour of romance which it wears for the unthinking. There are also cards which show him how strong are the police and how weak he is by comparison. These cards also have for their object the breeding of greater respect for and appreciation of the police in the minds of the people of New York.

The adoption of this means of reducing the number of crimes shows one thing very plainly, and that is that shrewd students of the nature of the criminal, who is seldom better than a moron, have come to the conclusion, rightly or wrongly, that the moral appeal is of small use in dealing with persons of so little real mentality and that the most effective way to get at them is through fear. By beating it into their heads that they can't win—that a career of crime is bound to land them in the meshes of the law—it is to be hoped that thousands may be dissuaded from the commission of criminal acts.

THE SUMMER GIRL

Dainty and cool in their light, breezy, almost diaphanous street costumes the sweet girls that flutter along Broadway these hot summer days are more refreshing to gaze upon than a tall glass of iced ginger ale. The Los Angeles summer girl is known and admired the world over. Tourists say there is none to compare with her elsewhere on the planet. There are a few that say she is audaciously clothed. This is because she dons no more drapery than is actually necessary, but her outfit always is modest, and certainly is most becoming, from her trim little hat down to her white or tan Oxfords.

Probably the more clinging costume of former years could not safely have been made of such gauzy material as that to which the present straight-line fashion so charmingly lends itself. But the old-timer is not likely to look upon the abbreviated skirt and frankly displayed hose of this day as audacious, for he will remember the "shadow skirt" of the late '90's which, though pretty generally worn, called forth hot denunciation from the prudes.

Still the artist complains that the outfit of the modern summer girl is not topped by headgear that is as acceptable as the old straw "sailors" and the picture Gainsboroughs of bygone years. The modern cloche, helmet and duckbill effects, with the severe brimless backs, probably are not as artistic as the others mentioned, but the girls say that "they go better with bobbed hair;" also that they frame the face more becomingly, and that settles it.

Up-to-date American girls—and there are few others—may be counted upon to wear anything they please. Here and there, quite sporadically, some of them are said to have adopted the daring Parisian stockingless idea, but the great majority view this innovation askance, and one may rest assured that whatever propaganda is being put forth in its favor does not come from the hose makers.

THE SHORTCOMINGS

Those who find fault with our colleges complain that they do not inculcate good English or a decent respect for it. They assert we have no standards of diction or pronunciation. Only two or three of the big colleges make a distinct effort to regulate the flow of student speech and make it mellow and correct.

British success in world contacts and commerce is held by one writer to be due to the splendid respect the Englishman has for his own language. He makes it impressive by reason of his accurate and proper usage. He makes it mean something. Another famous educator criticises the output of American colleges as being overspecialized and professionalized. He says that the trouble with a college education today is the drift to centralization. It teaches men how to make a living rather than how to live.

The chemistry department, for instance, teaches men how to make money by chemistry rather than how to make life more livable by chemistry. The college should promote better citizenship and direct the thought of the nation. Specialized and technical educations do not broaden the citizen into leadership.

A man learns his specialty—and not much else. Specialization in theology produces the preacher who is more concerned with the petty dogmas of his denomination than with the broad field of better living. Too many doctors are taught to specialize in drugs rather than attempt to clean up disease at its source. Our college men have studied in but one field and have absorbed no general knowledge. To be able to speak and write absolutely correct English and to have a certain ken of history, literature and the arts make for better character and citizenship. We are overspecialized.

OLD INNS

"There is nothing," wrote Dr. Samuel Johnson, "which has yet been contrived by man by which so much happiness is produced as by a good tavern or inn."

No other statement of the learned doctor's so much reveals his personality. To him the inn was the symbol of man's success in civilizing himself. Dr. Johnson despised country life. He loved the city people, conversation, good food and his tankard of ale. All of these things that made life supportable to him had their focal point in the taproom of his favorite inn.

Dr. Johnson's inn has passed. The inns of England are rapidly disappearing.

Here in California the modern god, Economics, has slain the inn. The great modern hotels, with their spacious rooms, offer a variety of life, a richness of contact, which the taverns and inns never gave.

The imagination must grasp the old inn to appreciate what Dr. Johnson felt and knew regarding the old taverns.

Just About It
by James J. Montague

THE SAFE RULE

When I was young my parents said
  The way to build up muscle
And make my blood both rich and red
  Was to get out and hustle.
They told me that the idle oaf
  Who does whate'er he pleases,
And likes to sit around and loaf
  Gets all the worst diseases.

And almost they persuaded me
  To join the laboring faction,
And go out in the world to be
  A man of stir and action;
To hustle after fame and pelf,
  And get them very quickly—
And thereby wisely save myself
  From being weak and sickly.

But toiling very soon I found
  Exceedingly distressful,
And so I never got around
  To make myself successful.
And now as I sit down to read
  The words of a physician,
I'm very glad I did not heed
  My parents' admonition.

He says that hustling breaks down health,
  And he would not advise it,
For no one climbs to fame or wealth
  Who rushes forth and tries it.
And though I'm what the boys call "thick"
  And somewhat flabby muscled,
I've never been the least bit sick—
  Because I've never hustled.

WHAT THINK YOU?

By the Foothill Philosopher

What you think may matter little, excepting as it affects your personal happiness. That which you know may count for much, provided you can impart your knowledge to those who could benefit by it.

It may be that many of the fairy stories which we discarded when the door of childhood closed upon us may one day be found to contain great truths and that many of our present conceptions of truth will be found to be only fairy tales.

I may believe that there is no truth in that which another believes, but so long as I only believe him to be mistaken his opinion is as valuable or as valueless as mine.

LETTERS TO The Times

National Defense

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As the representative of the commanding general, Ninth Corps Area, for Los Angeles and vicinity, I wish to thank you in his name and on behalf of the War Department for the splendid co-operation of yourself and the staff of the Los Angeles Times in making known to the citizens of Southern California the purpose of the second Defense Test, July 4, 1925.

Unless our citizens understand the nature and democratic character of our peace-time defense forces and have some knowledge of how they may be expanded, housed, fed, clothed and trained in time of a national emergency there is little hope that the mistakes of the past may be avoided should we again find it necessary to defend ourselves.

Thanks to the co-operation of the Los Angeles Times, we feel that the citizens of Southern California today have a much better understanding of the plans which have been made for our national defense and that The Times has very ably demonstrated its preparedness for national defense by its part in the second National Defense Test.

GEORGE F. HAMILTON,
Colonel, Cav. (FA) D.O.L.

Are Russians People?

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your editorial of July 10 under the heading "Isolated Russia" you have confused the "Russian people" with the "Bolsheviks," making the former responsible for the acts of the latter.

Russia, that is, the peasants, workers and the remnant of the intelligentsia who have not been butchered, is one thing, while a band of international criminals, murderers, thieves and bandits, headed by Trotzky, Stalin and Zinovieff, is an entirely different thing. Then, again, the Russian people are one thing, while a handful of scoundrels, who have seized the power, with the aid of a foreign country, and who are holding forth by means of a mad terror, is altogether different.

It would seem that a serious paper like The Times should look more carefully into matters of such vital political importance and not confuse these two definitions. In other words, the Bolsheviks should not be regarded as the Russian people.

HELLMAN IS CHOSEN NEW BOARD HEAD

Question of Pensions for All City Employees to be Given Consideration

Irving H. Hellman yesterday was elected president of the new Board of Pension Commissioners, at its organization meeting and Col. Walter P. Story was elected vice-president. L. V. McCardle was appointed secretary and general manager of the department. The board will hold its meetings the second and fourth Thursday of each month at 11:30 a.m. at Room 201, north annex, City Hall. The other members of the commission are Mrs. J. O. Colwell, Joseph Crider, Jr., and Arthur R. Kinkel.

The board was known under the old charter as the Board of Police and Fire Pension Commissioners, but under the new charter was given supervision over pensions for all city employees. There is now no pension system for employees other than those in the fire and police department, and the preparation for submission to the voters next year of a pension plan for all city employees was one of the duties given the commission by the new charter. The board yesterday appointed Victor Montgomery, a well-known actuary, to prepare a pension plan, showing its exact cost. This plan must be completed and filed with the Council not later than December 31. It then must be submitted to the voters for approval at an early election next year.

SUICIDE TRIAL MAY BE FATAL

Little Hope for Recovery of Charles Gore Held

Carpenters' Council Agent Shoots Himself

Bullet Victim Suffering from Ill Health

Surgeons of the General Hospital late yesterday afternoon advanced little hope for the recovery of Charles R. (Red) Gore, business agent of the District Council of Carpenters, who attempted suicide in his home at 2433 Bates street, yesterday morning. Gore shot himself directly beneath the heart.

According to police detectives who made an investigation, Gore was suffering from ill health and was despondent. He underwent an operation a number of months ago and never fully recovered, according to his family.

Yesterday morning while Mrs. Gore, her daughter, Mrs. Lyle Hornbeck, and Murray E. Richardson, a family friend, were in the back yard of the Gore residence Gore rose from his bed and, securing a revolver, shot himself. He was at once removed to the Receiving Hospital, and later transferred to the General Hospital.

UNDERWENT OPERATION

Gore underwent an operation for appendicitis and an intestinal ailment three months ago. He came out of the operation in good shape, but realized, as he is said to have told his closest friend, Murray E. Richardson, 6451½ Santa Monica Boulevard, an executive of the Studio Mechanics' Alliance, that his mind was affected and that he felt himself slipping.

Dr. C. C. Reynolds, Chief Police Surgeon Goodrich, former Police Surgeon Schurtleff and others had been consulted regarding his ailment and hope was held out for his full recovery by them, it was stated.

FRIEND SUMMONED

Richardson and Mrs. Gore were in the back yard and Mrs. Hornbeck, Gore's daughter, was at the side of the house when a shot was heard in Gore's bedroom. Richardson had been summoned by Mrs. Gore, as Gore was observed to be in low spirits.

At the Receiving Hospital Police Surgeon Dorn said Gore evidently attempted to fire a shot into his heart, but had missed instant death, the bullet entering below the seventh rib.

Detectives Neece and Page of Hollywood were first on the scene.

MAN HELD ON CHARGE OF POSING AS RANCHER

S. E. Lewis was held for trial in Superior Court under $1500 bail yesterday by Justice Blake on charges of impersonating another to obtain money by false pretenses. It is charged Lewis entered the store of Halbriter's, Inc., and there represented himself as V. E. Bialock, a wealthy rancher of Arizona. He obtained clothing valued at $322 from the store and gave a check in payment.

MOTHER-IN-LAW'S VERSION

We very seldom hear from mother-in-law in these columns. We hear from her sons and daughters-in-law often enough—and I am then often inclined to defend her.

I know so many nice mothers-in-law myself that I find it difficult to believe the wholesale calumnies against them. But the lady who writes to me today appears to be a bitter—and I hope, an exceptional—specimen.

"My son," she writes, "was snared into this marriage. The girl is shrewd, selfish, slovenly and neglects their three children shamefully. She has ruined my son's health, wasted his money, and makes no proper home for him. She is way beneath him socially and it makes me shudder when she calls me 'mother' before people. Am I to stand by and let her kill my son?

"The obvious remedy is for my son to divorce her, put the children in some good institution, and come back to his mother, let me nurse him back to health and happiness and try to wipe out the effects of this dreadful marriage upon his health and character.

HIS WIFE DOMINATES HIM

"But my son is absolutely dominated by her. He is afraid to be nice to his own mother for fear of offending that wife. He always stands up for her, and will even insult me, when he knows how right I am and what a selfish, low creature his wife is . . . ."

There is the dreadful recital—there are pages of it. It makes one feel utterly heartsick.

And first, it is so difficult to believe that a girl who has born three children to a man in five years could be utterly "shrewd and selfish." Shrewd and selfish women don't have three babies in five years. Yet this mother implies that her daughter-in-law did just this—from purely selfish motives!

And then those three children. Grandma does not seem to include her son's children in this deep and anxious affection. They, forsooth, are merely to be put into "some good institution." She is not at all anxious to make up to them for their alleged dreadful mother and her neglect of them.

IMPROPER ATTITUDE

Another item that curiously antagonizes my sympathies—"she is way beneath him socially and it makes me shudder when she calls me 'mother' before people."

Snobbery . . . but daughter-in-law has tried to call her "mother," perhaps, even, to win her maternal sympathy, only to be snubbed cruelly.

One can't help wondering just how much mother-in-law has really done to try to make her son's home happy, to win the affection of her son's wife, to improve the lot of her grandchildren . . .

Mother-in-law, Mother-in-law, your power for good might have been so precious. You have lost the chance now. You can never replace this harsh, critical bitterness with fond affection—it is too late, you have given and created nothing but venom in that household. Of course, I do not believe that your son's wife has ruined your son's health—but it could easily be possible that you, in your mistaken zeal for him, have created a condition that must affect any man's health and nerves. If he was ill before you have done nothing to restore him.

And how can you talk so glibly of "divorce"—in the face of your son's honorable stand for his wife and children? Did you really suppose that, on the evidence of your bitter and one-sided letter, I would support you in any such contention?

Oh, I don't want to be a scold. Perhaps there is just some little justification for you, perhaps your heart is broken, too. Perhaps the cruelty of your letter is the outcome of this . . . It is a matter to be prayed over, in humility, in love, with all your heart and all your soul—for guidance to do what is right or else forever hold your peace.

AQUEDUCT REPAIR JOB NEARS END

Break Patched Up so That Fresh Water Now is Flowing Into City's Reservoirs

The break in the Aqueduct caused by cloudbursts in the mountains has been repaired to an extent that fresh water is now flowing into the city's reservoirs and in a very few days the bad taste should disappear from water taken from taps in any part of the city, it was learned yesterday at the Bureau of Water and Power. William Mulholland, head of the water bureau, is now at the Aqueduct superintending the repair work.

The bad taste to the water in many parts of the city, officials of the water bureau explain, is due to the low level in the reservoirs as a result of the temporary shut-off of flow from the Aqueduct. It is declared, however, that the water is not unhealthful and the whole affair is considered an unfortunate incident due to an unexpected and unavoidable accident. When the water in the reservoir reaches a low level the water is not good to drink, but yet is not harmful, say the chemists and bacteriologists employed by the water bureau.

While no reports of sickness from the water have been reported, the companies selling bottled spring or artesian water are aware of the difficulty. They have been swamped with orders. The telephone company has put on eight extra girls to take calls off of the lines of one company and to inform the persons calling that that company is taking no orders. Otherwise the line would have been swamped so that ordinary business could not have been transacted over it.

Free artesian water to all who come to get it and bring their own containers is the astonishing announcement of another company—the "Sparkletts" brand of drinking water. This company is building a bottling plant, which is not yet in operation, and from 80,000 to 100,000 gallons of water a day are going to waste at 4516 York Boulevard, one block from the intersection of York and Eagle Rock Boulevards. The company has put in taps so that persons who bring bottles can have all the water they want until the bottling plant is finished and the water put on the market.

WILL SING OF IRELAND

Rev. F. J. O'Donohue, Singer-Priest, to Give Concert, Lecture

Irish lore and Irish song will be the features of a combined concert and illustrated lecture on "Ireland of Today," to be presented in Knights of Columbus Auditorium next Friday night by the noted singer-priest, Rev. F. J. O'Donohue of County Leitrim, Ireland. The entertainment, under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, is for the benefit of the work of the Sisters of Mercy of Ireland in the construction of hospitals and schools.

County President Herlihy, who is chairman of the committee on arrangements, will preside. Joseph Scott will deliver a short address.

Father O'Donohue will present several groups of songs representative of various phases and ages in Irish history and will also deliver a lecture illustrated with stereoptican slides on the industrial and economic life in Ireland.

ACTOR OVERCOME IN DARING FILM "RESCUE"

William Russell, motion-picture actor, was overcome by heat and collapsed yesterday while enacting a stirring screen rescue on the lot at Universal City. The actor was carrying a woman down a ladder from a burning building when he was overcome and plunged ten feet to the ground. The woman saved herself by hanging on to the ladder. Russel was revived by physicians and resumed work.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

The "Gentlemen First" prize dances which Eddie Brandstatter is staging at his Hollywood Montmartre Cafe are proving very popular. Thus far there have been two couples, Clara Bow and John Harron, and Shannon Day and Rex Lease, who have won prizes and qualified to enter the grand finals which will be held within the next few weeks. Instead of the prizes being awarded only to the women, Brandstatter has arranged with Billie Woolf to present a merchandise trade order to the masculine winner, with his partner being awarded a cup. The third of the series will be held this evening and many reservations have been made by prominent film folk who have entered the contests.

Brandstatter arranged to present the series of "Gentlemen First" dances because he felt that the time was opportune to demonstrate that the man who won a prize dance was entitled to some glory and consideration, although the onlookers probably had eyes only for the feminine dancer. Vince Rose has arranged a special musical program.

MISS HURLOCK DANCE JUDGE

Beautiful Madeline Hurlock of the Mack Sennett studio, is to be guest of honor tonight at the Greenwich Village Cafe in the Christie Hotel, Hollywood. Miss Hurlock is said to be one of the best-dressed women in pictures and her creations have won the admiration and envy of almost every woman. The motion pictures filmed of the cafe audience last Saturday night are to be shown on a portable screen again tonight for the last time. R. M. Like, president of the Cinemagraph Film Laboratories, has colored the film and due to the excellence of the Creco lights, it is reported to be very clear and beautiful. The splendid refrigerating system maintains low temperatures for the diners and dancers. Miss Hurlock will judge the usual Friday night dancing contest and the first prize will be a merchandise order from Schwab's exclusive Hollywood Shop, catering to the public as well as the film people.

COATLESS DINING, DANCING

"Coatless Dining and Dancing" is the new slogan of the Ship Cafe at Venice during the warmer weather and Ward McFadden is planning to stage dancing contests with special prizes for the most jazzy shirts worn by masculine devotees of Terpsichore. Silken shirts will be offered as prizes. The new policy is bringing out all shades and hues of shirtings, made with novelty pleatings, tucks and frills which have previously been hidden under the coat and vest. Commodore McFadden has augmented his beverage list to include practically every sort of soft drink, fruit punch and other thirst coolers. The new ventilating system recently installed at the Ship is now working to perfection, McFadden states, in co-operation with the sea breezes of the Pacific.

POPULAR PAVILION

The torrid temperature of the past few days has sent the public to the parks and beaches for relief. At the Westlake Park pavilion on a beautiful plaza overlooking the lake, delicious meals are served while cooling breezes from the water make one comfortable. After 8 o'clock an orchestra from a pontoon on the lake renders music for the diners, as well as the boating and canoeing enthusiasts who flock to popular Westlake at this season of the year.

FISH GOOD SUMMER FOOD

Fish should have a prominent place on the summer diet list, according to Mrs. Klemtner, manager of Klemtner's Marine Yacht on South Spring street, who claims that medical authorities assert that less meat and more fish and seafoods should be eaten during the summer months. The Marine is specializing on both fish and meat at the daily popular-price luncheons, as well as on the regular bill of fare. Special warm-weather novelties are greatly in demand at this popular Spring-street house.

SEBASTIAN'S ENTERTAINERS

Johnny Marshall, well known in vaudeville circles, and Cliff Eddy, famous song writer and composer, who is featuring some of his original numbers, have joined the staff of entertainers who are proving so popular at Frank Sebastian's Cafe Venice. Sebastian's is noted as having one of the coolest dining-rooms in Southern California. Dorsey's Famous Five are still producing dance music par excellence, until the wee sma' hours.

PHOENIX TOO TORRID FOR RATE QUERY

Session Called There on Freight Schedule Adjourns to Local Temperate Zone

It was too hot in Phoenix Wednesday for the Interstate Commerce Commission to begin its scheduled hearings on asserted excessive freight rates for cotton-seed products, so the session immediately was adjourned to Los Angeles, where it got under way yesterday. And when Examiner Paul O. Carter called the hearing to order in the local offices of the State Railroad Commission, counsel sighed in relief and vouched for the relative coolness of the local climate.

The hearings are a result of complaints brought against twenty-one railroads operating through Arizona and California, which are alleged to be charging excessive and unfair rates on cotton-seed products in interstate shipments from these two States. The products include cotton-seed oil, meal and cake. The complainants assert that rates from Texas and Oklahoma on similar shipments are lower, prejudicing local commerce. Reparation is asked on California and Arizona shipments made during the past two years where the amounts have been excessive.

The complainants in the case are the California Cotton Oil Company, Mutual Cotton and Oil Company, San Diego Oil Products Corporation, Globe Cotton Oil Mills, San Joaquin Cotton Oil Company, Western Cotton Oil Company, Arizona Cotton Oil Company, Independent Cotton and Oil Company and J. A. Harris.

Beach Leaders Assert Hotel Plan Feasible

Following a hearing which the State Corporation Department called yesterday to reopen investigation on the application of the Castilian Hotel Company to sell $2,500,000 worth of stock in a Long Beach hotel project the case was taken under advisement.

Officials of the company asked the department for a quick decision in the case as it was said options on property at the beach city where the proposed hotel will be built must be taken up by August 15. Before that time the concern must raise $594,000 to secure the land, it was said.

It is proposed by the company to erect a $4,000,000 hotel at Long Beach facing directly on the ocean and to contain approximately 450 rooms. A number of prominent citizens of the beach city were called to testify as to the feasibility of erecting another first-class hotel there. Among them were Frank Merriam, speaker in the Assembly, President Burmester of the Chamber of Commerce and Former Mayor Downs who expressed the opinion that Long Beach could well afford another hotel.

RANGERS BUILD CABIN IN PRECIPICIO CANYON

Work on a new cabin in Precipicio Canyon will be finished this week-end by a party of more than 100 Western Rangers, who will carry lumber down to the site. The party is to be in charge of Carl Sharsmith and Charles Perlee, assistants to Harry C. James, chief of the Western Rangers. Leaving the Ranger clubhouse Friday afternoon at 1:30, the group will return late Sunday afternoon. This is the first of a series of week-end hikes to be taken during the summer. A small party of boys are at work today on the Rangers' cabin at Lake Arrowhead, which is being financed by the Los Angeles Optomists' Club.

SUBDEB ENTERTAINS AT TEA

Classmates at Marlborough Guests

[Snyder Photo for National Illustrated News Syndicate]

Miss Betty Worthington

ONE of the most popular members of the younger set is Miss Betty Worthington, the charming young subdeb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Worthington of Kingsley Drive, who entertained more than 100 of her young Marlborough classmates at an elaborate tea recently.

Miss Worthington was assisted by Miss Ella Sandberg, Miss Mary Sandberg, Miss Marjorie Hill, Miss Crilla Kerr, Miss Gertrude Murphy and Miss Virginia Davis.

a luncheon and bridge party in honor of Mrs. Frank McM. Sawyer of Miami, Fla. The other guests will include Mrs. E. A. Doran, Mrs. James Edward Haley, Mrs. M. M. Mayberry, Mrs. C. S. Joyce, Mrs. M. H. Cass, Mrs. Frederick Gros, Mrs. Emmanuel Jungquist, Mrs. Russell Sutherlin, Mrs. John Sutherlin of New Orleans, Miss Ethel Ball and Miss Elizabeth Sawyer.

Honors Visitors

One of the enjoyable affairs of the week was the luncheon at the Mary Louise Tuesday afternoon given by the Southern California Western College Club in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stillman Kelly. Mr. Kelly conducted his own composition at the Hollywood Bowl last week and Mrs. Kelly is president of the National Music Federation of America, and has held a professorship for the past fourteen years at West College of Oxford, O.

Church Wedding

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Anne Masters to Emil Jogn Hansen in the Church of the Angeles Saturday morning. Miss Helen Masters assisted as maid of honor, while Kenneth Byerly was best man. A wedding supper for relatives and close friends followed at the Mary Louise. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hansen will make their home at The Regent.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Why Take a Chance?

Clean the garment with gasoline in the great out of doors. Why take any chances when the job is perfectly safe, if done outside in the air?

Buy the Best

A good grade of bluing is a necessary protection for your clothes. Some of the cheaper grades of blue make rust spots on the clothes if the soap is not entirely washed out.

A Dainty Stiffener

If you like a little stiffening in fine linens and silks dissolve two ounces of gum arabic in a pint of hot water. Use in the proportion of two tablespoonfuls to two quarts of water.

White Hosiery

Cold water and white suds and a dark place to dry means keeping the white silk stockings really white. They are so ugly when yellowed and this precaution should be taken. If washed after each wearing it is not difficult to get the soil out with the colder water.

REASONABLE IDEAS

Work for the best and let hoping for the best be a side issue.

Those who like solitude are strong in its defense, but it never convinces the sociable.

If you take advice take it from a successful man—who seldom gives it.

Our best freedom is that which we snatch from habit.

Man probably gets most of his laughs from his reasoning powers.

It is pretty hard to lighten monotony with philosophy.

No one really scoffs at public opinion. It is always relentless.

Invariably agreeing with people makes no more friends than invariably disagreeing with them.

Young philosophers are usually dead-set in their views, and later learn to present them amiably.—[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

CORRECT

A teacher was explaining the meaning of different words and phrases used in connection with public buildings, but before each explanation she would call for volunteer explanations from the class.

"Does anyone know the meaning of a niche in a church?"

A moment of silence was followed by one little lad, who felt certain he had the correct idea, offering his help.

The teacher's dignity received a severe strain when Willie said:

"A niche in a church is the same as any 'itch,' but can't be scratched."—[Forbes Magazine.

DIARRHEA IN BABIES (No. 2)

(If you missed yesterday's paper and can't get it, send your request and self-addressed stamped envelope to me, in care of this paper.)

Most children specialists advise a good dose of castor oil when it is certain the baby has diarrhea. (Do not consider one slightly loose stool an evidence unless there are other symptoms.) A teaspoonful for the baby of a few months, and after that a tablespoonful. It flows better from a warm spoon.

I'll repeat the precaution I gave yesterday.

If the diarrhea is a sudden and bloody diarrhea, accompanied by violent vomiting and evidence of pain in the abdomen (drawing up of the legs, etc.,) do not under any conditions give castor oil or any other cathartic. It is imperative in this case to get in touch with your physician, for it may mean an acute obstruction in the bowels, which a cathartic would make worse. Call your physician's attention to all the points I have mentioned, and any other symptoms. These cases are usually surgical.

There are four main types of diarrhea: Mechanical, fermentative, putrefactive, infective. We spoke of the mechanical type yesterday.

FERMENTATIVE DIARRHEA

Fermentative diarrhea is due to the fermentation of the sugars and the starches and usually occurs when these are given in too great quantities. Although sometimes when the top milks are used and the formulas are rich in fat, the fat may cause the diarrhea first and then there is a fermentation of the sugar afterward. These fermentative diarrheas are the most common diarrhea.

The bowel movements are very acid, foamy and watery, and make the babies very much inflamed and chafed. Don't use water, but wipe off with a little pure oil and powder lightly with some pure talcum powder after each movement.

In the treatment of this kind of diarrhea you must cut out all of the sugar (and gruels, if you are using them in the formula) until the movements are normal for three days. It is also best to cut down the milk in the formula. One-third milk and two-thirds water, boiled together, is not too weak for the younger babies. Babies who have had a stronger formula than one-half milk and one-half water can have the half-and-half mixture. Boil the water first, then add the milk and boil three minutes, stirring all the time. After the diarrhea stops gradually increase the milk and sugar to what it was before. Perhaps you will have to keep up boiling the milk and water together for some time. Diluted orange juice or tomato juice will supply the vitamins lost.

Irrigation of the bowels once a day with warm water with a teaspoonful of baking soda to the pint is a valuable help in cleaning the bowels.

PUTREFACTIVE

Young babies, especially nursing babies, seldom have putrefactive diarrhea. In this type the bowel movement instead of smelling very sour as they do in the fermentative type, are very foul. This is a more severe type, usually, than the fermentative, so the baby is more severely affected. It is due to putrefaction in the intestines. As it is the protein part of the diet that is subject to putrefaction, you can see that the thing to do is to take out the protein from the diet for a while. The milk will have to be stopped. A twelve-hour period of starvation, giving nothing but warm, plain boiled unsweetened water every hour is advisable. Follow this with barley, oatmeal or farina gruel.

If baby is weak and undernourished you can put it directly on the gruel. It may not be necessary to use the gruel longer than twenty-four hours. Two days may be necessary, but in small babies or with babies under four months it should not be used longer than that. Even in strong or well-nourished babies it is not considered wise to use it longer than four days.

Sometimes when the baby has diarrhea and it does not respond to the plain one-third milk and water boiled together, such as we told you to give for the fermentative diarrhea, then the gruel treatment can be tried. Porter and Carter advise some milk sugar boiled in this gruel mixture (one and one-half ounces; this would make four and one-half level tablespoonfuls in the full-strength mixture.) This would make the formula have more food value and would be better for the babies who are undernourished.

DOCTOR HELD IN DOPE CASE

Dr. L. T. A. Hotten, Declared Known Among Addicts as "Shylock," Jailed by Agents

Tales circulated among the dope-ridden denizens of the underworld of the cruelty of a drug peddler who exacted from them Shylock's proverbial pound of flesh caused a far-reaching investigation and yesterday, according to Narcotic Agent De Spain, resulted in the arrest of Dr. Louis T. A. Hotten in his office at 624 South Olive street.

Following his arrest, Dr. Hotten made a dramatic appeal for his freedom, asserting that he could not stand jail life.

His arrest came, according to Agent De Spain, after government operatives had made three separate purchases of morphine at prices said to be far in excess of usual rates charged by peddlers. The suspect is charged with violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act. He is asserted to have sold eight cubes of drug for $20 in three transactions.

THREE OFFICES

Information in the hands of the government agents, De Spain said, shows that the doctor not only exacted high fees for dope, but on two occasions forced the addicts to part with a watch and a contract to purchase groceries at wholesale prices. Other reports are being investigated, the agents said.

During the past few weeks, according to De Spain, Dr. Hotten has maintained offices at 306 South Figueroa street and at 1208 East Second street.

The furnishings of his office at 624 South Olive street, where he was taken into custody, the agents said, consisted solely of a desk, in which they found a quantity of narcotics.

CONVICTION CITED

Information has been received here, Agent De Spain said, that Dr. Hotten was convicted of a charge of violating the Harrison Act in Salt Lake City in 1918.

The suspect admitted, De Spain stated, that he formerly practiced in Salt Lake City.

The raid on Dr. Hotten's office was made by Agent De Spain and Agents Brght and Monroy.

Dr. Hotten was arraigned before United States Commissioner Turney, and his bond was set at $5000 for examination today at 10 a.m. In default of bail he was remanded to jail.

DIVORCE FOR MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Parent and Girl Married at Same Time and Given Decree Together

In the Bonde and Chaddick families they do things this way: When one gets married they all get married and when one gets a divorce they all get divorces.

Mrs. Bertie B. Bonde is Mrs. Marguerite Christina Chaddick's mother. On March 4, 1923, they married Samuel Bonde and Basil E. Chaddick, respectively, in Kansas City, Mo.

Yesterday they obtained divorces from their husbands after hearings before Judge Gates.

Mrs. Bonde said her husband got along all right with her, but he could not co-ordinate his views with those of her six children. Mrs. Chaddick related that her husband, whom she described as an artist, had one insuperable failing. He simply would not support her, she declared.

Mother and daughter shared the legal services of Attorney Llewellyn F. Marsh.

Plans Laid to Safeguard Elk Orphan Guests

Careful plans have been made to insure the safety of 300 orphans who will be guests of the Elks of Los Angeles tomorrow at Seal Beach.

Chief of Police Heath has detailed men to close traffic on Boyle avenue at the Los Angeles Orphanage while the children are being loaded into cars and at Seventh and Main streets when they alight to enter special Pacific Electric trains.

Fire Chief Scott has detailed members of the rescue squad to accompany the children. Physicians and nurses with field hospital equipment have been furnished by Chief Surgeon Goodrich of the Receiving Hospital and a dozen life guards will watch over the kiddies while they are in the surf.

The only danger is from stomach ache which, owing to the Elks' generosity, may be serious.

George I. Cochran, president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, and an active leader in civic work here, was elected member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Mr. Cochran will succeed Paul G. Hoffman, who resigned to go east as vice-president of the Studebaker Corporation.

Mr. Cochran also will succeed Mr. Hoffman as chairman of two important committees of the chamber, the highways and the city and county planning committees.

The announcement of Mr. Cochran's election as a director was made by R. W. Pridham, president of the chamber.

CITY OFFICIALS TO BE SCOUT CAMP GUESTS

This evening, around a huge camp fire, the Scouts will present a burlesque of a session of the Council relative to policy in the increase of playgrounds.

M'DONALD'S WIFE HALED INTO COURT

Attorney Declares Mate Disposed of Painting as Divorce Action Pends

Mrs. Beatrice Lenore McDonald was haled into Judge Gates's court yesterday on charges of her husband, Attorney Frank McDonald, that she disposed of an oil painting in violation of a court order giving her custody of personal property pending trial of divorce actions brought by both.

She related that she borrowed $75 from a friend and gave the painting, valued at $200, as a security. That was on June 8, 1924, she said. Being unable to repay the loan before the friend left for the East, she said, she does not know what became of the painting.

At this point, McDonald interrupted to state that he had seen the painting on the wall of Mrs. McDonald's home as lat as June 13, 1924.

Judge Gates did not rule as to whether Mrs. McDonald was in contempt of court, stating that inasmuch as the hearing of the divorce action is set for next Tuesday he will let the trial judge settle the question.

Last July, McDonald and his wife filed separate divorce suits. McDonald named Lieut. J. R. Lannon of the United States Navy. Mrs. McDonald asserted wild parties were given by her husband in their home during her absence. She also charged him with extreme cruelty.

CHILD HURT WHEN AUTO TURNS OVER

Young Boy Near Death; Mother Also Injured by Hollywood Car Plunge

Caught under an automobile when it turned over while coming down a steep grade on Grandview avenue, in the Hollywood foothills, Robert Lewis, Jr., 3 years of age, of 1721 North Berendo avenue, was probably fatally injured shortly before noon yesterday. With his mother, Mrs. Robert Lewis, and Leonard Monta, a chauffeur, he was taken to the hospital of Drs. Dickey & Cass on Hollywood Boulevard.

The boy, surgeons found, was suffering from a punctured lung and other injuries, a stick or rod having been forced through his back. His mother also was badly hurt, having sustained an injury to her left arm which left it temporarily paralyzed. The chauffeur was but slightly hurt, having several bruises and lacerations about the face and arms.

Detectives Puissegur and Blagg, who investigated the accident, found that the car had gotten from control while the chauffeur was negotiating a sharp curve and had plunged over the bank.

Geriwood Home Boys Guests at Club Luncheon

All the boys from the Geriwood Home for Boys were guests of the Civitan Club at its luncheon yesterday at the Biltmore Hotel. They were entertained by F. M. Mitchell, known as "Uncle Josh" from KHJ, and later were taken to the Hillstreet Theater for the afternoon performance. It was a big day in the life of the lads, who are without homes other than the hospitable Geriwood Home, which Arthur Wood has provided for underprivileged boys.

As soon as proper facilities can be provided, these boys will be instructed and trained in that craft to which they are best adapted. The plan, outlined by Wood, contemplates that each boy shall have full benefit of the proceeds from sale of any marketable article produced by him. The money received will be placed in a savings account for the boy.

The Civitan Club is taking an active interest in the Geriwood Home and plans to materially assist Wood in developing the project along the lines indicated.

The company will consist of one captain, one lieutenant, two auto firemen and ten firemen and the money is required to pay their salaries for the rest of the fiscal year.

Attorneys Seek Quick Action in Valhalla Case

Attorneys in the Valhalla Memorial Park trial yesterday were endeavoring to stipulate as to what evidence was admissable from the defense while the court was in recess during the day. They will report this morning to Federal Judge McCormick at 9:30 o'clock.

With prospects of prolonging the trial of the four defendants, John R. Osborne, C. C. Fitzpatrick, C. C. Vaughan and Maynard L. The four defendants are charged with misuse of the mails. The trial opened June 12, last.

After trying vainly to get it out himself, he went for help. Returning at the end of half an hour, he found that strippers had stolen his storage battery, spotlight and electric light globes.

Several thousand dollars were received yesterday by the drive committee in response to letters which have been sent out by the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. All the letters have been signed by R. W. Pridham and W. W. Mines, president of the two bodies, respectively.

Man Comes to City From East to Clear Name

Frank H. Crawford came back voluntarily from Chicago yesterday and succeeded in clearing his name of an imputation of embezzlement. He was complimented on his honesty and informed that the case against him will be dismissed immediately.

Crawford had been charged with the embezzlement of an automobile. He was in Chicago when the news of the charges reached him, and immediately boarded the train. Upon his arrival here, he explained to detectives that he had purchased the car from another man, and that he had received a bill of sale for the machine. He was found to be entirely innocent of wrongdoing.

The improvement, which is to cost almost $4,000,000, includes five streets, several of which will be newly opened thoroughfares.

It is expected to relieve traffic congestion in Hollywood and to open up the central section of the district with three perfect automobile streets.

The principal feature of the program is the opening and widening of Cahuenga avenue straight through from Cahuenga Pass to Melrose avenue and over Cole avenue to Wilshire Boulevard.

Charging C. F. Shelton, said to be the proprietor of an oil station at Forty-eighth Place and Compton avenue, with shooting him through the left cheek, Reuben Scott, a policeman, yesterday filed suit against Shelton for $25,000 damages.

Scott asserted Shelton knew he was a policeman at the time and he declared Shelton shot him without cause or provocation. As a result of the asserted shooting, Scott said, the left side of his face had been scarred, the sight of his left eye affected and the hearing of his left ear impaired. The complaint was prepared by Attorney Willis O. Tyler.

McCORMICK PROMOTED AT STUDIO

Western Representative for First National Appointed General Manager

An announcement from Richard A. Rowland of First National Pictures Corporation states that John McCormick, western representative for the organization, has been elevated to the position of general manager of production on the West Coast.

This gives McCormick one of the most responsible posts in the motion-picture field in the West. In addition to supervising all production for the First National units, McCormick will represent the New York office of First National in its contact with the independent producers.

McCormick is now back at his desk at First National headquarters and has already tightened up on the reins and given a call for full speed ahead on production.

Announcement of the new position McCormick will fill was made public last night at a dinner given for him and Al Rockett by the executives and directorial staff of First National.

McCormick has served First National for five years and has been responsible for many of the productions that have won recognition under that banner.

Immediately upon his return to his desk, McCormick announced that First National's plans for the summer are pretentious and that there will be no let-up on any production schedules. Colleen Moore, wife of McCormick, again is posing before the cameras in Israel Zangwell's "We Moderns." She recently signed a three-year extension to her contract with the First National organization.

FORD MAN SEEKS AIR MAIL LINE

Company's Manager Here Forms Concern to Bid on Western Contracts

B. L. Graves, Los Angeles manager of the Ford Motor Company, yesterday wired Postmaster-General New, reporting the organization of a $500,000 airplane company which wishes to bid on all air mail contracts from Salt Lake City westward.

The company is incorporated as the Western Air Express with stock subscribed by leading Los Angeles and Detroit business men. The telegram stated the company "means business," and requested forms and instructions immediately.

Henry Ford has no interest in the company, Mr. Graves said, but the all-metal monoplane built by the Ford company will be used in the enterprise if contracts are obtained.

Sierras Power Injunction Suit Order Refused

Federal Judge McCormick yesterday issued an order denying petition of the Southern Sierras Power Company, filed March 25, last, for an injunction against the State Railroad Commission to restrain it from enforcing an electric rate-making order, that, the power company charged, was established by order of the commission in September, 1920.

Judge McCormick disagreed with the power company, holding that the company itself fixed the rates effective in September, five years ago, and that the commission merely accepted the rates.

The second point involved was that the power company had not made full application to the commission for a proposed increase in rates and until it had done so and been denied their petition in its present form was not suitable for court controversy.

Workmen Hurt in Plunge From Ship Near Death

Two workmen were probably fatally injured yesterday when a scaffold on the side of the steamer West Prospect collapsed and caused them to plunge sixty feet to the dock below.

The injured men are W. E. Cronin and William Reisinger, shipfitters employed by the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, living at 426 O'Farrell street, San Pedro. The accident occurred at the corporation's dock in Los Angeles Harbor. Cronin suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries, and Reisinger received fractures of both legs and internal injuries.

Both men were given emergency treatment by Police Surgeon Langan of San Pedro and were taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles.

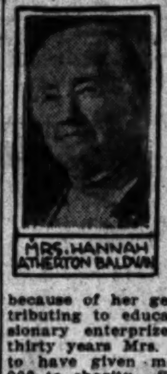
FRIEND OF LINCOLN IS LAID AWAY

Funeral of Mrs. Baldwin, Philanthropist, Conducted at Her Home



MRS. HANNAH ATHERTON BALDWIN

Funeral services for Mrs. Hannah A. Baldwin, philanthropist, and one-time neighbor and personal friend of Abraham Lincoln, were conducted yesterday afternoon at Pierce Brothers' Chapel, 720 West Washington street. Mrs. Baldwin died Tuesday at her home, 153 West Twenty-fourth street.

Mrs. Baldwin was 94 years of age. She was widely known in Southern California because of her generosity in contributing to educational and missionary enterprizes. In the last thirty years Mrs. Baldwin is said to have given more than $150,000 to charity. She had been a member of the Memorial Baptist Church since 1890. She purchased the site for the church and gave it to the congregation. Mrs. Baldwin gave the ground and building for the Atherton Villa, a home in Burbank for retired ministers and missionaries.

When Mrs. Baldwin was first married, she lived close to the Lincoln home in Springfield, Ill. She loved to tell of pleasant chats she had with the martyred President. Her favorite story was a joke about the absent-mindedness of Lincoln one Sunday morning when in his bare feet he chased his son "Tad." The child ran past the church and Lincoln arrived hatless and shoeless just in time to greet the congregation as they emerged from the Sunday morning service.

Mrs. Baldwin came to Los Angeles thirty-five years ago with her husband, Osgood McFarlane Baldwin, who made a fortune in the real estate business. He died in 1917.

The services were conducted yesterday by Dr. C. C. Pierce, former pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church. Prof. Earl Houk, blind baritone, sang. He was accompanied by Klawana, Indian harpist.

AUTHORESS DISCOVERED AS VISITOR

Mrs. Cora Harris, Writer of Score of Widely Known Novels, Resting Here

"I have never been a star in motion pictures," was the quizzical explanation offered by Mrs. Cora Harris last evening when a representative of The Times discovered that the famous author of "My Book and Heart," "The Circuit Rider's Wife," "The Guardian Angel" and a score of other equally widely known books and short stories, had been in Los Angeles more than two weeks. Mrs. Harris is moving today to the Ambassador from a private home on West Eighteenth street, where she has been resting and recovering from a slight heart lesion.

Mrs. Harris's home is on a 200-acre farm a short distance from Atlanta, Ga. She expects to remain in Southern California several months, however. Only recently she completed two new novels, one a sequel to "My Book and Heart," the other "Flapper Ann," which will run serially in two national publications, beginning in August and October, respectively.

City Brings Suit in Collision of Ships at Harbor

The city yesterday filed suit for $17,295.90 damages against the Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, and the Standard Oil Company in Federal District Court. The suit is an outgrowth of the collision at Los Angeles Harbor between the Shipping Board freighter Blue Triangle and the Standard Oil tanker Lubrico, on February 4, 1924. In the collision the two vessels brought up against a municipal berth, damaging it to the amount asked for in the suit.

DOCTOR HELD IN DOPE CASE

Dr. L. T. A. Hotten, Declared Known Among Addicts as "Shylock," Jailed by Agents

Tales circulated among the dope-ridden denizens of the underworld of the cruelty of a drug peddler who exacted from them Shylock's proverbial pound of flesh caused a far-reaching investigation and yesterday, according to Narcotic Agent De Spain, resulted in the arrest of Dr. Louis T. A. Hotten in his office at 624 South Olive street.

Following his arrest, Dr. Hotten made a dramatic appeal for his freedom, asserting that he could not stand jail life.

His arrest came, according to Agent De Spain, after government operatives had made three separate purchases of morphine at prices said to be far in excess of usual rates charged by peddlers. The suspect is charged with violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act. He is asserted to have sold eight cubes of drug for $20 in three transactions.

THREE OFFICES

Information in the hands of the government agents, De Spain said, shows that the doctor not only exacted high fees for dope, but on two occasions forced the addicts to part with a watch and a contract to purchase groceries at wholesale prices. Other reports are being investigated, the agents said.

During the past few weeks, according to De Spain, Dr. Hotten has maintained offices at 306 South Figueroa street and at 1208 East Second street.

The furnishings of his office at 624 South Olive street, where he was taken into custody, the agents said, consisted solely of a desk, in which they found a quantity of narcotics.

CONVICTION CITED

Information has been received here, Agent De Spain said, that Dr. Hotten was convicted of a charge of violating the Harrison Act in Salt Lake City in 1918.

The suspect admitted, De Spain stated, that he formerly practiced in Salt Lake City.

The raid on Dr. Hotten's office was made by Agent De Spain and Agents Brght and Monroy.

Dr. Hotten was arraigned before United States Commissioner Turney, and his bond was set at $5000 for examination today at 10 a.m. In default of bail he was remanded to jail.

DIVORCE FOR MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Parent and Girl Married at Same Time and Given Decree Together

In the Bonde and Chaddick families they do things this way: When one gets married they all get married and when one gets a divorce they all get divorces.

Mrs. Bertie B. Bonde is Mrs. Marguerite Christina Chaddick's mother. On March 4, 1922, they married Samuel Bonde and Basil E. Chaddick, respectively, in Kansas City, Mo.

Yesterday they obtained divorces from their husbands after hearings before Judge Gates.

Mrs. Bonde said her husband got along all right with her, but he could not co-ordinate his views with those of her six children. Mrs. Chaddick related that her husband, whom she described as an artist, had one insuperable failing. He simply would not support her, she declared.

Mother and daughter shared the legal services of Attorney Llewellyn F. Marsh.

Plans Laid to Safeguard Elk Orphan Guests

Careful plans have been made to insure the safety of 300 orphans who will be guests of the Elks of Los Angeles tomorrow at Seal Beach.

Chief of Police Heath has detailed men to close traffic on Boyle avenue at the Los Angeles Orphanage while the children are being loaded into cars and at Seventh and Main streets when they alight to enter special Pacific Electric trains.

Fire Chief Scott has detailed members of the rescue squad to accompany the children. Physicians and nurses with field hospital equipment have been furnished by Chief Surgeon Goodrich of the Receiving Hospital and a dozen life guards will watch over the kiddies while they are in the surf.

The only danger is from stomach ache which, owing to the Elks' generosity, may be serious.

George I. Cochran, president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, and an active leader in civic work here, was elected member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Mr. Cochran will succeed Paul G. Hoffman, who resigned to go east as vice-president of the Studebaker Corporation.

Mr. Cochran also will succeed Mr. Hoffman as chairman of two important committees of the chamber, the highways and the city and county planning committees.

The announcement of Mr. Cochran's election as a director was made by R. W. Pridham, president of the chamber.

M'DONALD'S WIFE HALED INTO COURT

Attorney Declares Mate Disposed of Painting as Divorce Action Pends

Mrs. Beatrice Lenore McDonald was haled into Judge Gates's court yesterday on charges of her husband, Attorney Frank McDonald, that she disposed of an oil painting in violation of a court order giving her custody of personal property pending trial of divorce actions brought by both.

She related that she borrowed $75 from a friend and gave the painting, valued at $200, as a security. That was on June 3, 1924, she said. Being unable to repay the loan before the friend left for the East, she said, she does not know what became of the painting.

At this point, McDonald interrupted to state that he had seen the painting on the wall of Mrs. McDonald's home as lat as June 13, 1924.

Judge Gates did not rule as to whether Mrs. McDonald was in contempt of court, stating that inasmuch as the hearing of the divorce action is set for next Tuesday he will let the trial judge settle the question.

Last July, McDonald and his wife filed separate divorce suits. McDonald named Lieut. J. R. Lannon of the United States Navy. Mrs. McDonald asserted wild parties were given by her husband in their home during her absence. She also charged him with extreme cruelty.

CHILD HURT WHEN AUTO TURNS OVER

Young Boy Near Death; Mother Also Injured by Hollywood Car Plunge

Caught under an automobile when it turned over while coming down a steep grade on Grandview avenue, in the Hollywood foothills, Robert Lewis, Jr., 8 years of age, of 1721 North Berendo avenue, was probably fatally injured shortly before noon yesterday. With his mother, Mrs. Robert Lewis, and Leonard Monta, a chauffeur, he was taken to the hospital of Drs. Dickey & Cass on Hollywood Boulevard.

The boy, surgeons found, was suffering from a punctured lung and other injuries, a stick or rod having been forced through his back. His mother also was badly hurt, having sustained an injury to her left arm which left it temporarily paralyzed. The chauffeur was but slightly hurt, having several bruises and lacerations about the face and arms.

Detectives Puissegur and Blagg, who investigated the accident, found that the car had gotten from control while the chauffeur was negotiating a sharp curve and had plunged over the bank.

Geriwood Home Boys Guests at Club Luncheon

All the boys from the Geriwood Home for Boys were guests of the Civitan Club at its luncheon yesterday at the Biltmore Hotel. They were entertained by F. M. Mitchell, known as "Uncle Josh" from KHJ, and later were taken to the Hillstreet Theater for the afternoon performance. It was a big day in the life of the lads, who are without homes other than the hospitable Geriwood Home, which Arthur Wood has provided for underprivileged boys.

As soon as proper facilities can be provided, these boys will be instructed and trained in that craft to which they are best adapted. The plan, outlined by Wood, contemplates that each boy shall have full benefit of the proceeds from sale of any marketable article produced by him. The money received will be placed in a savings account for the boy.

The Civitan Club is taking an active interest in the Geriwood Home and plans to materially assist Wood in developing the project along the lines indicated.

Attorneys in the Valhalla Memorial Park trial yesterday were endeavoring to stipulate as to what evidence was admissable from the defense while the court was in recess during the day. They will report this morning to Federal Judge McCormick at 9:30 o'clock.

With prospects of prolonging the trial of the four defendants, John R. Osborne, C. C. Fitzpatrick, C. C. Vaughan and Maynard L. Monger, for two months by the introduction of testimony from 180-odd defense witnesses, Judge McCormick advised the attorneys to confer and, if possible, expedite proceedings by stipulation.

The four defendants are charged with misuse of the mails. The trial opened June 12, last.

Dando parked his car at One Hundred and Twelfth avenue and Texas street, where there is a hill. The brake slipped and the car backed down the hill and over an embankment.

After trying vainly to get it out himself, he went for help. Returning at the end of half an hour, he found that strippers had stolen his storage battery, spotlight and electric light globes.

LEGION FUND DRIVE AIDED BY DISABLED

Sum Turned Over by Men at California Hut to Help Provide for Orphans

Disabled ex-service men undergoing rehabilitation training at California Hut, 1028 South Figueroa street, yesterday delivered 2115 pennies to the headquarters of the committee in charge of the local American Legion endowment campaign as part of their conribution to the fund which will provide care for 5000 destitute orphans of World War veterans and 35,000 disabled ex-service men who are not receiving sufficient assistance from governmental agencies.

Several thousand dollars were received yesterday by the drive committee in response to letters which have been sent out by the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. All the letters have been signed by R. W. Pridham and W. W. Mines, president of the two bodies, respectively.

Man Comes to City From East to Clear Name

Frank H. Crawford came back voluntarily from Chicago yesterday and succeeded in clearing his name of an imputation of embezzlement. He was complimented on his honesty and informed that the case against him will be dismissed immediately.

Crawford had been charged with the embezzlement of an automobile. He was in Chicago when the news of the charges reached him, and immediately boarded the train. Upon his arrival here, he explained to detectives that he had purchased the car from another man, and that he had received a bill of sale for the machine. He was found to be entirely innocent of wrongdoing.

HOLLYWOOD TRAFFIC PROJECT SURVEYED

WORK PROGRESSES RAPIDLY ON FIVE-FINGERED STREET PLANS

Work is progressing rapidly on the final surveying of the Hollywood five-fingered traffic project, it was announced yesterday by Carl Bush, secretary of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce. The improvement, which is to cost almost $4,000,000, includes five streets, several of which will be newly opened thoroughfares.

It is expected to relieve traffic congestion in Hollywood and to open up the central section of the district with three perfect automobile streets.

The principal feature of the program is the opening and widening of Cahuenga avenue straight through from Cahuenga Pass to Melrose avenue and over Cole avenue to Wilshire Boulevard.

Shooting Laid to Oil Station Man in Officer's Suit

Charging C. F. Shelton, said to be the proprietor of an oil station at Forty-eighth Place and Compton avenue, with shooting him through the left cheek, Reuben Scott, a policeman, yesterday filed suit against Shelton for $25,000 damages.

Scott asserted Shelton knew he was a policeman at the time and he declared Shelton shot him without cause or provocation. As a result of the asserted shooting, Scott said, the left side of his face had been scarred, the sight of his left eye affected and the hearing of his left ear impaired. The complaint was prepared by Attorney Willis O. Tyler.

McCORMICK PROMOTED AT STUDIO

Western Representative for First National Appointed General Manager

An announcement from Richard A. Rowland of First National Pictures Corporation states that John McCormick, western representative for the organization, has been elevated to the position of general manager of production on the West Coast.

This gives McCormick one of the most responsible posts in the motion-picture field in the West. In addition to supervising all production for the First National units, McCormick will represent the New York office of First National in its contact with the independent producers.

McCormick is now back at his desk at First National headquarters and has already tightened up on the reins and given a call for full speed ahead on production.

Announcement of the new position McCormick will fill was made public last night at a dinner given for him and Al Rockett by the executives and directorial staff of First National.

McCormick has served First National for five years and has been responsible for many of the productions that have won recognition under that banner.

Immediately upon his return to his desk, McCormick announced that First National's plans for the summer are pretentious and that there will be no let-up on any production schedules. Colleen Moore, wife of McCormick, again is posing before the cameras in Israel Zangwell's "We Moderns." She recently signed a three-year extension to her contract with the First National organization.

FORD MAN SEEKS AIR MAIL LINE

Company's Manager Here Forms Concern to Bid on Western Contracts

B. L. Graves, Los Angeles manager of the Ford Motor Company, yesterday wired Postmaster-General New, reporting the organization of a $500,000 airplane company which wishes to bid on all air mail contracts from Salt Lake City westward.

The company is incorporated as the Western Air Express with stock subscribed by leading Los Angeles and Detroit business men. The telegram stated the company "means business," and requested forms and instructions immediately.

Henry Ford has no interest in the company, Mr. Graves said, but the all-metal monoplane built by the Ford company will be used in the enterprise if contracts are obtained.

Sierras Power Injunction Suit Order Refused

Federal Judge McCormick yesterday issued an order denying petition of the Southern Sierras Power Company, filed March 25, last, for an injunction against the State Railroad Commission to restrain it from enforcing an electric rate-making order, that, the power company charged, was established by order of the commission in September, 1920.

Judge McCormick disagreed with the power company, holding that the company itself fixed the rates effective in September, five years ago, and that the commission merely accepted the rates.

The second point involved was that the power company had not made full application to the commission for a proposed increase in rates and until it had done so and been denied their petition in its present form was not suitable for court controversy.

Workmen Hurt in Plunge From Ship Near Death

Two workmen were probably fatally injured yesterday when a scaffold on the side of the steamer West Prospect collapsed and caused them to plunge sixty feet to the dock below.

The injured men are W. E. Cronin and William Reisinger, shipfitters employed by the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, living at 428 O'Farrell street, San Pedro. The accident occurred at the corporation's dock in Los Angeles Harbor. Cronin suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries, and Reisinger received fractures of both legs and internal injuries.

Both men were given emergency treatment by Police Surgeon Langan of San Pedro and were taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles.

FRIEND OF LINCOLN IS LAID AWAY

Funeral of Mrs. Baldwin, Philanthropist, Conducted at Her Home

Funeral services for Mrs. Hannah A. Baldwin, philanthropist, and one-time neighbor and personal friend of Abraham Lincoln, were conducted yesterday afternoon at Pierce Brothers' Chapel, 720 West Washington street. Mrs. Baldwin died Tuesday at her home, 153 West Twenty-fourth street.

MRS. HANNAH ATHERTON BALDWIN

Mrs. Baldwin was 94 years of age. She was widely known in Southern California because of her generosity in contributing to educational and missionary enterprizes. In the last thirty years Mrs. Baldwin is said to have given more than $150,000 to charity. She had been a member of the Memorial Baptist Church since 1890. She purchased the site for the church and gave it to the congregation. Mrs. Baldwin gave the ground and building for the Atherton Villa, a home in Burbank for retired ministers and missionaries.

When Mrs. Baldwin was first married, she lived close to the Lincoln home in Springfield, Ill. She loved to tell of pleasant chats she had with the martyred President. Her favorite story was a joke about the absent-mindedness of Lincoln one Sunday morning when in his bare feet he chased his son "Tad." The child ran past the church and Lincoln arrived hatless and shoeless just in time to greet the congregation as they emerged from the Sunday morning service.

Mrs. Baldwin came to Los Angeles thirty-five years ago with her husband, Osgood McFarlane Baldwin, who made a fortune in the real estate business. He died in 1917.

The services were conducted yesterday by Dr. C. C. Pierce, former pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church. Prof. Earl Houk, blind baritone, sang. He was accompanied by Klawana, Indian harpist.

PENNSYLVANIANS TO MEET

Mrs. Cora Harris, Writer of Score of Widely Known Novels, Resting Here

"I have never been a star in motion pictures," was the quizzical explanation offered by Mrs. Cora Harris last evening when a representative of The Times discovered that the famous author of "My Book and Heart," "The Circuit Rider's Wife," "The Guardian Angel" and a score of other equally widely known books and short stories, had been in Los Angeles more than two weeks. Mrs. Harris is moving today to the Ambassador from a private home on West Eighteenth street, where she has been resting and recovering from a slight heart lesion.

Mrs. Harris's home is on a 300-acre farm a short distance from Atlanta, Ga. She expects to remain in Southern California several months, however. Only recently she completed two new novels, one a sequel to "My Book and Heart," the other "Flapper Ann," which will run serially in two national publications, beginning in August and October, respectively.

City Brings Suit in Collision of Ships at Harbor

The city yesterday filed suit for $17,295.90 damages against the Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, and the Standard Oil Company in Federal District Court. The suit is an outgrowth of the collision at Los Angeles Harbor between the Shipping Board freighter Blue Triangle and the Standard Oil tanker Lubrico, on February 4, 1924. In the collision the two vessels brought up against a municipal berth, damaging it to the amount asked for in the suit.

Word of the death of both parents of Herbert Watson of Santa Rosa, in a railway accident, was sent to the Harbor district police yesterday, with the request that they find and notify him. Watson is reported on his way from Santa Rosa to San Pedro in a red touring car.

TWO WOMEN ACCUSED BY BLIND WIFE

Sightless Couple Declared to Have $25,000 Worth of Community Property

Despite the handicap of blindness, with which both are afflicted, B. F. Boyd and his wife, Deedie Boyd, have accumulated $25,000 worth of community property and a couple of co-respondents during their marriage, it developed yesterday when he appeared before Judge Gates in Mrs. Boyd's proceedings for alimony pending trial of her suit for separate maintenance.

The matter appeared so difficult of adjustment in temporary proceedings that, by agreement of both sides, consideration of alimony, counsel fees and community property was postponed until the trial of the major action, which Judge Gates, in return, consented to advance and hear on August 21.

In her present action Mrs. Boyd names May Walters as co-respondent. In a former similar suit she named Mrs. B. Butler. This suit was dismissed upon a reconciliation. Mrs. Boyd, in her suit, declares her husband has been giving her $125 a month. She asks for a court order making this allowance permanent.

SAN FERNANDO ZONE RESOLUTION PASSED

A resolution asking the City Planning Commission to mark out at once an emergency zoning of the San Fernando Valley section of the city as a foundation for a complete final zoning later, was put through the City Council yesterday by Councilman Randall. The commission is asked to take this action so that the establishment of brick yards and other industries in residential sections of the valley may be prevented now.

HUSBAND, DESERTED BY WIFE, SHOOTS HIMSELF

Clayton W. Clark, 26 years of age, shot himself through the chest in an attempt at suicide yesterday at his home at 1112 West One Hundred and Second street. He told Detective Lieutenants Moran and Dolan that he was weary of life because his wife had left him. The victim was given emergency treatment at the Receiving Hospital and later transferred to the General Hospital. His condition is critical.

WIFE CALLED ANNOYER

Mrs. Alice A. Schourup devised a particularly efficient method of annoying her husband, according to the divorce suit of Ralph W. Schourup, filed yesterday. She cut his clothes to ribbons with his razor, Schourup complained, thus ruining both clothes and razor at one stroke.

BUDDY LONGS FOR HIS DADDY

Bright Little 6-Year-Old Partner of Parent on Walk Here From Florida Waits Wistfully in General Hospital While Shell-Shocked Father is Examined

BY ALMA WHITAKER

It took Bobby Widmer, 6 years of age, and his daddy, A. E. Widmer, three months to walk from Florida to Los Angeles.

But they have been good pals and whatever troubles have come to daddy now, he must have taken mighty good care of Bobby, who is healthy, clean, bright and only unhappy because he is parted from daddy.

But daddy, a World War veteran, who was shell-shocked, is in the Psychopathic Hospital after getting work at $5 a day for six weeks out at the Universal studio, and after saving $35 toward bringing mother and little sister and brother out here from Florida to join them.

You see, they meant to be great motion-picture comedians and first visited Douglas Fairbanks, who started them with $5 capital. Then the Universal proved kindly sympathetic and it looked like glory and wealth to come.

But perhaps things were too intense for daddy. Anyway things did not go quite right last week and he was taken to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital. Judge Walter Gates and the physicians have not quite decided how daddy and his boy shall be cared for, but in the meantime the case was brought to the attention of the service department of the American Legion, and daddy will find friends in his old buddies. Some of them will be on hand to stand by when the case comes up for decision next Monday.

In the meantime Bobby is just a "care case" in the General Hospital, where kind nurses have found some toys and a nice gardener is proving a good friend. Bobby thinks that he is parted from daddy just while daddy's sore hand is being doctored and he hopes it won't be long.

"My, but we had some good times walking here," says Bobby wistfully, "and we sure like this pretty country and kind people."

PHYSICIAN GIVEN DRUG CASE FINE

Dr. H. E. Bogue Jail Term of Fifty Days Suspended; Further Quiz Urged

Dr. H. E. Bogue, formerly a member of the medical staff at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, was fined $200 and given a fifty-day jail sentence, which was later suspended by Police Judge Frederickson yesterday for violation of the State poison law.

The physician had been convicted of selling drugs to addicts, and Justice Frederickson declared in imposing sentence that the case should be more fully investigated with a view to revoking his license to practice.

It was charged that Dr. Bogue had a score or more of veterans from the Soldiers' Home on his list, and that he gave them drugs.

MISSING VETERAN SOUGHT

Seach has been started by the local Red Cross Chapter with headquarters in the Transportation Building, Seventh and Los Angeles streets, for James Madigan, World War veteran, who disappeared from the Palo Alto Veterans' Hospital last January. Both the Veterans' Bureau at San Francisco and the missing man's guardian, E. G. Twogood, of the Department of Institutions at Sacramento, are seeking Madigan.

Woman Chosen Head of Humane Animal Bureau

Mrs. Frances H. Weldon yesterday was elected president of the Humane Animal Commission at its organization meeting held at the City Hall, and F. G. Bradbury was chosen vice-president. Mrs. E. M. Waddell was reappointed secretary and chief accounting officer of the department.

The department has charge of the collection of stray dogs, cats, chickens, cows, horses, goats and all other live stock. These are taken to the city pound and a fee collected when the animals are reclaimed by owners.

The department earned $50,000 in these fees last year, which was turned in to the city's general fund. This year the commission will ask an appropriation of $10,000 or $15,000 from the Council with which to build on city property a new modern pound to replace the one now being used located at Forty-sixth street near Alameda street.

BREAKS JAW IN FALL

Oliver Faulkner, 27 years of age, 1207 Bayview avenue, Wilmington, was severely injured yesterday when he fell from a scaffold on which he was working at 6828 Hollywood Boulevard to the ground. He was taken to the hospital of Dectors Dickey and Cass at 5800 Hollywood Boulevard and treated for a broken jaw, cuts and bruises about the arms and legs.

JOKE TURNS INTO DRAMA OF SUICIDE

Man Passing Off "Fall" Into Lake as Accidental Leaps to His Death

Just a week ago yesterday H. M. Bleecher, 34 years of age, a patient at the Santa Fe Hospital, was found crawling out of the lake at Hollenbeck Park.

In response to a query from Detective Lieutenant Thompson as to what he was trying to do, Bleecher replied with apparent ruefulness that he had fallen in and that the only thing he was doing was crawling out.

Yesterday, however, Bleecher's crushed body was found on the hospital grounds at the base of the building. Apparently he had leaped to his death from the roof. Other patients reported to Detectives Jones and Bazaar that Bleecher had told them repeatedly he was going to kill himself.

W. Williams of Washington, D. C., and Asst. U. S. Dist.-Atty. Layng, will offer evidence today.

Oscar Lawler and S. W. and A. W. Anderson, attorneys for the oil company, yesterday continued their line of defense of the previous day by reading records from Washington covering the various details of the negotiations and leasing of the property under Presidential proclamation of May 31, 1924.

DIRECTOR NAMED

JACK DILLON TO GUIDE COLLEEN MOORE

By Grace Kingsley

No sooner had Colleen Moore returned from Europe than she began planning for "We Moderns," her next picture. In fact, she made some scenes for the picture over in London, and has brought them back, all wrapped up carefully in tin cans.

Naturally she has been casting about for a director, and yesterday she expressed herself as more than delighted at securing John Dillon, who directed her in "Flaming Youth," "The Perfect Flapper" and "Flirting With Love."

Edwin Carewe is the most popular director in the First National fold just now. Carewe has elected to make some ocean liner scenes this week as a part of "The Sea Woman." So the players will have a chance to pose before the cameras on a cool steamer deck miles from shore, instead of doing the same thing under the Kleigs at the studio.

There are many ways to get into the movies, but it took Virginia Southern to patent a brand-new way. Miss Southern wanted to work in "The Viennese Medley," but couldn't get a hearing with the officials. She finally literally broke into June Mathis's private office, pulling the snap from the screen door. She made one of those swift entrances you hear about being a part of every actress's technique, swept Miss Mathis off her feet, and captured the role of Liesel in the big production.

Al Santell is rushing the Corinne Griffith "Classified" production to completion, and plans to leave for New York tomorrow, where he makes a picture for First National, after which he will come back to Hollywood.

John McCormick, Colleen Moore's husband and a First National official, is back at his desk. McCormick and Al Rockett were guests on Wednesday night at an informal gathering at the Hollywood Athletic Club, a sort of welcoming home dinner to McCormick and a good-by to Rockett, who left yesterday to take charge of his desk in First National's New York offices.

PARAMOUNT SIGNS LIONEL BARRYMORE

It really did seem a foregone conclusion when Lionel Barrymore came west that sooner or later he would be drawn over to the Lasky studios. It has all come true now, and Barrymore yesterday signed for an important role in Raoul Walsh's forthcoming picture, "The Lucky Lady."

While William Collier, Jr., has the male lead, Lionel Barrymore appears in a role of big opportunity for him, according to Jesse Lasky's announcement.

Another bit of interesting information emanating from the Lasky studios yesterday was to the effect that Betty Bronson left yesterday for the Long Island studios to begin work in J. M. Barrie's "A Kiss for Cinderella." She was accompanied by her mother and Rachel Smith.

On completion of "A Kiss for Cinderella," Miss Bronson will return to Hollywood for a short vacation before beginning work on another picture.

In Hichens Story

If we must worry, we really ought, I think, to stop troubling ourselves about the Latin sheik menace in pictures, and begin worrying about the invasion of the beautiful blond foreign actresses.

Take Vilma Banky, for instance, she isn't to have a minute's vacation for many weeks to come. At present she is appearing in George Fitzmaurice's production of "The Dark Angel." When she is finished with that role, she will play the leading feminine role opposite Rudolph Valentino in "The Black Eagle."

Now comes Samuel Goldwyn and thinks that, inasmuch as he discovered Miss Banky, going all the way to Budapest to do it too, he should have a chance at that actress's services. So he put his foot right down yesterday and announced that, let the chips fall where they may, Miss Banky must play the leading role in "The Garden of Allah," which Henry King will direct for United Artists.

"The Garden of Allah" is to be made in the vicinity of Biskra, supposed to be the original site of the garden described in the Hichens novel.

This story was made several years ago by William Selig, with Helen Ware in the role which Miss Banky will play.

Frank Keenan at Biltmore

Let the thermometer do its stuff as it may, Frank Keenan is all set to go on his new starring vehicle, "Smiling Danger," which will open at the Biltmore on August 31. Oliver White wrote the play.

Bertha Mann, who used to be a great favorite at the Morosco, is on her way from New York to play the leading feminine role. She has just completed an engagement with Ruth Chatterton in "The Man With a Load of Mischief." Others in the cast are Fleming Ward, Johnny Connery, Margaret Keenan and Harry Fenwick.

Louise Lovely Heard From

Word from the far-off Antipodes informs us that Louise Lovely, who went to her native land, Australia, a few months ago to work in pictures, has completed her first big film with her own company.

The picture, "Jeweled Nights," is from the novel of Marie Bjelke Peterson. It is in ten reels and in this form will be presented in all the larger Australian picture houses.

The picture sounds most interesting, from a pictorial and travelogue standpoint, as well as from a story angle. The outdoor scenes were taken in the almost inaccessible wilds of the Savage River in Western Tasmania, at the huge Osmiridium camps. The whole company, including Miss Llovely, was compelled to walk through steeply mountainous country six miles each day to reach location—a country through which even horses could not travel. Magnificent myrtle forests are the backgrounds of the scenes.

The interiors were taken in Wirth's Hugh Circus Olympia in Melbourne, which was made into a temporary studio.

George O'Hara Back

George O'Hara has been vacationing in the High Sierras, but is planning on putting on the grease paint again as soon as he can make up his mind which of several film offers he shall accept.

Ruth Clifford Goes Fishing

If you think Ruth Clifford is going to spend all her young life drudging around a picture set, you are hugely mistaken. Miss Clifford is going with her husband, James Cornelius, up to the High Sierras for a week's fishing trip. The travelers will leave on Monday for their new cabin up above the Owens River country

But this trip will be merely, you might say, in the way of training. In September Miss Clifford and her husband plan a big game hunting trip, also in the High Sierras, but on the other side of the ridge.

Stuart Holmes a Comedian

Some say that he has reformed, others that he has backslidden, but in any event the fact remains that Stuart Holmes, erstwhile villain of the films, has turned comedian. Can he comedy? You'd be surprised. Anyway, that is what Nat Spitzer, head of the Spitzer-Jones Productions, who has hired Holmes for the comedy job, says.

"Heir-Loons" is the promising name of the comedy in which Mr. Holmes kids around in his first attempt to be funny on the screen.

Other Talent in Family

Walter McGrail has not cornered all the talent in the family. There is talent-in-law in his house, he says. In short, Ruth Morgan, one of the country's foremost feminine aquatic stars, and McGrail's sister-in-law, is visiting him and his wife.

Just whether Mr. McGrail wants his pretty little sister-in-law to have a chance in pictures remains to be seen. In the meantime she is visiting the studios assiduously, which does look suspicious, you'll admit.

Miss Morgan is 14 years of age. She was to have participated in the Olympic games in Europe for this country, but her parents refused to allow her to leave school for so long a time.

Anne Cornwall in It

That the great open spaces need decorating is the opinion of Edward Sedgwick. Therefore, he has signed Anna Cornwall to play the lead in "On the Frontier," the big western special, which he is directing for Universal.

Miss Cornwall doesn't feel altogether happy in her assignment, however, due to the fact that she is replacing Gertrude Olmstead, who is in the hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis a few days before work was started on the picture.

Back to Stage Maybe

Jacqueline Logan has been asked to return to her first big stage job, the leading role in "Floradora," of which there is to be a revival in New York City in the fall. The title role in this big stage success really put Miss Logan on the road to fame and fortune, for it was her work in the production that later led her into the Follies and then on the screen.

Miss Logan, who is at present making "When the Door Opened," under contract with William Fox, was understudy to Margot Kelly, who first had the title role. When Miss Kelly left Jackie was rushed into the performance and overnight leaped into fame. As she is a good singer and dancer, she had little trouble with the part. Miss Logan would like to play the role again if she could get a temporary release from her picture contract.

IN SCHNITZLER PLAY

Otto Matiesen, young Danish screen player, will be seen at the Writer's Club tonight and tomorrow night in Arthur Schnitzler's comedy, "The Wedding Morning." The play is staged by Benjamin Glazer. Matiesen, who is a pupil of Sir Beerbohm Tree and Max Reinhardt, has performed in many of Schnitzler's works in England and on the continent.

La Marr Plays Galsworthy Heroine

Barbara La Marr and Henry Victor

Leading lady of "The White Monkey," which opens at the Criterion Theater tomorrow.

'PRETTY LADIES' MAKES BOW

Louis B. Mayer of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, has invited local theater and newspaper folk to a special "midnight matinee" at Loew's State Theater tonight when Monta Bell's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature, "Pretty Ladies," opens there for a week's run.

The feature acts and headliners at local speaking stage theaters, as well as stars of both stage and screen, will be present. A special Charleston contest will be held on the stage. Theatrical people from the various vaudeville houses in the city and legitimate stage productions all will be there and contribute to the success of the popular young director's new picture and the Charleston contests.

"Pretty Ladies" is of particular interest to theater folk, as the story deals with the back-stage life of the New York Follies. It was adapted from the story, "Maggie Queenanne," by Adela Rogers St. Johns, Los Angeles novelist and playwright.

The most novel feature on the "midnight matinee" program will be the Charleston contest, that newest dance craze, which is sweeping the country and which has all Los Angeles trying to master its fascinating steps.

Among those present will be Frank Farnum, originator of the Charleston, the Stuart sisters, Fanchon and Marco and other exponents of the Charleston.

Some of those to be at the "Pretty Ladies" midnight matinee will be Monta Bell, Lew Cody, master of ceremonies, Tom Moore, Zasu Pitts, Conrad Nagel, Norma Shearer, Lilyan Tashman, George K. Arthur, Helena D'Algy, Fred Niblo, Clara Kimball Young, T. Roy Barnes, Kitty and Ted Doner, Blossom Seeley, Harry Carroll, Frank Fay, Lew Brice and Wilda Davis.

Four Playlets on Tonight's Bill at the Writers'

The regular monthly presentation of four one-act plays by the Writers' Club will take place tonight and tomorrow night. The list contains some of the most interesting plays that have been seen at the clubhouse this season.

"The Wedding Morning," one of the episodes from Arthur Schnitzler's "The Affairs of Anatole," will be staged by Benjamin Glazier. It is, however, a complete play in itself, and will have in its cast Eleanor Boardman, Kenneth Gibson, Otto Matiesen and Bradley Wright.

"The Clod," by Lewis Beach, will be played by Sarah Padden, Edwin J. Brady, Arthur Lubin, William B. Davidson and Charles W. Mack. Sarah Padden will also stage the piece.

"With Fondest Affection" will be staged by the author, Frank O'Connor. The cast includes Beverly Bayne, William Hayes, Bernice Barnes, Gertrude Quality and Mr. O'Connor.

"The Snake," by Roland Bottomley, will be staged by the author, with Doris Lloyd, Mitchell Lewis and Mr. Bottomley in the cast.

Frank Farnum Will Appear at Loew's State

Frank Farnum, direct from the Palace Theater of New York and originator of the Charleston dance, will be cofeatured at Loew's State Theater, beginning Saturday, with Monta Bell's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Pretty Ladies."

Farnum, who hails from Charleston, S. C., certainly ought to know something about the Charleston dance, of which he is considered America's foremost exponent. Farnum learned the dance as a boy from the colored stevedores on the docks, and it was he who taught all the principal stars of the stage who have since introduced the dance.

Farnum will appear with the two Stuart sisters, who have recently achieved fame in the Ziegfeld Follies.

DESERT TRIP

Noel Smith is off for the desert country near Victorville, where some of the most thrilling scenes in "The Clash of the Wolves," which he is directing for Warner Brothers, with Rin-Tin-Tin, will be photographed. Mr. Smith is handling one of the most gripping vehicles featuring the famous dog star, and according to the rushes, has obtained wonderful results. He will be on location about two weeks.

FINISHES AND STARTS

Completing his part yesterday in "The Sea Woman," on location at Balboa, Edward Earle hurried back to Hollywood in time to change costume and start an important role in "The Viennese Medley" at United Studios.

CONNIE FINISHES

Connie Dawn, 18-year-old Fox leading lady, has just completed the first of a series of Fox comedies. Miss Dawn, who was recently selected as the most beautiful bathing beauty on the Mack Sennett lot this year, cherishes a secret ambition to some day star in drama roles.

LONDON SYMPHONY PREMIERE AT BOWL

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Sir Henry Wood and the "London Symphony" were the magic combination at the Bowl last night. It was an English program, and the resident Britishers turned out en masse to hear it.

Musical impressions of London at its gayest, and again enveloped in fog, flooded the capacity-filled half circle of the Bowl amphitheater, and the vision of England conjured by Vaughn Williams, the composer, intrigued the imagination.

Williams is better known on the other side of the water than on this, but if the immediate approval which his "Symphony by a Londoner," as he himself styles the principal number on last evening's program, gained at first hearing, means anything, we shall hear more of him. He has a gift for the picturesque, not always original, to be sure, but at all times pleasing and stimulating.

The "London Symphony" suggests Carpenter's "In a Perambulator," Deems Taylor's "Through the Looking-glass," and Thomas Burke's "Limehouse Nights," all in one, with a distinct flavor and a rich orchestration decidedly its own. This program symphony has a definite and announced plan of simulation.

Albert Coates, the eminent English conductor, who gave the symphony its first reading in America, translated the music into his own words, presumably with the help of the composer, and these were read by Mrs. J. J. Carter as a preliminary to its rendition. Many added beauties were easily supplied by the music.

The River Thames proved a flowing undercurrent to the moving human drama which shifted through the music with a stage-like effect. There were subtle, suave melodies heard through the softening draperies, and often the sound of two or more definite conversations were easily followed above the noise of the streets as depicted.

The third movement described as a Thames embankment on a Saturday night was, perhaps, the most alive and vivid. It was an animated "Turner," with the river figure a well-defined personality dominating even the merry cockney gigue which embroidered the whole.

We have heard the reeds and winds of the orchestra turned into pipe-organs before, but never have we heard these dignified instruments ape the antics of a mouth organ and sound so well.

The worth of a work like this can not be set down off-hand. It is like a well-written novel, and the first hearing must be devoted to the story.

The weight of it would not bear too many repetitions, but it would be a delight to hear occasionally, and of a certainty it was just the right thing for an English program at the Bowl.

Grateful acknowledgement is due Sir Henry for its presentation. Indeed, we owe him hearty thank-yous for the varied character of his entire week's concert lists, of which the "London Symphony" is a high light.

His courage in giving us new works, with the painful lack of rehearsal time at his command, amounts to a fine nobility in which he puts his professional reputation as a conductor in the balance with our appreciation of musical novelties.

As a conductor of the Bowl concerts, Sir Henry Wood is ideal. He has the heart for it and serves his public with zeal. A large grace of movement, characterized by broad sweeps, and a baton held poised from a loose wrist, make his directing a thing of moving interest. It brings to mind even the swaying of a seabird through the empyrean blue, effortless, fireless, effective.

One of Brahm's lesser achievements, the "Academic Festival" Overture, the Symphonic poem, "Vltava," by Smetana and the world's favorite overture from "William Tell" completed the concert. The Brahms was a shade too brassy to be entirely satisfying, but the Smetana provided another enchanting river scene of marked contrast to the Thames which preceded it.

Tomorrow night will witness the introduction of the work of an English woman composer, Ethyl M. Smyth, and several opera scenes by Rutland Boughton.

THEATER FOR MUSIC AT BIG BEAR LAKE

The Theater of the Stars at Fawnskin, Big Bear Lake, California's newest amphitheater, is making strides in programs, equipment and audiences. Since last week a new proscenium with additional lighting equipment has been installed, which adds to the colored illumination of the forest and immense canyon a localized stage on the canyon floor, which admits an independent lighting effect of greatest beauty. The contrasted and changing color effects over this immense and romantic scene, which have amazed visitors to the theater, are now capable of greater variation. In these developments the director of the theater, Arthur Farwell, an electrical engineer as well as a composer and authority on outdoor musical and lighting effects, has had the assistance of F. R. McArthur, a young Los Angeles engineer of imagination, who has had an extended experience in indoor stage lighting.

The program for tomorrow will present the Cauldron singers of Pasadena, the singing section of the well-known Cauldron Club of that city, a male chorus of fifty voices, Roy V. Rhodes director. The chorus will be assisted by Mrs. Hazel Elwell Rhodes of Pasadena. Raymond McFeeters will be at the piano.

McGUIRE FINISHES IN "BUFFALO BILL" FILM

These are busy days for the free-lance players, especially with most of the productions operating on short-term schedules. Kathryn McGuire, one of the initial selections of Wampas stars of tomorrow, who recently worked opposite Richard Holt in San Francisco, has just finished the lead in "With Buffalo Bill on the U. P. Trail." Miss McGuire will be featured ni this Sunset production with Roy Stewart and Cullen Landis. The picture was directed by Frank Mattison.

LEIGHTON IN NEW ROLES

Lillian Leighton, who has created much enthusiastic comment with her characterization of La Frochard in B. P. Schulberg's "Parisian Love," completed this screen interpretation yesterday. The actress will be seen at the Metropolitan in "In the Name of Love" early in August.

Adele Rowland to Return Soon on Orpheum Bill

Adele Rowland, that charming dispenser of story songs, whose vaudeville appearance at the Orpheum a year ago was a decided event, is to top the bill at that theater again next week.

Another "home-coming" is that of Charles Ruggles, who in the stock days of glory here shared honors with the best. Mr. Ruggles, too long absent in New York plays, will present a sketch by Roy Briant, "Wives, Etc.," which just fits his personality and talents.

Marion Harris, popular "blues" singer, returns with request songs. Eddie Lambert, a comedian of small stature but large abilities, will put on "Youth and Beauty." Ted and Al Waldman are offering a new sort of thing—a harmonica duo, whose "Blu-o-logy" is a complete act.

Bert and Betty Wheeler will remain with their clever fun, and Harry Carroll will stay over with a second edition of his big revue, "Everything Will be All Right," wherein the personnel will remain the same, with Eddie Kane leading the fun-makers and Dottie Wilson the dancers, but the numbers, songs and steps will all be new. Isham Jones and his band and Jane Green are promised next.

ALICE ENTERTAINS

Alice Day, Mack Sennett's star comedienne, was hostess at a dinner party last evening to the members of her current cast at the Ambassador. Alfred Goulding, her director, Danny O'Shea, her good-looking new leading man, Eugenia Gilbert, who is doing the vamp act in the story, Lonnie Dorsa, Goulding's assistant, Alberta Vaughn, who, by the way, began her career on the Sennett lot, Clarence Hudton and Marceline Day, Alice's sister, who until recently was playing leading roles at Universal City, were the favored ones who tested the dainty film star's hospitality.

BEES IN HIVE ACT AS ELECTRIC FANS

APPLY RECOGNIZED MECHANICAL PRINCIPLES IN HIVES

In hot weather a number of bees in every hive are acting in the capacity of electric fans, their wings working away at a great rate while they drive the air in just in the directions needed in a well-calculated ventilating system.

In front of any hive, holding their proper stations at the narrow entrance, a detachment of these ventilating bees may be seen. Their heads are always turned toward the entrance so that the air is kept moving past them toward the rear, the reason for this position being that these bees are drawing out the foul air from the hive.

On the inside of the hive, their heads turned also toward the entrance, is another file of bees propelling the air past them toward the interior. These bees are sucking in fresh air to take the place of the foul air. It is a double ventilating system based upon good mechanical principles.

To get the full effect of ventilation, it is not enough to admit a steady supply of fresh air at such an opening; it is also desirable to keep the whole mass of air in motion. Building engineers who specialize on such problems as are presented by theaters, moving-picture houses, and others human hives, have recently announced as an interesting discovery that there is a vivifying influence imparted to air simply by keeping it in motion; and this, in addition to, or independent of, any new supply of oxygen.

Whether there is any truth in these conclusions or not, bees fulfill all the requirements necessary to take advantage of them; for inside the hive are other detachments of bees steadily agitating the air.

The effect of this well-directed activity is not only to give a supply of life-sustaining oxygen to the multitude of workers in the hive, but also to keep down the temperature when there is danger of the comb melting; and, in addition, to vaporate the surplus water from the honey stored in the cells, which are never sealed shut till the product is properly "ripened."—[Charles D. Stewart in Atlantic Monthly.

A SHRINKING MOON

Why the Ascending Orb Seems to Get Smaller as It Rises

You have probably noticed that when the moon first comes up in the early evening sky it is very large, and sometimes very yellow or orange. As the evening advances, this moon can be seen to shrink, and grow paler and paler, as it mounts up the sky—until it seems to be half its former size, and is quite white.

People sometimes wonder how the same moon can look so different, with only a few hours' change in the time. The shrinking of the moon is due to the change of the atmosphere through which you look at it. When it first comes above the horizon, you look toward it along the surface of the earth, on a horizontal plane. Because of this, you see the moon through a long stretch of the earth's air, or atmosphere, and this air is full of tiny particles of dust and impurities, which act as little lenses, so to speak, and give the moon color. Besides this, the air is slightly magnifying, like a great big lens, and so the moon appears very big. Some people think that the moon looks bigger because it is nearer to the earth when it is low on the horizon. This is not so, because when the moon first rises it is, of course, further away, by a few miles, than when it is directly overhead. When the moon goes up the sky, you have to look up more and more in order to see it, so that you look through less and less of the earth's atmosphere. This means that the space through which you look becomes clearer and more pure so that to you the moon seems to shrink.—[Christian Science Monitor.

Took Him for a Barber

The absence of a collar makes a remarkable difference in a man's appearance.

An Ohio State University student went into the Ohio Union barber shop the other morning at 7:30 and saw only one other man in the shop, sitting in one of the barber chairs, reading a paper and not wearing a coat or a collar. The student walked up to the man and said, "Can you give me a haircut in time for me to get to my — o'clock class?"

"I guess not," said the gentleman, who proved to be a member of the faculty, "I am waiting for this barber to fix me up so I can meet my — o'clock class."—[Columbus Dispatch.

RAZOR, BLADES SOLE BEQUEST

Bowery Resident Takes Own Life by Hanging

NEW YORK, July 16.—When a man "goes West" by his own hand in a Bowery lodging-house he generally leaves nothing behind him save the shabby clothes in which some one finds what's left of him, and a memory, almost as shabby and not long enduring.

But James Logan, who hanged himself with a length of rope attached to a water pipe in his room in the Salvation Army lodging-house at 225 Bowery, had something more, something he designated as "all my earthly possessions." And what he left was really all of worth he had—a safety razor and six spare blades. He left them to a crony and a fellow-lodger, Tom Flannigan.

No one about the place knew very much about James Logan, Flannigan as little as any one else, though the two were in the habit of meeting in the evening in the smoky general room of the hostelry and there talking of this and that, nothing very personal, of course, because that's not the habit of those who have come to make their homes on the Bowery.

All that any one knew was that Logan entered the place one night seven years ago, put 35 cents on the counter and asked for a room. They gave him a little one upstairs and there he lived—until he decided to depart this life. Odd jobs about the neighborhood never failed for seven years to provide the 35 cents with which to insure a lodging for the night.

But instead of appearing at his accustomed time the other morning, Logan evidently preferred to remain in his room. The lodgers didn't think much about the fact nor about him, either. It was the management that was concerned, because Bowery lodgers are creatures of habit.

So some one was sent to find out what had happened to break Logan's routine; besides, the room might be wanted by some one else. Harry Nedinger could get no response to his knocking, so he opened up with a passkey, and there Logan was, hanging to the water pipe, dead.

On a table there was a little box and attached to it a note: "I leave this, all of my earthly possessions to Tom Flannigan." The safety razor and the six blades.

They gave them to Tom Flannigan, and as he stared at them he said, "I wonder why he did it," and it might have been either wonder over the unexpected gift or at the reason for the body dangling from the water pipe.

TWO LARGE HOLLYWOOD DEALS MADE

Corner Bought by Local Firm as Near-by Lot is Leased for Long Term

Purchase of the lot at the southwest corner fronting 105 feet on Hollywood Boulevard and with a depth of 135 feet along Gower street was announced yesterday. The consideration was in excess of $200,000. There is to be erected on the site a substantial business building, the cost of which has not as yet been determined.

The property was bought by the E. Clem Wilson Company of Los Angeles, represented by the Charles G. Andrews realty firm from the Christie Realty Corporation of Hollywood, represented by George H. Coffin & Son of Hollywood.

Illustrative of the confidence of the purchasers in Los Angeles and freedom of this section from dangerous tremors was the fact that the decision to buy was reached the day following the Santa Barbara quake.

Building plans are being held up pending the widening of Gower street from Hollywood Boulevard to Melrose avenue as ordered by the City Council.

That realty concerns consider the intersection to be one of the most important in the Hollywood retail section is evidenced by the announcement yesterday of a lease on the northwest corner on the basis of $2000 per front foot for ninety-nine years, aggregating a total rental of $594,000.

The L. D. Owens Company realty firm, negotiated the deal for the owners, Louis and Mary Lingenfelser, who bought the property twelve years ago. Frank and Walter Miller are the lessees. The property fronts fifty feet on Hollywood Boulevard and is 125 feet deep.

Lovelorn Boy Wrote Venice Suicide Note

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, July 16.—The writer of a pathetic suicide note pinned to a coat found on the Venice Pier yesterday was revealed by police today as Johnny Van den Burgh, 19-year-old love-sick clerk.

Love for an 18-year-old girl made hopeless because his financial condition would not enable him to marry her and support his mother and two younger sisters at the same time caused the youth to write the note, he told Chief Davilla tonight. He said he fully intended to carry out the threat, but he became so ill after swallowing a quantity of iodine he was unable to leap off the pier.

The note was traced to young Van Den Burgh by a cleaner's tag found on the coat. The youth was found at his home, 2013 Twenty-first street, Santa Monica.

The "Margie" of the note, the boy said, is Marjorie Schrader, 121 Vista Place, Venice. She and Johnny were engaged, he said, but broke the troth on account of lack of finances. After listening to the youth's story, Chief Davilla ordered him released.

"TOO SWEET," SUES FILM STUDIO

Actress Will Carry Case to Court

Priscilla Bonner

PRISCILLA BONNER, motion-picture actress, has retained an attorney to represent her in a lively dispute with Warner Brothers over the substitution of another actress as leading woman for John Barrymore in a current production. It was learned yesterday that a suit has been drawn up for filing next week.

The other actress is Dolores Costello, daughter of Maurice Costello, former matinee idol, who was chosen to supplant Miss Bonner after the name of the latter had been given out as the girl who would play the part.

According to Miss Bonner, a motion-picture agent called her up and told her Warner Brothers had decided against her because she was "too sweet" to enact the role.

This notification was the first she had she was not to play opposite Barrymore and it was not until later she received a letter from Warners with a week's salary, she said.

Jack Warner, producing manager at Warner Brothers, said yesterday: "Miss Bonner cannot collect from us if she brings suit. We signed her on a contract to apear opposite Barrymore, but on working out the story discovered she would not be the type for the part. Consequently, we filled it with Miss Costello, sending Miss Bonner a week's salary.

"The substitution is no reflection upon Miss Bonner's ability. She has worked for me before and I would unhesitatingly cast her in a suitable part if I had one. It so happened that we decided on a different treatment of the story from that which we had originally intended, and I could not conscientiously retain her in the part.

"We are protected by a clause in the contract she signed, a form contract similar to those signed by many other stars, which says we may terminate her engagement under the circumstances here raised. We did not even have to send her a week's salary."

Barrymore, who is said to have been one of the leading factors in the choice of Miss Bonner in the first place, sent her a letter and a personal check for $1000 with regrets, it is said. According to friends, the star felt responsible for the inconvenience caused Miss Bonner, as he had suggested her after seeing her performance in other pictures.

According to Miss Bonner, she did not receive the check from Warner Brothers for her week's salary until after she had retained Milton Cohen to represent her.

"I only want fair treatment," she stated yesterday. "They say I am 'too sweet' to play the part and yet they gave it to a girl of my type who has the same qualities I am supposed to have. I feel I can play the part as well as she can. I only want to be told why I am not suitable."

Barrymore could not be reached at the Ambassador last night for a statement.

SUIT BEGUN OVER FILMS BY ACTRESS

Agnes Ayres Asks $43,000 for Asserted Refusal to Carry Out Contract

Suit for $43,000 for asserted breach of contract was started yesterday by Agnes Ayres, motion-picture actress, against the Producers' Distributing Corporation. She declares that company obtained an assignment of her services from the Peninsula studios and has failed to avail itself of them, greatly to her damage.

The contract was made last September and was for three pictures, Miss Ayres declares. The first was finished early in March and March 15, she said, she was ready to start the second. On March 20, she said, the contract was assigned to the W. W. Hodkinson Company, now known as the Producers' Distributing Corporation, but neither of the other pictures has been started.

To get her to consent to the transfer, she asserts, Cecil B. De Mille and F. C. Monroe of the Producers' concern, promised to star her in a better grade of pictures, but instead have kept her idle.

Miss Ayres was to receive $10,000 for each picture. She has received $2000 on account of the second, she says, and nothing for the third. Because she has not been kept before the public she has suffered $25,000 damages, she contends, a total of $43,000. Miss Ayres also complains that instead of starring her alone, as the contract called for, they have co-featured her name with an "actor of no prominence."

Miss Ayres's counsel are McAdoo, Neblett & O'Connor and Gunther R. Lessing. Mr. Lessing last night issued this statement:

"The complaint, in addition to a prayer for salary for two pictures, contains a count for $25,000 additional as damages by reason of the company's failure to keep her before the motion-picture public as a star of her productions since March 15 as per her contract, and because of the manner in which she was advertised by the De Mille organization.

"The main difficulty, aside from the question of payment of salary, has been the apparent desire of Producers' Distributing Corporation to hold Miss Ayers under contract thus depriving her of several important offers she has received recently."

New Catalina Brush Fire Put Under Control

The Catalina Island brush fire was raging again yesterday and it is feared that some of the wild island goats were trapped and consumed by it. The fire was reported again under control last night after having swept over the ridge back of Avalon and down to the sea on the western coast, devasting an uninhabited area several miles long.

Acting County Fire Warden Turner, accompanied by Assistants Stanford, Wallace and Roland Percey, went there yesterday to give aid.

The fire began early Wednesday and by noon had swept over about 100 acres of brush in the hills two miles or more back of Avalon when it was reported under control. It broke out again Wednesday night and burned over more territory early yesterday.

Whether the fire was accidentally begun by boys smoking out wild bees to get honey or by other means has not yet been determined.

Avalon and the bay region were at no time imperiled, it was said, the fire being far to the leeward of the city and bay.

Kidnaping Case Solved as Film Extra Located

Another kidnaping mystery dissolved into thin air last night when Mary Harris Griffin, 16-year-old film extra, was found by Hollywood police at the Mission Hotel, 1747 Cahuenga avenue, where she had been staying for a week under the name of Mary Harris.

Questioned by Assistant Captain of Detectives Trosper, Miss Griffin refused to disclose her reason for staying at the hotel under an assumed name. She would not state whether it was she who telephoned to Hollywood police Wednesday and told them she was being held a captive.

The girl was taken to the home of her mother at 203 West One Hundred and Third street, and the investigation was officially closed.

BEAUTY WINS BY DETERMINATION

Colorado Ranch Girl Awarded Ziegfeld Role

Change in Name Effected While at College

Young Woman's Business Talk Brings Chance

DENVER, July 16.—Things have a queer way of happening, and anyone can make anything happen if he or she develops a proper amount of pep, spunk or courage to enable one to shut the eyes and step away from the old stamping ground, regardless of consequences.

Mrs. Addie V. Hudson, a poet of parts, accountant, rancher and rod and gun expert, made that observation, in connection with the story of a Colorado girl who has been assigned by no less a connoisseur of feminine beauty than Florenz Ziegfeld himself, to a place in his organization vacated by that exemplification of dazzling loveliness known to the theatergoing public as "Dolores."

Up to a year ago Mrs. Hudson and a girl named Della Marie Meyer called for their letters at the postoffice at Gardner, Colo. The girl, tall and willowy as a young sapling, with raven wing hair, dreamy black eyes and a complexion white as a magnolia flower, used to stand at the door of the Gardner postoffice and explain to Mrs. Hudson that something just had to happen to lift her away from her father's ranch, three miles away.

Then, one day, Della Marie concluded that no person living and looking as nature had made her look could get very far on a name like Della Marie. Della Marie, she argued, belongs to a bundle of soft, pink and white, blue-eyed, golden haired, dimpled girliness.

Wherefore Della Marie cranked up the machine of chance and came to Denver. Here she registered at the Colorado Woman's College as Miss Delmar Meyer.

So far so good.

But it wasn't far enough. It wasn't a real happening, so to speak.

The next step toward making something worth while happen was when the girl made a talk to a business person who was so convincing that she found herself financed and under chaperonage of her amazed mother, Mrs. Charles E. Meyer, picked bodily off the ranch and on her way to New York and the great chance.

Miss Delmar Meyer, with just enough cash to muffle the keyhole against the howl of the wolf, shot at the steeple. In other words, she went straight to the Ziegfeld office, asked for a hearing or a showing, was granted both and is now engaged in filling the eye of butter and egg magnates and jaded Wall streeters with her six feet of dazzling Colorado loveliness and making them forget "Dolores."

"That girl was a wonder," Mrs. Hudson said. "She carefully thought out her plan, then did her share in making it happen."

THREE HELD ON CHARGE OF LARCENY

Trio Taken for Sale of German Bonds in Which Sums Are Asserted Lost

Barney Schwarz, former stockbroker, awaiting action on his appeal from conviction on a charge of conspiracy to defraud in sale of stock, was lodged in jail last night on suspicion of grand larceny in connection with an asserted bunko game in the sale of worthless German bonds.

Under arrest with Schwarz are Benjamin Klar and his wife, Elsie. Both are charged with grand larceny. Schwarz was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Bligh, Shannon and Ryan at the home of Klar at 5228 Sunset Boulevard, when he appeared and did not give the officers a satisfactory explanation of his connection with Klar.

Thousands of dollars are said to have been lost by investors in German bonds in which Klar is said to have dealt.

Arrest of the trio followed a complaint by A. McClain, 368 South Wilson avenue, Alhambra, that he had lost $772 in buying German bonds. Mrs. Klar was taken into custody when she appeared at the National City Bank and attempted to obtain a cashier's check for a check for $1122 given to Klar by McClain. Klar was arrested in the Christie Hotel.

Questioned by the detectives, Klar is asserted to have admitted receiving the checks from McClain. He denied that his wife is involved. All three were being questioned further in the asserted bunko scheme.

After being convicted in the stock fraud case, Schwarz pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to influence the jury that tried him. He is awaiting sentence on this charge.

"PUBLICITY THE THING"

"The vast majority of your constituents, when they wish to write, do not call for a stenographer. They take a pen and personally write your name. If they do this several times during your term of office they will remember your name at voting time as against another name which they probably have never written."

This is the gist of a letter sent members of Congress inviting attention to a new private agency which intends to specialize in getting publicity for solons. "Absence of adequate publicity," it says, "may cause constituents to believe that their interests are being neglected." It invites money for Congressmen in the scheme to get more constituents to write to them."—[Pathfinder.

JULIAN STARTS
